SET UP NEW REGIME

Tibetan Freedom Fighters Appeal To India For Aid

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—The independent Tibetan government, representing freedom fighters in their battle with the Chinese Communists, has appealed for formal recognition and help from India and other neighboring countries, informed sources said Saturday.

The Chinese Communists, virtually admitting that the entire Tibetan nation was behind the Dalai Lama and the battle for independence, created a new Tibetan "public security" department and were reported funneling still more troops into the Himalayan mountain country.

LAMA NEAR GOAL

The Dalai Lama himself was resting at Rahung village in India eight miles from his goal at Bomdila Sunday and confer with Indian Premier Jawharlal Nehru's representative, P. N. Meon. Bomdila is 68 miles from civilized Indian territory.

Dispatches from Darjeeling, India, said the independent government set up by the battling Khampa tribesmen under the Dalai Lama earlier this week had asked India and Nepal as well as other nearby Asian countries to recognize the regime.

Informed sources said the provisional regime claimed control over the Tibetan provinces of Tsang, Dhal-Po-King, Po-Kong Po and southwest Dho. The whole area has 50 dongs (forts) and a population of one million.

The provisional government was reported to have asked neutral India to mediate the crisis, bring an "immediate cessation, bring hostilities" and arrange an "immediate cease-fire."

The sources said the Tibetans wanted India to appeal to the United Nations against "unprovoked aggression" by the Reds and negotiate with China for a withdrawal of the Chinese army and civilian "colonists".

The communists have sealed off the escape route used by the Dalai Lama and his party of 79 on their flight from the sacred capital of Lhasa to India. Only an estimated 31, when the Lama reached the frontier.

Prince's Life Threatened By Marxist

TOKYO (UPI)—Police said Saturday a 19-year-old Marxist student who attacked Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko during their wedding procession through Tokyo had openly voiced death threats against the future Emperor of Japan.

"If I had a machine gun I would like to shoot him," a police spokesman quoted Kensetsu Nakayama as telling a former coworker a few days ago.

According to the spokesman, Nakayama also told the attendant at a gas station where he once worked "there is no need to spend a great deal of money on the Crown Prince's wedding."

Police said that a search of Nakayama's rooms after Friday's incident turned up a note which included the passage: "I will challenge the Imperial Court to a duel on April 10."

They said Nakayama, disgruntled since he flunked entrance examinations to two Tokyo universities, had pushed into the offices of the Imperial Palace police Feb. 20 and demanded an interview with Emperor Hirohito. He was escorted out of the palace.

No charges have yet been filed against Nakayama for throwing two baseball-sized stones at the royal newlyweds and then trying to drag them to the ground from the royal maroon-and-gold carriage during the procession Friday..

One stone struck the carriage but no one was hurt. Police said, however, that the stones could have injured the Crown Prince and his bride seriously if they were on the mark.

Conveyor Belt Fatal For Youth

DOVER, N.J. (UPI) — A 6-year-old boy was killed Saturday when his head was caught in a conveyor belt system carrying empty soda bottles in a supermarket.

David Deans died in the Food Fair Supermarket in the Dover Shopping Center, police said.

According to police, David had been shopping with his parents in the market when he spotted a wall opening through which a conveyor belt was carrying empty soda bottles to the basement.

David thrust his head into the opening, about two feet high and a foot wide, police said. His head apparently was caught between buckets carrying the bottles, police said.

Soviets Ship New Forces, Arms To Iraq

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The Soviet Union is shipping Russian military experts, "hundreds" of young Kurds and war materials to Iraq, the semi - official Middle East News Agency of the United Arab Republic said Saturday.

At the same time, a private Iraqi source here said four non-Communist ministers, sought to resign from Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's government in protest against increased Communist power in oil-rich Iraq.

The Mena report, which could not be confirmed, said the Soviet ship Aragon arrived at Port Said at the northern entrance to the Suez Canal en route to the Iraqi port of Basra. Mena said the Soviet captain told port authorities his vessel was carrying "general cargo" and no passengers.

NEW SHIP ON WAY

According to Mena, however, the ship carried a cargo of armored cars, half - tracks, jeeps and other war material.

Also on board, it said, were 100 Soviet military experts in civilian clothes and "hundreds of young Kurds, all under 30 years of age."

The agency also reported that the 11,600 - ton Soviet freighter Gavan passed through the Suez Canal Saturday morning en route to Basra with a full load of war materials to Iraq.

The transfer of the Kurds from the Soviet Union was the second reported in less than a week.

The first Soviet ship carrying 855 Kurds to Iraq cleared through the Seuz Canal last Wednesday. Mena said the tribesmen were armed and "guerrilla - trained" by the Soviets.

U. A. R. newspapers claimed the Kurds were being sent to Iraq to protect Kassem at his own request from dissident army

Cuban Court Will Rule On Fate Of Nye

HAVANA (UPI) — A former U.S. Navy bomber pilot went before a Cuban revolutionary tribunal in forbidding Cabana fortress Saturday night to stand trial on charges of hiring out to kill Premier Fidel Castro.

Alan Robert Nye, 32, of Chicago and Coral Gables, Fla., is the first American to face a revolutionary military court since the fall of the Fulgencio Batista regime on Jan. 1.

He faces a maximum sentence of 30 years imprisonment if convicted. He has been formally charged with "collaborating, incendiarism and imperfect assassination."

KOREAN WAR VET

Nye, who served with the U.S. Navy in the Korean War, was captured in Oriente province last December, before Batista fled and the revolutionary forces led by Castro took over the government.

Thirteen witnesses, including former President Carlos Prio Socarras, are scheduled to testify at the trial which will be held in the officers' club of the fortress, across the bay from Havana. Nye has been imprisoned since February.

Nye has steadfastly maintained his innocence, but revolutionary officials said they have tape recordings of a "confession" the American has denied making.

Nye is accused of attempting to shoot Castro for $100,000. Prosecution officials also said he took part in the destruction of three fighter planes belonging to the rebel air force in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., last October. The incendiarism charge is based on this incident.

In an interview with United Press International when he first arrived at Cabana, Nye denied the accusations that he was a hired killer.

CHICAGO GETS CONVENTION

Morton Elected New GOP Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, self-styled political middle-of-the-roader, was elected Republican national chairman without opposition Saturday and Chicago was selected as the site for the 1960 GOP convention.

Immediately after he was chosen by the Republican National Committee, Morton promised to be "absolutely neutral" in any competition for the presidential nomination between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

He told a news conference he had contacted both Nixon and Rockefeller through friends after the post was offered him and had pledged his neutrality.

NO OPPOSITION

Morton acknowledged that several months ago he said at Charleston, W.Va., that he was inclined to favor Nixon over Rockefeller. But he stressed that this was before he had been tapped for the key party post.

The 51-year-old senator, who succeeds Meade Alcorn, said that from here on he will refuse to comment on any individual candidates. Alcorn is retiring to private law practice.

Morton had the personal blessing of "moderately progressive" President Eisenhower, making the

State GOP Chief Sees Win In '60

WASHINGTON (Special) —Louisiana's Republican national committeeman Dr. Virgil T. Jackson predicted Saturday the GOP can carry Louisiana in 1960 against any Democratic presidential standard bearer now in sight.

Jackson, assessing the political outlook following the election of Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R) Ky., as Republican national chairman, declined to name his choice for GOP but said both Vice President Richard M. Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson Rockfeller look good to him.

He said in an interview twice-defeated Adlai Stevenson would carry more votes in Louisiana than other Democrat but still couldn't win.

George W. Reese Jr., of New Orleans, who attended the Washington meeting with Jackson, nominated Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D) Minn., as the best possible Democratic choice — from a Republican standpoint.

"We're seeing the first glimmers of hope," Reese said, referring to an upsurge of Republican sentiment following a low point at the time of the Little Rock High School crisis in 1957.

Jackson stated that the choice of Morton to replace Meade Alcorn of Connecticut as party chief

$300,000 Diamond Taken In Robbery

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Mrs. Vera Krupp, divorced wife of German industrialist Alfred Krupp told sheriff's officers Saturday that three gunmen robbed her of a $300,000, 33.6-karat diamond ring.

She said the ring—and $700 cash—were taken from her Friday night at her ranch 45 miles from Las Vegas.

She said the robbers, posing as road contractors, came to her Spring Mountain ranch as she was having dinner.

The robbers tied Mrs. Krupp with some wire and then bound her to Howard Brotherson, a ranch employe who had been dining with her. He was handcuffed. Then the trio fled in a car.

Deputies said Mrs. Krupp told them she freed herself, then located a hacksaw to cut Brotherson's handcuffs. She said it took them more than two hours to free themselves and drive from her ranch to Las Vegas, where they could report the robbery. They were not injured.

U.S. To Fire Four Satellites In Orbit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space scientists made preparations Saturday to put four new American satellites into orbit next week from rocket bases in Florida and California.

If all goes well, all the artifical moons will be launched by midnight Monday.

From Cape Canaveral, Fla., the National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to launch a 3-and-1 Vanguard. If successful, the Vanguard will put into orbit an instrumented satellite for measuring the earth's magnetic field, solar radiation and meteor effects; a 30 - inch inflatable sphere for measuring air density, and the third stage of the rocket assembly itself.

At Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., the Air Force and the Defense Department's Advance Research Project Agency plan to put a Discoverer satellite into a South-North polar orbit.

If the experiments all succeed, there will thus be three new satellites traveling in an East-West equatorial orbit while one whirls over the Poles.

The Discoverer, a 1,300-pound satellite probably will eject a package of instruments which ARPA will attempt to recover. The total pay load of the Discoverer will be about 40 pounds. The remainder of its weight will be the burned out second stage of the two stage Thor-Hussler vehicle.

The Discoverer satellites, which ARPA has hoped to launch at a rate of about one a month, are designed to achieve stable flight like airplanes in the atmosphere instead of tumbling like other satellites. They also are designed eventually to be brought back to

Wife Slaying Trial Moves Nearer Jury

BUTLER, Ala. (UPI)—The defense rested Saturday but the eight-day-old wife-murder trial of a wealthy south Alabama timberman will not go to the jury until Monday.

John L. McPhearson, 36, is on trial in Choctaw County Circuit Court, charged with slaying his wife Jan. 29 in a secluded knoll and burying her in an abandoned well.

Circuit Judge William G. Lindsey recessed the trial shortly before 5 p. m. before presentation of closing arguments. They will be presented beginning at 9 a.m. Monday and then the case will go [illegible] the all-male jury.

CLAIMS DIFFER

The state claims the killing was deliberate and will demand the death penalty in closing arguments Monday.

The defense claims the fatal shooting was accidental, occurring in a survival struggle for a 30-30 rifle during an argument over a divorce between McPhearson and his attractive wife, Mrs. Irma Lee Fagan McPhearson, 35, mother of four.

The final three major defense witnesses were the brother of the defendant, Choctaw Probate Judge Richard McPherson, 30, and the defendant's two daughters.

The defense called a string of 29 character witnesses, bringing the total number of persons to testify for the defense to 62 over four and one-half days.

The state sent 28 witnesses to the stand in the first three days of the trial, which officially began April 3, following two days of pretrial maneuvering.

Richard McPhearson described a dramatic scene that took place when his brother admitted his wife was dead, four days after the shooting.

He testified the defendant met

ON EXECUTING ELEPHANT

Circus Officials Bow To Sentiment

HUGO, Okla. (UPI) — Circus officials bowed Saturday to public sentiment and the humane society, and said they would do all they could to give Dorothy, the doomed elephant, away to a zoo before deciding to kill her.

Dorothy, the performing elephant who did her tricks too well and too often, had been scheduled to die Sunday as a safety measure.

But Carson-Barnes circus owner Jack Moore said he had cancelled the public execution, which had been expected to draw some 1,000 curious spectators from Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

"Out of courtesy to the Humane Society and others offended by a public shooting," Moore said, "I have cancelled the public killing." He added that the Tulsa Zoo had expressed an interest in the animal.

Moore said if the zoo could not take the elephant, he would hold the killing at an undisclosed future date, at a place in which only newsmen and circus officials would be admitted.

The American Humane Assn. had charged Saturday that the execution before the public would be a "pagan spectacle arousing ruffian blood lust."

The circus reluctantly ordered her execution after she had killed one trainer and nearly crushed another.

Rutherford T. Phillips, executive director of the Denver-based organization, urged in a formal protest that the execution be cancelled or held in private.

Dorothy is not a "killer" beast, Moore said. She's just nervous and unpredictable. And in an animal weighing as much as a piece of heavy machinery, that's dangerous."

Mansion Put Under Guard By Officers

RICHMOND (UPI) — A sniper fired one shot from ambush at Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Friday as the governor left the executive mansion to go to the Capitol, police reported Saturday.

The shooting was first reported to newsmen as only a loud backfire from a passing car. But police revealed Saturday their investigation led them to believe it was an attempt on the governor's life.

Lt. C. G. Phaup, chief of the Capitol police force, said the shot was fired from thick shrubbery bordering the executive mansion in a corner of Capitol Square. The square is in the heart of downtown Richmond.

DOUBLE GUARD

A branch broken from the shrubbery was found to contain lead fragments. A lighted cigarette was left smouldering on the sidewalk on the street side of the bush-covered fence.

A double guard was clamped on the governor's mansion Saturday and police indicated officers would carefully search the Capitol grounds hereafter before permitting the chief executive to show himself in the open.

Two police officers and Almond's state police bodyguard, Sgt. Jack Elder, were within a few yards of Almond when the sharp crack was heard.

Elder hustled Amond into the Capitol, about 200 feet from the mansion, while R. L. Holloway ran to the corner from where the shot was fired.

Heavy Snow Spreading In Plains Area

United Press International

Heavy, wet snow spread over the Rockies and parts of the plains Saturday for the second time in less than three days.

Meanwhile, showers or rain stretched along a cold front from Alabama to Maine, where some snow was mixed with rain at Caribou.

The cold front, which pushed through the plains and the Midwest, made a half - hearted assault on the East and stalled on a line from the Virginia coast to the central Gulf of Mexico.

The snowstorm pushed over the rockies from Raton, N. M., to Casper, Wyo., and swept into the plains from South Dakota and Kansas to Minnesota and Iowa. Up to 10 inches of snow fell over southwest Minnesota since the storm began late Friday.

In the Rockies, the new snow piled atop 10-14 inch accumulations deposited last Tuesday and Wednesday by an early April snowstorm. Heavy snow fell at Denver at mid-day Saturday.

The snow was expected to push into the Great Lakes region Sunday.

Some of the rainfall on the East was locally heavy, with Martinsburg, W. Va., reporting more than an inch in the forenoon Saturday. But Texas bore the brunt of a large rain shield that spread inland from a disturbance in the western gulf. Waco, College Station and San Antonio in Texas all measured more than an inch of moisture.

Morton predicted victory for the party and its presidential slate in 1960.

Morton, who described himself as a consistent Eisenhower backer, won important pledges of support from two key GOP strategists who had sharply questioned his selection. They were Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania, who head the Senate and House Republican campaign committees, respectively.

Goldwater assured Morton that his opposition stemmed solely from belief that the national chairman should have no other duties such as those demanded by the Senate. He then declared his belief that Morton could perform two jobs effectively if anyone can.

Goldwater also said the national committee should insist to the White House that Morton be permitted to attend Cabinet meetings. He also urged a full-time assistant for the new chairman.

Chicago won out over five other cities bidding for the convention, mainly because it is a "neutral" site in the potential contest between Nixon, a Californian, and Rockefeller.

Cities which lost out were Philadelphia, Miami Beach, New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Ray C. Bliss of Ohio, vice chairman of the site committee, said the latter three cities were eliminated almost automatically because they were in the home states of Nixon or Rockefeller.

The Republican delegates will meet in Chicago's huge livestock ampitheater the week beginning July 25. This would be two weeks after the Democrats open their convention in Los Angeles — virtually in Nixon's back yard.

In his acceptance speech, Morton told the committee he considers his major tasks the raising of money and the building of a strong party organization for 1960.

Resorting to the racing language of his native Blue Grass country, Morton said: "We're going to have a proven stake winner and no selling platers in our barn."

He asserted the party already was waging a comeback from last year's heavy defeat in the congressional elections and that the people were lining up behind Eisenhower's policies.

He said he wanted the present executive committee members and Asst. Chairman Clare Williams to continue under him. He added that he has no intention of resigning his Senate seat, particularly since it would enable Kentucky Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler to name a Democrat to succeed him.

Gartin Blasts U.S. Civil Rights Bills

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin told a congressional subcommittee Saturday that Mississippi never would accept the civil rights bills before the U.S. House of Representatives.

Gartin, a candidate for governor in the Aug. 4 Democratic first primary, released his statement to newspapermen in Mississippi.

"I know my state and I know the people of Mississippi," he said. "Segregation will be preserved."

Attacking the proposed bills, Gartin said he would not recommend their passage. "They are not acceptable and they cannot be amended to make them acceptable," he added. "The present situation is one which will only grow worse with the passage of any additional legislation.

"Other provisions of the legislation simply would complete the federalization of not only our schools, our elections and our criminal procedures, but would further abdicate the powers of Congress.

Passage of this legislation would be another step in extending complete authority to the federal government."

Gartin said the courts had adequate authority to enforce their orders and chided the Congress for becoming a part to "assisting in enforcing something that does not exist except in the theories of psychologists and sociologists."

He said the mere fact that additional legislation is felt necessary to carry out the decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court "should be ample proof that the court has been legislating rather than interpreting laws adopted by the Congress and provisions of our Constitution."

Gartin also proposed the civil rights commission be abolished. "This commission is ineffective," he said. "It is useless. . . . strictly a political and publicity group.

"Why make everything a federal crime? We have adequate authority in the states and the facilities and personnel and courts to identify and convict criminals."

School Spanking Issue Is Dodged By Commission

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. Commission on Human Rights says every child "is entitled to receive free and compulsory education." It declined to say that his teachers shall not spank him.

The 18-nation commission met both issues in working out a proposed declaration on the rights of the child. This was a highlight of its 3½-week 15th session that ended Friday.

In the debate on the question of spanking, Soviet Delegate V. J. Sapozhnikov proposed a declaration saying, "The child shall not be subjected to corporal punishment in schools." He was voted down, 9-3 with six abstentions. Only Poland and the Ukraine joined the Soviet Union in voting to ban spanking. The United States was among those voting not to.

On a proposal from India, Iran and Iraq, the commission wrote this into the declaration:

"The child is entitled to receive free and compulsory education, at least in the elementary stages. The education shall enable him, enjoying the same opportunities as others, to develop his abilities and individual judgment and to become a useful member of society."

Bishop Ready To Take Over Council Post

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Bishop Marvin Franklin of the Methodist Church in Mississippi leaves Jackson Tuesday for Washington, D.C., where he will become the first Mississippian to head the world-wide Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church.

Bishop Franlin, elected vice president and president-elect last year, succeeds Bishop Bromley Oxnam of Washington, D. C., at the end of the council meeting later this month.

As president of the Council of Bishops Dr. Franklin is titular head of more than 10 million Methodists in 50 nations.

The council itself includes 37 active bishops and 50 retired bishops.

The 65-year-old Dr. Franklin was elected bishop of the Jackson area, comprising both the Mississippi and North Mississippi conferences, in 1948.

He is president of the board of trustees of Millsaps College in Jackson; and a member of the boards of trustees of Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., and Rust College in Holly Springs, Miss.

He also is a member of the board of education, television and film commission, and the commission on promotion and cultivation of the Methodist Church.

Dr. Franklin was licensed to preach in 1910, ordained a deacon in 1915, and was ordained an elder in 1917.

A native of White County, Ga., Dr. Franklin received his bachelor of arts from the University of Georgia, his bachelor of divinity from Emory University, his doctor of divinity from Birmingham Southern College and his doctor of laws from Millsaps College.

He was a member of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Birmingham, in 1938; and the general conferences in Atlantic City, N.J., in 1940, in Kansas City in 1944, and in Boston in 1948.

He was a member of the Southeastern Jurisdictional conferences in Asheville, N. C., in 1940, in Atlanta in 1944, and in Columbia, S. C., in 1948.

In 1957, Bishop Franklin visited India, Southern Europe and the Holy Land on an official tour of Methodist work. On July 1, he and Mrs. Franklin will tour Europe and North Africa.

The group approved a resolution after the explanation opposing any change in the system, and Mrs. Lucille Sawyer, immediate past president of the group, said, "We want it to stay just as it is now."

The association elected Dr. Andrew Hedmeg of New Orleans president, and George Weichen of Rayville first vice president. Ed Sylvester of Jonesville was elected second vice president and rs. Lucille Godelfer of New Orleans treasurer. Mrs. Madge Kelly of Monroe was chosen secretary.

Veto Still Potent

Those who are inclined to belittle President Eisenhower's effectiveness in Washington might do well to ponder the fact none of his vetoes have been overridden by Congress since he entered the White House.

There seems to be little likelihood that any of them will be overridden during the present session of Congress. It takes a two-thirds vote of both House and Senate to override a veto. Both House and Senate are rather evenly divided in voting power, because of the coalition between the Republicans and the southern Democrats along conservative lines.

Bolstered by a mass descent upon Washington by A.F.L.-C.I.O. henchmen, radical-liberals in Congress are intensifying their drive for enactment of big government spending and anti-business legislation.

The labor march on Washington was advertised as being intended to focus national attention on unemployment but there was no question that many other issues also were discussed during the "buttonholing" pilgrimages to Capitol Hill. Many members of Congress are looked upon by labor union leaders as being bought and paid for, since labor contributions were largely responsible for their election and this means that the effect of such a crusade cannot be discounted.

Despite this, many of the legislative proposals backed by organized labor, even if approved by Congress, still face the strong probability of a presidential veto. There is little likelihood that such a veto could be overridden, as most of the Republicans could be expected to go along with the President and on these radical labor proposals he would be certain to get the backing of most of the southern congressmen. With a combination such as this, a two-thirds vote for overriding would be impossible.

Action is imminent on a large number of highly - controversial issues. Outstanding among these is the battle between the big spenders and the economy bloc. This is spread over a broad legislative field and is certain to continue throughout the session and on into the 1960 election campaign.

President Eisenhower is vigorously urging support of the administration's $77 billion balanced budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. Others, including Senator Byrd (D-Va.), contend that the administration's spending program should and could be trimmed substantially in order to combat dangerous inflation and further cheapening the value of the dollar.

There is hardly a possibility that the proposed $77 billion budget will be reduced or even met. There are some who contend that the President is merely playing politics by proposing such a low budget and that he expects Congress to take him off the hook by exceeding his proposals. In a number of instances measures far in excess of the proposals have already received approval of one group or another. Despite the claims that the President is not as sincere as he might be in his economy proclamations, the spending-spree devotees are bound to keep an eye on veto possibilities as they move along. This may not stop their mad money plunge but it should slow them down.

Necessity for eliminating all unessential spending was pointed out in a statement by Maurice H. Stans, director of the budget bureau, who is utilizing every opportunity to persuade businessmen to urge their senators and representatives to support government economy.

Mr. Stans asserted that "even if Congress does accept the President's balanced budget for 1960 and enacts it without increasing expenditures, there is enough built-in uncontrollable momentum in the program commitments covered by a $77 billion level to raise total expenditures in 1961 by two or three billion dollars.

He said:

"This means we are headed toward a budget for 1961 in the neighborhood of $80 billion or more.

"If Congress increases 1960 expenditures much above $77 billion and if tax receipts do not rise very markedly, the budgets for 1961 and 1962 will be on the road to more deficits, regardless of anything the President or his budget directors may do."

This is the basis for the solemn warning to businessmen by Mr. Stan that:

"If you are silent now it will be too late to complain later on."

Library Week

Louisiana is joining once again in the observance of national library week, to be marked April 12-18 by communities in all sections of the state.

The people of Ouachita Parish begin observing library week today.

Cooperating in the campaign are the schools, churches, Parent-Teachers Associations, numerous civic clubs and other organizations as well as public-spirited individuals.

Among the activities planned in observance of library week are special programs in the school classrooms such as plays, displays and posters, special attention by the churches through their bulletins and announcements from the pulpit, operation of special booths downtown by the Junior Chamber of Commerce from which library cards will be issued, and a book harvest in which the Jaycees will canvass the Twin Cities in search of more literature for the libraries.

Thirty merchants of Monroe and West Monroe have offered show window space for special library week display and the churches are emphasizing their drive to have members to more fully patronize the church libraries.

Northeast State College will stage a Library Career Day later in the month, and P-TA's are stressing the advantages of basic home libraries.

Both Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard of Monroe, and Mayor J. Allan Norris of West Monroe, and the Ouachita Parish Police Jury have issued formal proclamations setting aside the period of April 12-18 as library week.

The objective of the week is to remind Louisianians that reading can help the development of the mind and can help also in keeping them informed. Once again the theme is "Wake Up and Read."

In an era when rapid change is the order of the day, when science is progressing so rapidly that what you learned today is out of date tomorrow, reading becomes increasingly important. It is vital for America to be better informed and better read. Only a lifetime of self-education through reading can make it possible for Americans to exercise full responsible citizenship.

The celebration this year is designed to heighten national interest in reading and to encourage people everywhere to visit a library, bookshop or newstand. Once that is done, it is an easy step to begin reading.

Louisiana has long been library-minded. The state has just opened its 48th parish library and the state's library development has been steady and well planned. Millions of books are circulated each year.

As the state prepares to join the celebration of national library week, there is much of which the residents of Louisiana can be proud insofar as libraries are concerned.

Soviet Threats Used To Uphold Military Budget

Soviet military threats are taken more seriously in some informed quarters here than in others, and there is suspicion that armed service spokesmen make effective use of them as a means of keeping the military budget at its peak.

But the Soviet economic offensive which has grown by leaps and bounds in the past two years, is the new Communist weapon—so new that many civilian department chiefs in government still deprecate it.

A few far sighted economists have warned of the day when Russian industrial and agricultural production will reach a point where the totalitarian Soviet authority could use part of its vast resources to cut prices to a point which could shut the U. S. and other free nations out of markets where keen competition, based on production and transportation cost have been the rule.

Nikita Khrushchev's seven point program knows no rules and has as an undisclosed objective to grab foreign trade now shared by nations whose economy he aims to undermine. That may take longer than seven years, but it will serve the double purpose of a new incentive to the Russian people and a second and more sinister weapon than ICMS, massed armed forces in East Germany and missile firing submarines off the American coasts.

Military aggression would produce war, for the free nations have announced their readiness to fight; but how to resist in this new war for trade has more than one governmental expert squirming in his chair.

Eventually farmers, manufacturers and exporters in many parts of the U. S. may see this threat, for it is directed at U. S. foreign trade with all the skill that Anastas I. Mikoyan, who recently visited the U. S. and was cordially welcomed by American businessmen, can devise for his cut throat operations. Before too many years, Communist China will pose similar threats.

The Russians aren't waiting for a saleable surplus. Unhampered by any law of supply and demand, they are enlarging a dumping program by which they can undersell almost any nation they wish to weaken. What they obtain from one country by barter or in exchange for arms they dump in other countries to damage their economy. As examples the present Bolivian crisis is blamed largely on Soviet dumping of tin in markets once supplied by Bolivia and by Malaya which is also in an economic depression as result.

Others are coal from Poland, cotton from Egypt, aluminum from Hungary and most recently, wheat from its own steppes to Japan. The U. S. can attribute some of its 4 billion dollar decline in foreign trade to Soviet machinations, directed by Mikoyan which hit at the weak spots in countries whose trade balance is already shaky as exports decline. If Russia can obtain control of Iraqui oil, it needs only pipe lines to undercut U. S. and British companies in the Middle East, now supplying countries with which Russia can make deals.

Trade thus becomes a weapon, and any country whose economy slumps, with resulting unemployment, is immediately flooded with propaganda blaming the U. S. because of import quotas, tariffs or failure to buy the surpluses of the affected nations. To carry out the program, Mikoyan has 3500 trade agents in every country which can be weakened by his scheming. Using unlimited credits, the weapon becomes a two edged sword for the Soviet and not only throws the producing countries into an economic tailspin, but puts the purchasing countries into its debt, which is usually paid in goods which Russia can re-export.

Meanwhile, U. S. exports which hit a record 19.5 billion in 1957, are now in a decline, due in part to industrial post revival of its competitors, a number of which have shared in the $60 billion of foreign aid this country has distributed to promote that revival, and in part to the increased cost of production in these countries and resultant higher export prices.

Even Adlai Stevenson exhibited uneasiness on his return from Russia and western Europe with a suggestion that Soviet "flexibility" in foreign trade might have to be met here by "new methods of state trading and combines with other free countries." Few international trade experts believe this to be a practical solution.

This outlook might be described as the softer side of the cold war. But its objective is to slowly squeeze the U. S. economy, while this country concentrates on the threat of war.

BASCOM TIMMONS

Three Senators Front Runners

Front runners in the Democratic presidntial derby next year will be three U. S. senators, a situation without precedent in history. They may be so closely matched on early roll calls that the Democratic convention at Los Angeles will be the most dramatic on record.

The three solons are Senators John F. Kennedy (Mass.), Stuart Symington (Mo.) and Lyndon Johnson (Tex.) The only Democratic senator ever nominated for president since 1860 was Harry S. Truman and then only after he had been elected as vice president while serving in the senate from Missouri.

Fifteen months ahead of the convention, it seems like guesswork to make an estimate of the strength each of the three senators named may have. The figures may be wide of the mark, but they are based on a number of factors — preferences expressed by leading Democrats in various states, the showing made by Senator Kennedy in his unsuccessful try for the vice presidential nomination in 1956, and votes cast by state delegations for other candidates for both president and vice president.

A neck - and - neck race among rival candidates could kill off all of them and open the way for a compromise choice of Adlai Stevenson, who had little trouble in obtaining the party nomination in 1952 and 1956. Many Democrats believe that is what the considerable group of influential pro-Stevenson Democrats in the party's left wing is counting on.

A number of the states which will eventually align their delegation with one of the three prospective leaders will vote first for favorite sons or perhaps for Stevenson, to see how the contest shapes up. With 35 states having Democratic governors, there should be a number of one or two ballot candidates on the roll call.

Most of the earlier polls have established Senator Symington as early favorite over Senator Kennedy, apparently because state Democratic leaders judge him to be a "safe" candidate upon whom all party factions can agree. Comment is also heard that Kennedy's quiet pursuit of delgates started too soon and that he may get no higher than second in the presidential nomination contest.

Senator's Johnson's' vote on the only presidential ballot taken at Chicago in 1956 was 80, the total of the Texas and Mississippi delegations, plus a vote from Nevada and half votes from Massachusetts and Alabama. But Johnson was not an active candidate then, declining to encourage several southern states which might have supported him. Possibly the same thing may happen in 1960 but his friends think there are enough states ready to go for Johnson to put him over the 300 mark on an early ballot. More than 700 votes will be required for the nomination it is anticipated, as against 686 in 1956. The difference will result from adjustment in the size of state delegations.

Not in many years had there been a Democratic contest with so many uncertainties at this stage. The search is for the man who can be elected. For example the big New York delegation, with 98 votes may be divided between Kennedy and Symington. Illinois leaders favor Symington over Stevenson, who has lost his home state in two presidential elections. Kennedy may get Ohio and is said to plan a late drive for some southern states, possibly Louisiana, North Carolina and Florida. But his main reliance is on New England which, however, cannot give him more than 110 votes.

Symington has bestirred himself less than Kennedy, preferring to go along with developments, which up to now have treated him very well financially and politically. But he may enter the Pennsylvania primary for delegates a year from now even though Senator Kennedy is his rival.

State primaries which have dwindled in importance in choice of delegates for recent conventions, will regain some of their significance only if the candidates come forward to make contests. Since Minnesota has abandoned its preferential primary, Wisconsin and Illinois in early April offer the best possibilities for an early contest, but unless Kennedy decides to enter the Wisconsin rundown, Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota may take the delegation without challenge.

Humphrey cannot be gnored as a candidate, but estimates now do not foresee more than 150 delegates for him on early ballots.

Senator Johnsbn might, without much difficulty, be the favorite in Texas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Georgia, Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Idaho, Utah, Florida and Montana, which would give him around 300 delegates. Whether he receives support of the southern states depends to some extent on how strong and how unified are their delegates for leaving electors free to vote their state's choice for president.

UPHOLDS PASSMAN
Monroe, La.

The article "Some Solons Pay Selves Rent Fees" of this date in the Morning World, to some of your readers could be taken as an indictment of our own Congressman, Otto E. Passman. Freedom of the press is a priceless hertage, furthermore, your papers, which I have read for thirty years, have done an outstanding job reporting the news. The article above I know was a UP release, but you will note the reporters say only a spot check was made. Too many times the obvious intent of some of these articles is to discredit political parties or individuals. So, by the same token there is an obligation on the part of news media to get all the story, not just part of it. Retractions, corrections, apologies, etc. often times never reach the eyes of some people. The integrity of an honorable man deserves the most careful treatment even though he be in politics where mud slinging is the rule.

Mr. Passman, whom it has been my privilege to know for some 30 years, in my opinion, has been the most outstanding public servant this country has had in recent years. Personally, I know that he has sacrificed his health to a large degree in the service of his District and his country. Some people will say he got paid for it, but for their information he is a successful business man and could have made more money by staying in private life.

As for the office rent matter, I recall very distinctly when his office was set up for the convenience of his constituents, and when I say convenience of his constituents I mean exactly that, for I have heard him say repeatedly that his office was always open to them. Ask those who have gone to see him — some with personal difficulties not even connected with his office. It may not always be possible for him to do all the things that are asked of him, but you may rest assured he will give it a try. Also, you will be informed as to the reasons, etc. You won't be ignored, which for many years was the position of more congressional constituents. It would take Mr. Passman many years to recover dollarwise what has been put into his office along with the valuable space it takes up in his building. I would hate to be in the real estate business and have to rent out offices like that for what he is paid for his.

This letter, in all probability, will wind up in file 13, but you may publish it if you wish.

Again, thanking you for a conscientious hard - hitting newspaper like you, I remain.

To The Editor

Have you given thought to what it would mean if the Missouri Pacific Trains No. 103 and 116 are discontinued? Merchants, business men and all citizens of Monroe and surrounding communities should write to Mr. Harold D. McCoy, secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington 25, D.C. and protest an application to remove the trains.

The application of the Missouri Pacific Railroad filed with the ICC for the discontinuance of connecting trains 103 and 116 between Little Rock and Alexandria would leave Monroe literally high and dry without connections for New Orleans.

Certainly, I am familiar that some significant passenger revenues have been captured by rival airlines that afford convenient commuter - type service between Monroe and New Orleans. However, I believe it is pertinent to advise that from Monroe, we have a number of individuals who regularly use the existing Missouri Pacific connection with the Texas-Pacific trains out of Alexandria into New Orleans. Too, not all of the traveling business men and public at large are physically capable of altitude travel.

Also, with the area's climatic conditions being observed during six months of the year we must assume that airborne transportation between Monroe and New Orleans is not dependable due to uncertainty of the weather.

Therefore, give this a thought and write Mr. Harold D. McCoy in Washington and urge that consideration be given to what it would mean to virtually isolate Monroe and protest the removal of trains 103 and 116 of the Missouri Pacific.

Thanking you for your deliberation, I am,

R. R. Tusson

MR. TREE PROFITABLE
Monroe, La.

To The Editor:

For a long time it has been the opinion of local business people that the major portion of income in Ouachita Parish was from agriculture, that is, cotton, grain and other food products; but a little study has revealed the fact that income from forest products and its allied industries is many times that received from such agriculture.

Forest products. that is, Mr. Tree, supply the raw materials for a great variety of local industries.

I looked into this when I discovered that more than half of my income came from firms who depend upon Mr. Tree for their raw materials.

Here is a partial list of such firms in Ouachita Parish: one paper mill, four bag factories, 3 carton plants, 1 veneer mill, one barrel stave plant, 1 wood box plant, 1 sash and door plant, 2 newspapers, 4 cabinet works, 1 oak flooring plant, eight or 10 planing mills, 14 printing plants, 2 furniture plants, no less than 18 saw mills and innumerable wholesale and retail lumber yards to say nothing of the great fleet of tractors and trucks engaged in logging operations and hauling.

The combined payrolls from these plants and their widespread operations is a great boost to our local economy and I thought that this information would be an eye-opener to some of our citizens.

The thoughts expressed herein are not intended in any way to criticize or belittle those of our citizens who are engaged in any phase of agriculture.

H. M. JAMES.

Dieters Abhor These Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

"Hi, Fatty!"

"Say, ain't you been gaining a little weight lately?" (This is usually said to you after you've taken off 15 pounds.)

"Going on the wagon might help. On the other hand—in your case—it might kill you, too."

"What's that you're carrying under your belt—a watermelon?"

"There's only one exercise that's any help — and that's pushing yourself away from the table with both hands."

"Hi, Tubby!"

"I know just the perfect diet for you. It worked wonders for my uncle. You remember him — the one we buried last week."

"Now take me, for example. I eat anything I want, any time I want, and I weigh exactly the same as I did 25 years ago."

"Maybe it's your glands."

"Here's an interesting item in the paper. It says obesity is harder to cure than cancer."

"Hi, Lardbucket!"

"Haven't you been losing a little lately? Your hair, I mean."

"I guess everything you eat just turns to fat, doesn't it?"

"No, I think you girls are all wrong about Grace. If it were what you think it is, she'd be knitting things."

"Can you get up off my lap for a moment, Grace? My leg's gone to sleep."

"Hi, Chubby!"

"They say her grocer retired last week and bought himself a big new home in Florida."

"Frankly, Grace, I'd think you'd be glad to have a little extra weight like that. I hate myself for being so thin."

"I guess sometimes when you are counting calories you just lose count, eh, Grace?"

"I did not say she was fat. I just said her girdle deserved a Purple Heart."

"Hi, Porky!"

"Can I tempt you with a little gravy, Jim?"

"Seriously, have you considered psychiatry? Maybe you're a compulsive eater."

"What I wonder, Jim, is who ties your shoelaces for you in the morning."

"All right, kids, let's have a race. Whoever runs around Uncle Jim three times first wins."

"Hi, Fatso!"

"Maybe if you ate slower—."

"She never eats between meals, but every time she eats she makes a meal of it."

"She claims she eats like a bird. She must mean a pelican."

"Have you tried eight prunes and a glass of clam juice?"

"Hi, Elephant Boy"

"It's called the new atomic diet. You fast for three days and then—."

"If the button ever pops off his vest, it'll be our first successful moon shot."

"Don't lose heart, Jim. Keep your chins up"

"Hi, Skinny!"

Governor's Race Gathering Steam

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Louisiana politicians have been drawn into a game of political musical chairs this past month as the governor's race gathered a head of steam.

Capitol observors agree former governor Jimmie Davis was rapidly gaining support from both Long and anti-Long camps until Gov. Earl Long announced he was considering running for re-election.

But a popular joke in capitol corridors is that several of Long's supporters are limping nowadays because they were perched on a tree limb with Davis, and fell hard when Long shook the tree.

On the north side of the coin, anti-Long political factions gathered in Baton Rouge this past week to consider consolidation. Secretary of State Wade O. Martin, Mayor deLesseps Morrison of New Orleans, Lafayette oil man Jack Hayes, and Rep. John Garrett, an aide de camp to state Sen. William Rainach, attended.

Briefly, the anti-Long group agreed consolidation is necessary if they are to have a winning candidate, but reports indicate they are unable to agree upon a single candidate. However, a compromise candidate may be picked at a future meeting.

Long's candidacy will also hurt the vote-getting power of Davis, who had been counting on support from both sides of the fence.

The governor's race now shapes up like this:

LONG —A possible candidate, but more likely maneuvering for concessions from his successor, and also to pick the opponents to his successor. Long has learned in past elections it is easier to gather campaign contributions if he stacks the deck of candidates. However, his "pipe dream" of running may mean he is the joker in the deck.

DAVIS — Campaign gathering steam steadily, after a brief pause following Long's announcement. Still a strong contender and rejecting efforts to place a Long man as his candidate for lieutenant governor.

State Auditor BILL DODD — Still lining up supports. A steady stream of politicians file in and out of his office daily. Strong labor support slightly weakened by Long's "pipe dream."

RAINACH — Tipped his hand by resigning as president of the state Citizens' Council Association, thus clearing the decks for campaigning. Besides the segregation issue, Rainach may gain support from backers of right to work laws, and the anti - Long group.

THE DARK HORSES—Includes Morrison, Martin, Hayes and possibly Rainach. Weak apart but powerful if they combine. Strong vote-getting power in south Louisiana and some parts of northern Louisiana.

A few of the prospective candidates for governor have picked their candidates for lieutenant governor, and at least one candidate has a ticket four deep.

Dodd's apparent choice for lieutenant governor is Mayor William C. White of Gretna.

Contenders for the second slot on the Davis ticket are state Sen. Robert Ainsworth of New Orleans and Rep. C. C. "Taddy" Aycock of St. Mary parish.

District Youth Is Hospitalized After Accident

A Tallulah youth last night was in E. A. Conway Memorial hospital recovering from serious head injuries suffered when an auto hit his stalled truck and flung it into the path of another vehicle near Epps.

Four other persons were hurt in the mishap.

Morris Freeland, 21, of Route 1, Box 266, Tallulah, was treated at the Delhi clinic, then transfered to Monroe. He regained consciousness at 2 p. m. yesterday, approximately 19 hours after he was injured.

Several stitches were taken at Delhi to close a severe laceration on his head. His face and arms were extensively skinned, and he complained of soreness in a leg.

X-rays will be evaluated tomorrow to determine the extent of his leg injuries.

STALLED

West Carroll Parish, Sheriff J. R. Butler of Oak Grove said that the Freeland truck stalled about two miles north of Epps, on state highway 16 at 7:30 Friday night.

Freeland was checking under the hood, trying to start the vehicle, when an auto driven by Mrs. L. W. Chapman of Lake Providence collided with the back of the truck, officers said.

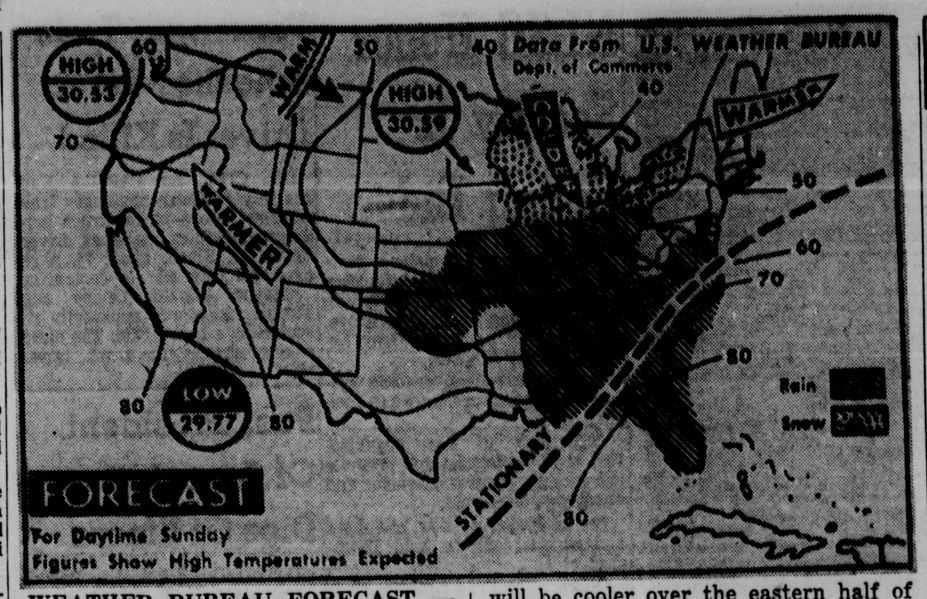

The impact sent the truck skidding into the other traffic lane, into the path of a car driven by Billy Vining, 24, of Pioneer.

State Police were summoned to investigate, and the Freeland youth was rushed to the Delhi clinic.

L. W. Chapman, riding in the car with his wife, received a severe bruise on the forehead and was hospitalized at the Delhi clinic.

Mrs. Chapman, and their children, Eddie, 10, and baby daughter Diane, were treated for cuts and bruises.

Investigation was not complete last night, and no charges had been filed yet.

Youth Has Run Of Tough Luck

A 15 - year - old Monroe youth found out that one thing leads to another, and another, and another, last night.

Firemen from station 4 on Lee Avenue — a block away — sped to the fire under the hood of the auto.

Monroe Police were summoned and Sanderson, of 401 N. Fifth St., was ticketed for reckles driving.

Chemicals were used to extinguish the fire in the gasoline fuel pump.

The nearest the car got to the dance on Grammont Street was when the tow truck hauled it away . . . during a downpour.

Of the birthstones, only the diamond, ruby, sapphire and emerald are considered precious. The other eight are semi precious.

FOR BUDGET INCREASE

Demo Favors Hike In Missile Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee came out publicly Saturday for a step-up in the 5,000-mile range ballistic missile program.

The Texas Democrat said he was convinced that President Eisenhower's $40,850,000,000 defense budget must be increased by Congress so that the big missile effort can be "expedited."

While Mahon gave no figures on how big an increase he favored, his statement indicated the military appropriations enacted by Congress may be considerably above the level Eisenhower requested.

Mahon's views also put him at odds with Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and his top aides, who have contended that the intercontinental ballistic missile program mapped by the administration is entirely adequate to meet any Russian threat.

McElroy argued in testifying before the subcommittee that it isn't necessary to try to match Russia ICBM for ICBM since this country has a powerful bomber force and other weapons to deter war.

Mahon told United Press International, however, that he is "much concerned over the fact that it is predicted the Soviet Union will greatly outproduce us during the period 1959 to 1963 with intercontinental ballistic missiles."

He said he was "well aware" that the United States has other ways of delivering nuclear bombs to Russia—by airplane—and is developing the 1,500-mile, submarine-launched Polaris missile.

"I firmly believe we have sufficient retaliatory strength during this period, through the manned bomber and otherwise," Mahon said. "But this is a field in which you need the widest possible margin of safety."

Mahon pointed to testimony by Gen. Lauris Norstad, commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, to back up his views on expanding ICBM output.

Under questioning by the subcommittee, Norstad agreed that Russia and the United States appear to be in a contest to build ICBM's and if this country falls far behind it could have an unfavorable psychological effect on the rest of the world.

"It seems to me we more or less downgrade oursevles before the world when we permit the Soviet Union to show greater strength in the ICBM area than we are able to show," Mahon said.

Mahon said the program could be expedited by "hardening" bases with concrete and steel more rapidly, by increasing the industrial effort which now is limited to one work shift a day, or by a combination of moves.

Infant Injured In West Monroe 2-Car Collision

A four - month - old girl received bruises yesterday afternoon in a two-car collision at the intersection of Natchitoches and N. Fifth Streets in West Monroe.

Extradition papers for James T. O'Day, 41 - year - old former Mississippi Court reporter, had not been served late last night, according to the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department.

Adenauer Is No. 1 Enemy To Soviets

BONN (UPI) — Konrad Adenauer, soon to give up the chancellorship he has held for ten years to become West German president, is Soviet "enemy No. One."

The Soviets, immediately after Adenauer announced his decision this week to leave the chancellory, claimed he was being driven from his top job by men of his own Christian Democratic Party who were dissatisfied with his "rigid" foreign policies.

"Dr. Adenauer," the Bonn correspondent of the Soviet newspaper Pravda reported, "was forced to capitulate."

"This is assessed in Bonn as a defeat of the policy of acting from positions of strength," the Soviet newspapermen reported.

At first glance, nothing could be farther from the truth.

In a national radio and television appearance on Wednesday, Adenauer warned he would be a strong president, using every constitutional power accorded him.

"The views of the federal government in international questions will not change by one letter...," he said.

The Adenauer policy, and Adenauer personally, have been the bitter target of denunciation by Soviet propagandists generally and Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev in particular for weeks and months—at an increased tempo as time neared for next month's Big Four foreign ministers' talks.

Khrushchev, an atheist, has in the last four months missed almost no occasion to remind the world that Adenauer is a Catholic leader of a party styled the "Christian Democratic Union."

"He will have to answer to his maker," Khrushchev says when denouncing Adenauer's policies ... "Where are Adenauer's Christian principles?" he asks.

Khrushchev's propaganda supporters have picked up that line joyfully.

"With one hand," Radio Moscow said recently of Adenauer and his followers, "they carry the cross, and in the other, they reach for the atom bomb."

That phrase was echoed and re-echoed in dozens of cartoons in East German and other Aeast European Communist newspapers.

On March 12, a Radio Moscow commentator declared "the federal government (of West Germany) is today the greatest hindrance to a peaceful settlement with Germany."

When British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan returned from Moscow offering to discuss limitation of arms, Radio Moscow said, "the federal government gesticulated more wildly than anyone else. It rejected all proposals for the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany ... and it demanded, as curious as this is, the continuation of an occupation status for West Berlin."

Much of this type of anti-Adenauer propaganda, by Radio Moscow, Radio Warsaw and Radio Prague, is aimed specifically at the French and British, in French and English-language broadcasts.

Radio Warsaw, in a program beamed to France last Feb. 27, said "the militaristic Bonn policies, its policy of nucler armament, are attempts, step by step, to recover the positions Germany lost during the war... Official Bonn circles know very well that a conference at the highest level would endanger the military plans of the Adenauer government."

By Moscow definition, anyone—German or foreign—who supports any of Adenauer's policies is an enemy of peace.

Truck Turns Over On Car, Driver Dies

VICKSBURG, Miss. (UPI) — A transport truck loaded with cement turned over and flattened an automobile on U. S. 61 near here Saturday, instantly killing the one person in the car.

The Highway Patrol identified the fatality as Calvin L. Irons, 33, a Vicksburg postal worker.

The patrol said a Miller Transport Co. truck which had been loaded at the Mississippi Valley Portland Cement Co. plant at Yazoo City was headed south on the busy highway.

Four other vehicles, three cars and a truck, were headed north and the first in the line apparently made a left turn in front of the oncoming transport truck two miles north of here, the patrol said.

The transport truck, driven by Elbert Cockrell of Vicksburg, swerved to the left to avoid hitting the car and began sideswiping other vehicles in the line. Apparently, when Cockrell tried to cut back into the proper lane his truck toppled over on Irons' car, the last in the line, the patrol said.

Four wreckers, a bulldozer and two lumber lift trucks worked an hour to remove the truck and its load of cement from atop Irons' flattened car in order to get to his body.

A REAL FIND

Sandra Dee Learns About Boys, Kissing

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Sandra Dee, sweet 16 and already one of Hollywood's top young stars, has discovered boys and kissing. She likes both.

"I never even had a date until six months ago," said the blonde teen-ager, "and then I had to kiss a boy in a picture. I liked it, and I said to myself, 'What am I doing sitting home?' "

So Miss Dee sat no longer. But as soon as she started dating, she learned how the movieland rumor factory operates.

"One fan magazine almost had me married to Rock Hudson a month ago just because we were photographed together at a party," she said. "It was the only time I ever met him. Can you imagine? He's 33 — twice my age!"

One of Miss Dee's dates was Lindsay Crosby, Bing's boy. The talk was that Lindsay finally gave up because Mama Dee's 11:30 p.m. curfew peeved him. But the actress said she's never had a curfew.

"It's just the opposite," she said. "Mother used to push me to get out of the house to go to parties. But I didn't know anybody my own age.

"We had come here from New York City, and everything was new to me. Now I can go out any time I want, but I learned to be sensible after I woke up a couple of times with blue shadows under my eyes."

Miss Dee's transition to young womanhood is emphasized by her new Kim Novak hairdo. She wears it in "A Summer Place," which she is currently making, and looks far more mature than the girl who scored a string of successes in "The Reluctant Debutante," "Imitation of Life" and "Gidget."

"I'm growing up," she said, relaxing in her dressing room in a white blouse, black capri pants and blue-and-white oxfords. "I'll be finishing school in June."

At the moment, however, she still studies three hours a day with a woman tutor from Universal-International, which has her under contract. Her curriculum consists of English, French, behavior psychology and sketching. And the private tutoring — along with constant work—has impressed on her the main drawback of early success: isolation from friends.

"I miss the companionship of kids my own age," she said, "and that's no line. I finally found a girlfriend, and I'm really excited about it."

Miss Dee, a 99-pound product of Bayonne, N.J., has been isolated from average girls for most of her life. At the age of 12, she was a $30-an-hour model and cover girl. She once earned $78,000 in a year for modeling.

"I like the glamorous part of Hollywood," she said. "My favorite stars are Paul Newman and Lana Turner (her mother in 'Imitation of Life'). I've never seen a woman more a movie star than Lana—even at 5 in the morning on a set with no makeup. That's what I want to be like."

Solons Study Double Price Support Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House agriculture subcommittee is considering a plan aimed at trimming the nation's huge what surplus by setting up two price support levels—the highest reserved for farmers who agree to reduce acreage.

Disclosure of the new plan came after Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson attacked Congress for failure to approve his proposals for new wheat legislation. Benson told a news conference the need for approval of his plan for sharp reductions in wheat supports is "urgent."

The agriculture secretary also said he was "disturbed" by reports that the House what subcommittee, headed by Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okla.) was considering a "temporary wheat bill." Such action would be "unwise and unnecessary," Benson said.

Albert would not discuss details of subcommittee talks on the past two days. But other informed sources said the legislators were studying a plan which would:

—Reduce price supports "moderately" below the present legal floor of 75 per cent of the "fair earning power" parity price for those farmers who want to continue planting acreage allotments based on their share of the 55 million acre national minimum allotment.

—Provide price supports at a rate somewhere above the new floor for those farmers willing to reduce their plantings.

—Tighten some features of the control program, probably including stiffer penalties for farmers who overplan their allotments and restrictions on future acreage increases by some farmers currently growing less than 15 acres of wheat for sale.

Roller Coaster Kills Young Boy

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A teen-age boy pitched out of a roller coaster car head-first here Friday night. The car then rolled over the youth, killing him outright.

Gary Seekins, 16, Orchards, Wash., died 50 feet in the air, on a section of elevated track at Jantzen Beach Amusement Park.

Sheriff's Deputy Jim Purcell said the high school student was riding in a front seat, and toppled onto the track as the car began a downward ride.

DUKE CRITICIZED

LONDON (UPI) — The Lord's Day Observance Society criticized the Duke of Edinburgh and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Friday in its annual report. The society complained that the duke engaged in sports every available Sunday and once had left church services to fly to a polo match. The prime minister was taken to task for organizing weekend political conferences and patronziing amateur cricket matches on Sunday.

Gunmen Take Krupp Jewels

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Three gunmen robbed Vera Krupp, ex-wife of German industrialist Alfred Krupp, of jewelry valued at $250,000 Friday night, the sheriff's office reported.

Mrs. Krupp, about 32, told investigators the trio burst into her Spring Mountain ranch home, bound her with wire and handcuffed ranch worker Harold Brotherson.

Deputies said Mrs. Krupp and Brotherson managed to struggle free of their bonds about two hours after the robbers drove away in a late model car.

The Krupps were divorced in 1954, when she came to Nevada.

Charter Members Of Library Listed

The formal opening today of the new headquarters building for the Ouachita Parish Public library is a culmination of dreams and work of a number of persons throughout the parish over the past 43 years.

Begun originally in 1916 as a subscription library, it has continued to grow through the years, both good and depression years, until today, when it serves the parish, not just the urban areas of Monroe and West Monroe.

Its predecessor, the Monroe Publice Library was established with 93 charter members. The Mayor of Monroe, the late H. D. Apgar, and the council with nine members were officials. Camille Gravel Is Thinking Of Governor's Race

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—Camille Gravel Jr., Louisiana national Democratic committeeman, Friday indicated he may be thinking of entering the race for governor.

Asked about the possibility during an interview with newsmen, Gravel said:

"Stranger things have happened in Louisiana politics, not the least of which is Mr. (Earl) Long's apparent attempt to make the job permanent."

Gravel was taking a dig at Governor Long's indication he may resign his post and enter the Democratic primaries in a move to regain the office. A governor cannot succeed himself.

Gravel said Long would do better to make the governor's job a civil service position.

Long has challenged Gravel both to step down as national committeeman and to enter a political race with him since they parted political ways in a civil rights tift.

3 Out-Of-Town Programs Slated By Concert Choir

Three out-of-town programs are scheduled tomorrow for the Northeast Louisiana State College Concert Choir, Davis Bingham, the organization's director, announced yesterday.

The choir will go to Homer, Haynesville and Linville to give concerts. Programs are set for 10:15 a.m. in Homer, 2 p.m. in Haynesville, and 7:30 p.m. in Linville.

Monday's features are part of a series of concerts which the student musicians will present in this area, according to Bingham, who joined the Northeast music faculty at the opening of the spring semester.

Numbers to be given by the choir during these performances will vary from light romantic ballards to serious religious selections. This wide choice of music usually has audience appeal and it also offers greater opportunity in training, Bingham explained.

The singers recently were presented in concert by the Bastrop Optimist Club in the large modern auditorium there, and they won acclaim for their precision and artistry of performance.

People of the Twin Cities will have opportunity to hear the choral group in Franz Joseph Haydn's oratorio "The Creation," scheduled May 12 in the Fine Arts Recital Hall on the Northeast State campus.

The word "lynching" is believed to have derived its name from Judge Charles Lynch, a Virginia justice of the peace who in 1780 caused British loyalists to be flogged without giving them recourse to due process of law.

Nixon Welcomes Castro's Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon wants to talk with Fidel Castro, and they may get together during the Cuban leader's visit here next week.

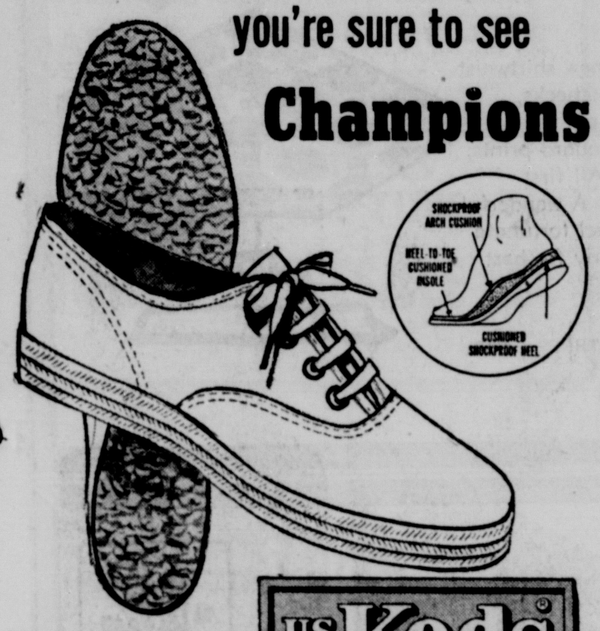

Castro's only scheduled visit with a U.S. government official so far is a luncheon in his honor arranged by Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter.

But reports are circulating here that a meeting between Castro and Nixon is certain.

BY FOOD MANUFACTURERS

How Price Spread Works Explained

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Price spread is the difference in price between what the farmer gets for his raw product and the price you pay at the grocery store.

It is the "take" of the middleman, the marketing margin between the farm gate and the retail counter. It is what the food entrepeneur gets.

When the price spread widens, it usually reduces the farm price and increases the retail price. It indicates that both farmers and consumers "bleed" to enrich some in-between persons or companies. As such the word "middleman" has an odious meaning to many.

The Grocery Manufacturers of America (GMA) is seeking to make the name respectable. It has prepared a leaflet titled "What Price Spread Means to You." GMA, founded in 1908, is an organization of about 300 of the nation's leading manufacturers of advertised food and grocery products.

To GMA, price spread is the payment for a number of essential processes and services necesary to bring food from the farm to the consumer, including research, manufacturing, transportation, wholesaling, and retailing.

According to GMA, these processes and services, paid for by spread, "add real value to the product at every step along the way by providing the housewife with food in the form she wants it, when she wants it, and where she wants it."

A familiar example of spread would be the difference in what a farmer gets for his wheat and the prices the consumer pays at the store for flour, baking mixes, cereals, or bread. Wheat, designed for food, has no value to the farmer nor the consumer when stored on the farm. If it were not for price spread, the consumer would have to go to the farm to get the wheat, do his own milling, and make his own bread or cereal.

The pioneer did grind his own wheat and slaughter his own livestock. He ate what he grew. But, as the nation grew, so did price spread. The spread began when that first somebody in - between started to provide services to move food from farm to table.

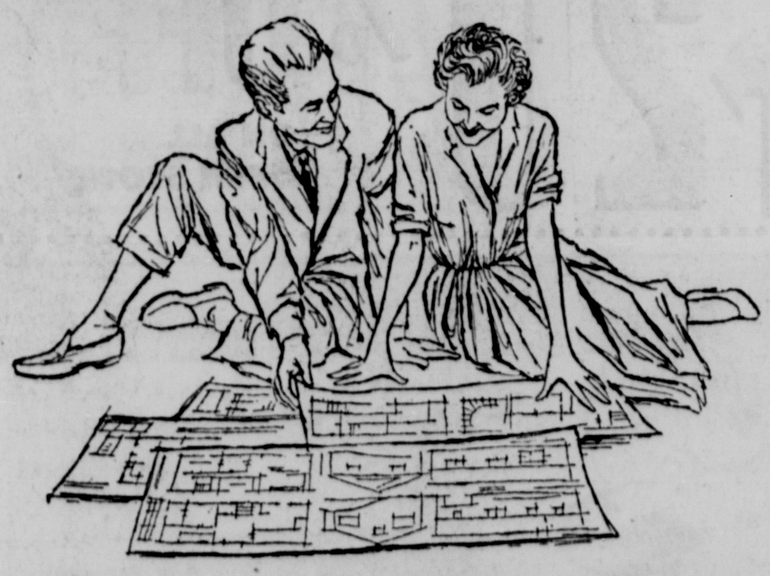

Farming these days is largely a mechanized and scientific operation. Food is the nation's largest peacetime manufacturing business. A quarter of a century ago the farmer produced enough to feed 10 other persons. Now, he produces enough to feed 20 or more other persons.

The producer doesn't have time to process what he grows and sell it direct to those 20 plus other persons. The producer, or farmer, is able to produce such a volume because price spread enables him to turn over other operations such as transportation, processing, and selling to middlemen who are equipped to do the job.

The food industry, fed by price spread, has grown phenomenally. Total consumer food expenditures in 1939 were 16 billion dollars. In 1958 they totaled 75 billion dollars. Aiding this growth have been research for new products, better advertising, and better packaging.

Without research there would be no frozen concentrated citrus juices, no frozen fish or vegetables the year round, no baking mixes, and few if any dietetic foods.

Dr. Evon Z. Vogt, Harvard University authority on American Indians, was a U.S. naval air combat intelligence officer during World War II.

Work Starts Soon On YMCA Home

A lot has been purchased and building plans are in their final stages for the new building for the Twin Cities Young Men's Christian Association, a steering committee of the YMCA was told yesterday by G. L. Morgan, chairman of the Building Committee.

It is anticipated that construction will start within the next few months, Morgan added.

The committee was given a summary of activities of the YMCA for the year 1958 by Vernon McCoy, past president, and William Robinson, executive secretary. It was reported that the organization had a total enrollment of 5,494 for the year, and that the total attendance at YMCA—sponsored events had been 48,375. Emphasizing the growth of the program, McCoy pointed out that these figures compare with an enrollment of 907 and an attendance of 8,404 just five years ago.

The wonderful response to our program has been most gratifying," McCoy said, "but it must be added that there is still much to be done. Many times we have had to curtail or eliminate important programs because of lack of facilities. When our new building is completed we estimate that we will be able to double our present activity."

As an example of the possibilities, McCoy reported that 225 boys and girls had been taught to swim during the YMCA Day Camp program last summer. With the proposed indoor pool, swimming instruction could be continued the year round with a corresponding increase in the number of children taught to swim.

R. Fred Petty, chairman of the finance committee, reported that his group was making contacts among various companies and individuals in an effort to secure payment of Building Fund pledges as soon as possible.

"Through the generous pledges of our citizens, we have been encouraged to make these further plans," Petty said.

We now seek cooperation from these supporters in making payment on their pledges as soon as possible. Our proposed building cannot become a reality until a certain percentage of our pledges have been received in cash. Each pledge paid in advance brings closer these new facilities for our youth."

NORTH CAROLINAN SAYS

Racial Issue Hurts Schools In South

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)— North Carolina Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell told a group of editors Saturday night his state's school laws were written to save an educational system rather than defy the U.S. Supreme Court.

At the same time, Seawell warned that militant activity of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People represented a "great danger to continued public education" in the South.

He said the NAACP activities were "doing irreparable harm in racial relations" in North Carolina and the South. He called on Negro leaders to show the same "moderation" which has been asked of white leaders.

"When moderation is required on the part of white citizens, it is required equally from Negro citizens within our borders," Seawell said in his prepared address. "When extremists get into a fight, they usually destroy the very thing over which they are fighting.

"And if the schools of North Carolina are ever destroyed, it will be another indication of the truth of this statement."

Seawell, an avowed moderate who touched off a storm of criticism shortly after his appointment by urging all North Carolinians to recognize the Supreme Court's desegregation rulings as the law of the land, was here to explain the state's school laws to the Florida Society of Editors.

He told them the North Carolina laws were based on the recognition, backed by the State Supreme Court, that the May, 1954, "Brown" case was the law of the land.

"I would not have you to believe that there are not those in North Carolina who are unwilling to accept the law as it is, nor that there are not those who desire defiance, but, in numbers they are relatively small," Seawell explained. "The great majority of the people of North Carolina sincerely believe that we cannot continued to grow unless we have public education."

The two state laws which he discussed were:

The pupil assignment plan which gives to local school boards alone the authority and responsibility for assigning pupils to classrooms.

The local option and tuition grant-in-aid act which permits an election to close local schools and expense grants for pupils whose parents do not want them attending integrated schools.

Seawell stressed that both laws place the decision in the hands of local authorities. The assignment plan, he said, has been held constitutional on its face in the federal courts while the so-called Pearsall Plan has never received any court construction.

There have been no elections to close schools in North Carolina nor any expense grants made under this legislation. However, 17 Negro students have been admitted to previously all-white schools in four cities.

Seawell emphasized that the 17 were admitted by decision of the local school boards "without any compulsion by state authorities" and without litigation.

Russians Claim Two-Headed Dog Is Still Alive

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet scientists said Saturday a two-headed dog they created 15 days ago by grafting a puppy's head to a full-grown pooch was still "alive and healthy."

The experiment, aimed at finding ways of replacing portions of the human body lost through injury or disease, was pronounced Russia's "most successful" in the field, the official news agency Tass said.

Dr. Vladimir Demikhov, a physiologist, said the dog, a German shepherd named "Pirat," was "feeling well and full of life." The puppy's head was grafted onto Pirat's neck.

Dogs in previous operations lived only five or six days, Demikhov said, but Pirat "goes out and eats with relish (and) the second head reacts vividly to everything around it."

Cliburn's Allegiance to Church, Concert

NEW YORK, (AP) — "Faith in God, love for people, and vision of a better world" — this is not the credo of a preacher but a piano player who exactly a year ago was catapulted over night into fame.

Once in a while a singer comes out of a church choir; actress Ethel Waters enthusiastically proclaims her belief; Jenny Lind was notably devout. Here is one more musician who, instead of hailing from Bohemia, comes from Baptist Sunday School and prayer meeting, and persists in his double allegiance to pulpit and concert platform, church and music hall.

When it came to writing a book about him, "The Van Cliburn Legend" (published next Monday by Doubleday), it seemed natural that two authors were needed to cover the subject's two bright facets, and the work is described on the title page as "By Abram Chasins with Villa Stiles." Chasins is the musician, Miss Stiles the inspirational writer.

HUGGED BY KHRUSHCHEV

On April 13, 1958, Van Cliburn won the first piano prize of the Tchaikovsky competition in Moscow, where he was hugged and bussed on both cheeks by Nikita Khrushchev. It could be that without the prayers of the church goers of Kilgore, Tex., young Cliburn would never have been kissed by the Communist boss of atheist Russia:

As he got ready for the severe ordeal of appearing before the judges, says Chasins —unless this is Miss Stiles speaking — "He did not neglect to telephone his parents in Kilgore to notify them of the time he would be playing and to elicit their spiritual support. They, in turn, elicited the support of the local ministers, and 'later I learned (says Cliburn) that the ministers had asked the whole town to pray for me. My parents did not pray for me to win, because winning in their minds is not always the best thing. They prayed that God's will be done.'"

The news of his victory came to the senior Cliburns by phone call from Moscow just before they left for a prayer meeting. For a previous competition in Chicago, the first time he missed a major prize, he also had prayed, explaining, "I'm praying to God to give me the strength to bear it if I don't come through." One conductor "blew his stack," in Chasins' words, when during a performance a pedal on Cliburn's piano broke, and the devout young artist promptly walked the enraged and profane maestro off the stage saying, "Let's pray." They did.

"GOD'S LANGUAGE"

"Music is God's language," Cliburn believes and often says.

One photo in the book shows him with hands clasped in prayer just before he did his first Carnegie Hall concert after the Moscow triumph. He had a private box in Madison Square Garden for evangelist Billy Graham's rally.

What with the prayers, the ticker tape and the incredible adulation — of which this book contains an apparently complete and detailed record — the boy makes one of the really extraordinary stories in the art life of our time. Though you may have heard him in a concert, and seen him, you need this biography to give an adequate idea of the intensity of the storm and furor he has kicked up, in all innocence, wherever he has appeared in the last 12 months.

Before he went to Moscow, he got $100 or less for a concert; since Moscow, he has on one occasion in California collected $18,000 for two nights, and in his native Texas, $10,500 for a one - day affair. Once he got $75 on a TV show; now the same show paid him $3,000. His single recording of the Tchaikovsky may sell one million discs this year.

SOME CRITICAL OBJECTIONS

Chasins points, fairly, to some critical objections raised, in particular lately, to some of Cliburn's playing, but mostly he sticks to the almost incredible success story. The boy was born July 12, 1934, and named Harvey Lavan Cliburn, Jr., for his businessman father. His mother, Rildia Bee O'Bryan, taught piano, and the boy decided when he was three or four that if she could teach his playmates she could teach him.

He was a fast grower, till he reached his present 6-feet-4, and perhaps in connection with that he has had more than his share of boils and carbuncles; he has been laid up just recently with one bad finger, and when he went to Russia, forearmed against sickness he took along 300 vitamin pills and some gelatin.

He fell early into the habit of winning prizes both in his home town and in Texas. In 1951 he entered Juilliard, in New York. He greeted his teacher to be, Mme. Rosina Lhevinne, with, "Honey, I'm here to study with you." When he squeezed two pianos into his room, he told his landlady excitedly, "Honey, it looks just like home!" When he won the coveted Leventritt award, he reported to Mme. Lhevinne, "Honey, I got it!"

Wherever he goes he is spotted, and followed. Girls want to sit at the restaurant table where he sat, old men bless him for what he has done for America, cab drivers blow their horns, and policemen crack him on the back. He stays up to all hours, keeps a schedule that would kill an ordinary man, and doesn't even have time to buy himself clothes — he played one Carnegie Hall concert with the sole of one shoe flapping so loose he fastened it with a rubber band.

Chasins remarks that, though Washington has been coldly formal about Cliburn's success, local governments have shown the wildest enthusiasm. He suggests it's time we gave more recognition to the invaluable service performed for us at home culturally and abroad both culturally and politically by a youth of Cliburn's magnetic appeal.

EXPERIENCE BEST TEACHER

Home Garden Can Be Costly Hobby

WASHINGTON (AP)—The season has arrived for America's No. 1 hobby — home gardening. As many as 40 million American homes are believed to have gardens.

Millions of hopeful people are beginning to troop into garden shops to buy fertilizer, seed, new tools, bug and plant disease sprays and dusts, hose and many other items.

The Agriculture Department looks upon the home garden not as a commercial enterprise but as an art. It urges the amateur gardener to look upon it as such, in its latest bulletin on the subject.

The department says one may read many books about gardening, but that after all practice and experience are the best teachers.

Many home gardens are failures from the financial standpoint. Often the cost of materials and plowing, when translated in terms of the vegetables produced, is more than the grocery store price.

But, says Dr. Victor R. Boswell, the department's top garden expert, one doesn't engage in a hobby for a profit.

Yet, a well handled home garden in a suitable place should yield produce worth much more than the cost. In any event, some value should be attached to the health values of the freshly picked vegetables and the outdoor exercise.

What is the home gardener's biggest mistake. Dr. Boswell says it is overcrowding. Trying to grow too much on the limited space.

Here are a few "dont's" suggested by the garden expert:

Don't try to grow a garden on a lot that is too poor to make a good growth of weeds or grass; that is shaded by large trees more than a few hours a day; that is likely to be flooded often; that is contaminated with coal, chemical or oil products wastes.

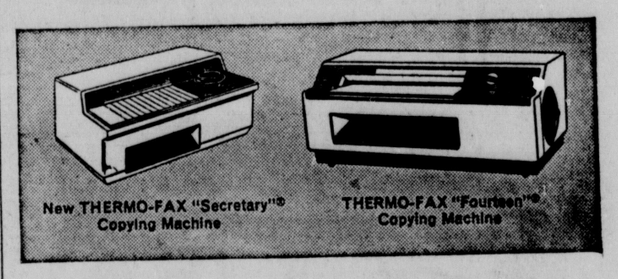

Don't spade, plow or cultivate soil that is too wet.

Don't apply too much lime.

Don't plant seeds, roots or tubers too deeply.

"theirs has lemons in it"

So speaks a shopper who, in this case, wants a real lemon but never wants to get stuck with a figurative one. Smart girl! She's learned at an early age that sometimes a penny saved can also mean a penny wasted. Rather than snap up a "bargain" which she's got her doubts about, she'll pay that little bit more and get her two cents' worth — lemonade that tastes like lemonade.

Every shopper wants to get her money's worth, but some — unlike the wise little miss above — are fooled by cut-rate prices and by misleading advertisements that promise the impossible. Prices "discounted" below wholesale; products said to be equal in value to others costing dollars more; sales that are "too good to be true" (and generally are just that): all these should be go-slow signals to a customer. If you stop to think about it, you'll know full well that no merchant can afford to give merchandise away. And when a store advertises at "giveaway" prices, it's most always a tip-off that the merchandise is missing an ingredient or two; that the lemons are missing from the lemonade.

We're not denying — nor would our thirsty little friend — that there are legitimate sales. End-of-season clearances, manufacturers' closeouts, special purchases, reductions resulting from buyers' mistakes (even the best get occasional "lemons")...these are all good reasons for sales, and reputable stores will tell you the reasons. We count ourselves among the latter — a store that will always play straight with you; always, sale or no sale, give you your two cents' worth. You'll never get a "lemon" here without knowing the reason why — and if we ever do take up lemonade purveying, you can be sure it'll be the real thing. No syrupy substitutes for true quality will ever knowingly be sold at Willis of Clay became the bride of Billy Herschel Till, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Till of Bernice.

Placed in front of a background of fernery were the tall branched tree candelabra of burning white tapers forming the center of the altar, flanked on each side by floor baskets of white stock, white gladoli, and white cluster mums. The Rev. V. L. Westbrook heard the nuptial vows.

A medley of pre-nuptial selections was played by Miss Edna Ruth Moncrief as the wedding guests were shown to their places by the usher - groomsmen, Prentiss N. Willis, Jr. and Howard Morton Willis, brothers of the bride, James F. Dendy, James C. Farrar and Charles Hollis, all cousins of the groom.

Miss Moncrief also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Charles Ward as she sang "Because" and "Always" and as the bridal couple knelt at the close of the ceremony "The Lord's Prayer."

ATTENDANTS

The bride's attendants included Mrs. James C. Pennington, the bride's sister of New Orleans as matron of honor, Mrs. E. C. Musgraves of Shreveport, a cousin of the groom and Miss Linda Lou Kavanaugh of Clay a cousin of the bride were bridesmaids. The junior bridesmaid was Miss Jamie Sue Rolf and the flower girl Little Miss Mary Elizabeth Rolf, both cousins of the bride from Ruston. All of the attendants wore identical dresses of white embossed silk organza over pale yellow taffeta, the skirts were full and fashioned from the empire waistline in the front with a large flat bow and wide streamers of the yellow taffeta falling the full length of the dresses. They wore demi-poke bonnets of the same material as their dresses with a bow on the side of yellow tulle and satin, the edges scalloped to frame their pretty faces. All wore matching yellow shoes, white mitts and carried cascades of white and orchid mums tied with yellow tulle and lace bows.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride presented a radiant and lovely picture in her gown of Chantilly lace over tulle and taffeta. Seed pearls outlined the scalloped portrait neckline and bodice. The sleeves came to a point over her wrists and the bouffant skirt formed a semi-train in the back. Her bridal veil fell from a lovely pearl coronet leaving an elegant train of floating illusion which was sprinkled with seed pearls. The lovely bridal bouquet was centered with the traditional white orchid, surmounted by lover's knots and bows of white satin, cascades of white hyacinth and stephonitis with streamers of white embossed bridal lace completed the bouquet.

A reception was held immediately following at the Ruston Country Club, where floor baskets of bridal flowers were used in the decorations. Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Rolf, an aunt and uncle of the bride welcomed the guests in the club foyer. Mrs. Prentiss Willis received the guests along with the grooms parents, the bride and groom and the bridal attendants. Serving punch from the crystal punch bowl which was surmounted with yellow satin bows and maiden-hair fern placed on a large round table covered with a white organdy cloth were Mrs. James Kavanaugh and Miss Gretchen Gresham. Assisting in these courtesies were Mrs. J. V. Kavanaugh and Miss Catherine Kendall. After the bride and groom cut the tiered wedding cake, Mrs. George S. Brown, an aunt of the bride and Mrs. Paul Sellers graciously served the wedding confections.

The guests were asked to sign the bride's book by Mrs. Ben Warren and Miss Gail Ferguson at a table covered with a white cutwork cloth on which was placed the matron of honor's bouquet beside two burning white tapers in a crystal candleholder.

Assisting in the hospitality during the reception was Mrs. W. H. Rockhold and Mrs. Jack Willis, aunts of the bride, Mrs. S. J. Spell, Jr. and Mrs. Bobby Till.

APPLES

When you want to cook wedges of apple on top of the range for a compote, use a thin syrup: one cup of sugar to three cups of water. Serve the apples with a fluff of cream cheese beaten with a little milk or cream and a suspicion of lemon juice.

DRESSING

Make up some old - fashioned boiled dressing and then add lemon juice and chopped sweet mixed pickles to it for a delightful sauce for shrimp or other seafood.

This is a big day in Monroe, with the scheduled opening of the new Ouachita Parish Public Library this afternoon. The new building, which is located on the corner of Stubbs avenue and Eighteenth street, will be shown to the public for the first time at an open house from two until six p.m. today.

Your reporter was privileged to visit the new library this week so that you might hear of some of the special features to be found there. We have all watched the construction as it progressed, and have been interested in the vertical louvers on the outside of the large windows. These are, of course, a light control device, and are most effective in preventing glare in the reading rooms.

As one enters from Eighteenth street, the eye is caught by the large mural which hangs to the left of the entrance. This depicts scenes in the history of Ouachita parish, from the Indians and DeSoto to the present "sportsmen's pradise." Books dealing with Louisiana — fiction, history, and biography — are to be found on the shelves directly below the mural.

The main reading room of the library is straight ahead from the entrance and behind the circulation desk. Windows two stories high on the Stubbs avenue side of the building light the area. Draperies of fishnet fiberglass draw across the entire expanse of glass. Counter - height shelves which extend the length of the room divide it into two long halves. Nearest the windows are couches and easy chairs in groups around coffee tables. Smoking is permitted here, and mystery stories, new novels, and current magazines and newspapers are handily located on the shelves surrounding this area . . . what a marvelous place to spend a rainy day!

On the other side of the counter - height divider are reference books and tables and chairs for the researchers. Here, too, are the microfilm reader and the cabinet containing magazines on microfilm . . . the dictionaries and the Atlas cases . . . and the rows and rows of steel stacks and all their lovely, lovely books.

At the far end of the reading room are the young adult corner and the record collection, on each side of double doors. (Before we go through the door, a word about the record collection: Records may be taken out of the library for a week, or heard there. The equipment includes a record truck with four ear phones and a speaker. It can be used to play tapes or to make-your-own. The card catalog lists records by type of music, the composer's name, and the artist.)

The doors lead into a passage to the auditorium. On the left is the entrance from Stubbs avenue, which may be used at night when this section is to be open after library hours. Built into the wall on the right is a display case suitable for timely exhibits. Presently being shown in the case is the E. L. Neville collection of early American glass.

The auditorium, which is available for use by local civic groups, will seat one hundred persons. It is furnished with folding chairs, a removable stage, and a movie projector and screen. Hanging in the auditorium at this time is a collection of twenty - five original prints lent by the Louisiana Art commission in Baton Rouge. Included are illustrations of the various media of the graphic arts such as woodcuts, etching, silk screen prints, etc. Off the auditorium is a small, well - equipped kitchen for preparing and serving refreshments at meetings.

The large room labled "Technical Processes" is given over to all the behind-the-scenes work of the library — the mending, cataloging, lettering, the making of the plastic library cards, and such necessary chores . . . Also in this room are the stacks for storing books charged out to the Bookmobile. The door at the end of the room opens directly into the garage. The Bookmobile covers fifteen routes in the parish, lending books for a period of three weeks, or until the next trip.

A very handsome spot is the conference room, with its walls covered with blue grass cloth, and its beige carpeting. The dacron batiste draperies are printed in blues and browns. Discussion groups and-or year book committees will be seated around the boat - shaped light walnut table . . . Other interesting spots in the library include the genealogy corner with its microfilmed census information and books of histories of families . . . the pamphlet files . . . the card catalog, central filing point for the entire parish library system . . . and, upstairs, the bound periodicals and rows and rows of empty shelves for future use.

The Fifth District Medical auxiliary entertained with a beautifully appointed coffee on Thursday morning, at "Synope," home of the O. N. REYNOLDS on the Columbia road. Greeting guests as they entered were ELIZABETH CARROLL of Columbia, president of the district auxiliary; BETTY GRAY, president of the Ouachita parish auxiliary; and JENNY REYNOLDS. Flowers in the entrance hall were masses of pink and red roses used with pine in an exquisite pink and green Victorian bowl.

Period arrangements of tulips, pink stock, white azaleas and daisies were used in the formal dining room, both on the table, and on the buffet . . . In the informal dining room were twin Lazy Susan tables covered with white linen. Centering these were Bisque figurines and nosegays of roses and daisies, tied with green ribbon and maline . . . Bottled drinks were served from the well on the brick - paved terrace.

Another bright spot on Thursday's calendar was the brunch at Bayou DeSiard country club. Hostesses for this affair were CISSY RYAN, who wore a blue sheath, and MARY ALICE LOFLIN, in orange printed sheer. Both wore orchid corsages, as did all the ladies who assisted.

The two serving tables were centered with spring arrangements, using Dutch iris, stock, Bells of Ireland, and azaleas. Among the tempting goodies served to several hundred ladies were fresh strawberries and melon balls, miniature cinnamon rolls, creamed eggs in patty shells, and hot toasted cheese rolls.

Exciting many compliments was DOT AMMAN's hat of open-weave white straw, woven with peach colored flowers . . . MRS. STEWART HUNT, in from Ruston, wore a yellow straw ringed with tube roses . . . Narrow bands of red and blue trimmed KAKI SHELTONS natural straw . . . and JACKIE WOOD's hat was a band of cherries across her head . . . JEAN DAVIS' wide black Milam straw was most becoming.

Last Sunday afternoon GLADYS and FRED BROWNLEE celebrated their twenty - fifth wedding anniversary with an open house at their home. Dogwood and white azaleas were used in the living room. Gladys was wearing a blue lace sheath with a corsage of pink carnations . . . The dining room table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with white azaleas. Four candlesticks wrapped with bridal wreath, silver bells, and bags of rice flanked the centerpiece.

Pouring coffee was KATIE M'GEE, wearing a black dress with a sheer yoke over lace. DOROTHY MAE BREARD, who was an attendant in the Brownlee's wedding, served the punch. A star - shaped block of ice topped with camellias floated in the punchbowl. Tea girl was LINDA HIBBARD, who passed trays of chicken salad sandwiches, cheese patties, and tiny individual cakes iced with "25" . . . Others who assisted were Gladys' sister, PAT STEWART, in ecru lace; and her mother, MRS. J. D. M'GEE, in black sheer. All the members of the house party wore corsages of pink carnations. About fifty friends called between the hours of four and six.

Former Monroyan JIMMIE NELL CHANEY was a visitor here from Baton Rouge last weekend. She was the guest of FAYE PARKER at her home in West Monroe.

A group of the high school set were invited to an outdoor weekend by JAN ADCOCK, who was hostess with her parents at their camp on Lake Providence. The girls went over after school on Friday, with the boys coming over yesterday to spend the day. Everyone came home last night.

JACKIE MEHL celebrated her tenth birthday with an outdoor party last Saturday. Twelve little friends comprised the group who played games and feasted on hamburgers, hot dogs, potato chips, and birthday cake and ice cream.

Visiting ELEANOR and PETE POLK this weekend are MR. and MRS. HAROLD M'RAE and their children, ANN, LLOYD, and AMY. They arrived on Friday, bringing Eleanor's mother, MRS. J. L. JONES of Fulton, Kentucky, who will be here for about two weeks. The McRaes return home today.

Gather ye rosebuds while ye may,
Old Time is still a-flying;
And this same flower that smiles today,
Tomorrow will be dying.
That age is best which is the first,
When youth and blood are warmer;
But being spent, the worse and Times still succeed the former.
Then be not coy, but use your time
And while ye may, go marry;
For having lost but once your prime,
You may forever tarry.

THE BOARD OF CONTROL of the Ouachita Parish Public Libary are shown as they make final plans for the opening and dedication of the new library to be held this afternoon. Opening lead: Five of ♦.

The bidding:

In today's hand we are searching for crimes. Here are the facts. West led the five of diamonds, the eight was played from dummy, and East won with the jack. The four of hearts was returned, declarer player low, and West won with the king. West continued with four of diamonds, dummy played the queen, East won with the king, and cleared the suit. Declarer then ran the spades, cashed the hearts, winding up in dummy and tried the club finesse. When that failed he was down one.

Here are the conclusions: North was guilty of overapproaching in the bidding. With two major tenaces North should strive to be declarer, and the proper response should have been two no trump (13 to 15 points). With North as declarer no opening and no amount of ineptitude could have stood in the way of the North and South path to game.

South's rebid of one no trump is optoinal, tho most modern players prefer to rebid one spade on this type of holding. South might have handled the cards with greater deftness. When East returned the four of hearts, South had to decide who probably had the king. I think he should decide that it was West because if East held that card a heart lead with the queen in dummy would not have been an especially inviting play.

Declarer should go up with the ace of hearts to protect the diamond tenace in dummy from further assault. He could then cross to dummy to try the club finesse. On this line of play he would have scored nine tricks. Having failed to come up with the ace of hearts, declarer could still have saved his hide at the next trick. When West returned the four of diamonds, having opened the five, he became marked with a five card suit. This means that East has two more left, one of which is apparently the king. Going up with the ace of diamonds, declarer could have effective blocked the suit.

Comfortable Shoes For Sightseer

By BETH BLAIR

A shoe wardrobe is a must if you want to enjoy yourself outdoors this spring and summer. Good styling, supple leathers and correct fit will add a lightness to your step at home on the terrace or trudging up the Spanish steps in Rome. A reader writes—

Dear Miss Blair:

How many pairs of shoes should I take with me on a month's vacation next summer? I will do a lot of sightseeing during the day but will attend outdoor opera as well as enjoy some social parties with relatives in Rome.

I suggest you take at least four pairs of shoes. Two would be for daytime wear, perhaps both flats or one pair of flats and another a comfortable low - heel walking shoe. (The idea is to alternate them for good foot health.) Take a pair of afternoon shoes and another pair for evening. Of course, you will be visiting the land of the bootmakers and may want to buy some shoes in Italy but certainly I would be adequately prepared by taking four pairs. Remember, you'll be wearing one pair so you'll be toting only three.

Dear Miss Blair:

I have a black crepe dress and want to make a large organdie collar for it. Do you think I could combine white with a color for a double layer collar?

Double and triple layer organdie collars are very smart this spring. I suggest you consider either of these — a white collar over a pink or blue collar. Or you might consider three layers of organdie with the color between two white collars.

Indians Fourth In SLI Relays

PAUL MARTIN LOOKS 'EM OVER

On To Boston

Charles Stewart, West Monroe High School graduate now attending Northwestern Louisiana State, will compete for the National AAU trampoline championship in the gymnastic event to be conducted at Boston, Miss., in another two weeks.

We like to feel we had a part in making it possible for Stewart to get this chance in the big show and earn a possible berth with the 1960 U.S. Olympic team. Last Sunday we wrote of the invitation Stewart might have to reject because his school would not support his entry in what possible might find competition involving the races, and that funds were not available to finance his trip otherwise.

The result of our report was the quick offer from J. H. Cox Sr., a Jonesboro businessman, and from the Ouachita Coca Cola Bottling Company of Monroe, to underwrite the trip for Stewart.

Lamar Greer, sales manager for the bottling concern, finally had his offer accepted as a "home town" concern supporting a "home town" athlete, as the full support of the Twin Cities will be behind this West Monroe youth. At the same time, all concerned are extending sincere thanks to Mr. Cox at Jonesboro for his interest in Stewart's cause.

With transportation taken care of, Stewart will leave here April 22 in the company of Sonny Martinez of New Orleans. Martinez is being sent to Boston by the New Orleans Athletic Club. He and Stewart will be the only Louisiana entries in the AAU gym events to be held at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst on April 24 and 25.

Coach Jeff Hennessy, who was Stewart's coach at West Monroe High and is now his coach at Northwestern, will accompany Stewart on the trip.

And we must not forget Robert Ervin, the rabid Rebel fan. It was Ervin who first learned of Stewart's invitation and told us of his plight. We passed it on in our column to be taken up by such as Cox and Greer ... sort of a Tinker to Evers to Chance double play combination that pays off for Stewart.

While we're thinking of Stewart's possibilities as a member of the Olympic team (he has won the SAAU and National Junior AAU in his event), we feel there are other Louisiana lads working up such possibilities.

Never have Louisiana schools been blessed with such outstanding contenders in a single season as Northeast's Dave Styron, Louisiana Tech's Pat Garrett, and LSU's Billy Cannon as 100-yard dash men. Neville High's Joe Cage has not been getting the javelin as far this year as he did as a sophomore a year ago, but the classy young Monroe athlete is quite a spear man, and if he continues to add distance he could be an Olympic man himself one of these days. Did better than 206 feet last spring.

Possibly we're just dreaming, but don't forget it's possible. Those Olympic spots are waiting for some young athletes. They might as well as ours.

BOW AND ARROW

The Louisiana Bowhunters Association, pledged to support all branches and types of archery, is taking growing strides among the state's sportsmen. The organization is currently circulating its first newsletter among known archers of the state.

J. L. Sudduth, Jonesboro, defines "bowhunter" as the true conservationist who is willing to devote his time and money to the propogation of wildlife while he limits his personal game bag to whatever he can take with the "greatest conservation weapon known to man." He predicts archers afield this year will double the number in the ranks of state hunters a year ago.

Archery enthusiasts are invited to contact the LBA secretary - treasurer Jimmie Edwards, 424 West Sixth Street, Jonesboro, La., for membership or association particulars. Ragan Blalock, Quitman, is vice president.

The Dixie Invitational shoot will be held at Bossier City next Saturday and Sunday offering competition in flight, clout, big game, hunters, field, and other novelties. Registration fee is two bucks. Mrs. Arnell Hayes, 2424 Douglas Drive, Bossier City, is handling reservations.

Nieder Betters Shot Put Mark

Parry O'Brien, another Olympian formerly of Southern California, set the record at 63-2. Dallas Long, now a USC freshman, recently tied it.

Atoll Shades Intentionally In Gotham Run

NEW YORK (AP)—The Elkcam Stable's Atoll outfought the Brookfield Farm's Intentionally in a torrid stretch duel Saturday and won the $28,600 Gotham Stakes at Jamaica in the fastest time ever hung up for the event for 3-year-olds.

Eddie Arcaro rode Atoll, the $100,000 beauty, while Willie Shoemaker was aboard Intentionally, setting up a duel between two of the nation's top jockeys.

Both colts are hot contenders for the 75,000-added Wood Memorial here next Saturday, the final Eastern test for the May 2 running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

Seven 3-year-olds started in the mile and one-sixteenth race but the first two horses were the ones who battled it out from the start to the end on a track turned sloppy by the rains of the past two days.

Atoll, a brown son of Flushing II-Coral Island, was clocked in 1 minute, 43 seconds. The fastest previous time in the Gotham was 1:44 by Laffango in 1953. The track record for the distance is 1:42 by Blessbull as a 5-year-old with only 118 pounds. Atoll and Intentionally both packed 122.

Atoll, who won the Swift Stakes here two weeks ago in the slop beat Intentionally by three-quarters of a length. It was five more lengths back to Open View, a stablemate of Atoll.

Greentree Stable's Audience was fourth, beaten a nose by Open View.

Atoll paid $4.90, $2.10 and $2.10. Intentionally, making his second start of the year after an easy victory last Monday, returned $2.20 and $2.20. Open View was $2.10 to show.

Anderson Upsets Lew Hoad In Pro Net Match

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Mal Anderson upset Lew Hoad 6-3, 6-3 in an all-Australian pro tennis match Saturday and world champion Pancho Gonzales came through a 6-3, 4 6, 6-2 triumph over Ashley Cooper, also of Australia.

Hoad disclosed after the match he played with an infected left foot, which was lanced earlier in the day. He said it didn't affect his play to any great degree.

Styron Acclaimed Most Outstanding

By BOB ANDERSON

LAFAYETTE, La. (Special) — Dave Styron trailed Bobby Morrow and Billy Cannon in the feature attraction, the special and college centuries, but led three winning Northeast relay teams to earn the Most Outstanding Track Man award in the rain-plagued SLI Relays here yesterday. Despite the rain, five college records were broken and one tied in the meet, three by Oklahoma and two by Houston.

Northeast, with Dave Styron leading off and brother Don as anchor man, sped to victory in the 440, 880 and mile relays, among the last events run on the crowded, 29-event final day of the 31st Southwestern Track Carnival, for 30 points to give them fourth place in the unofficial team point totals with 44.

Dave Styron, the Colorado rocket who shares the world junior 100 record of 9.4, took his second and third defeats in the day's two centuries.

In the special 100, the top attraction that drew over 6,000 fans to SLI's McNaspy Stadium, despite the cold, wet weather, Dave stayed a hair ahead of Morrow, co-holder of the world's record of 9.3, for forty yards before falling about a foot behind. Morrow's finishing spurt pushed him about a yard ahead of the Northeast sophomore at the finish.

Morrow's time was 9.5 and, while all the clocks were on the winner, Styron's time was estimated at 9.6 period. Louisiana Tech's ace, Pat Garrett, finished third and Lamar Tech's Gavin Carragher was fourth.

Houston star Ollan Cassell, slated to run, pulled a muscle and did not compete.

Cannon repeated his narrow victory over Styron in the Florida Relays here yesterday in the college 100. The LSU football All-American got the jump on Styron and had about a foot lead after forty yards.

Styron churned even with Cannon just before the finish but the LSU star broke the tape. Cannon's time was 9.5 and Styron's was the same.

In the Florida Relays, Cannon won over Styron in a photo finish to hand the Indian thinclad his first defeat of the year.

Dan Erwin of Oklahoma broke his old record of 54 feet, 8 inches, set last year by three feet in the shot put with a heave of 57 feet, 8 inches, yesterday and was selected the most outstanding field man.

Another Sooner, J. D. Martin, broke teammate Larry Neeley's 14-foot record in the pole vault with a 14' 1 ¾" vault. Martin tried for the 14' 7" mark three times but couldn't make it.

Michael Lindsay broke the other record for Oklahoma, spinning the discus 165 feet, 11 inches, breaking the record set last year by George Church, also of Oklahoma, of 157-4¾.

Jack Smyth, of Houston, broke the record of 48-8 ¾ in the hop step and jump with a distance of 49 feet. Houston's Smith set the old mark in 1956.

Al Lawrence of Houston ran the two-mile in 9:14.1 for a new record as the Cougars dominated the events, taking first, second, third and fifth place. The old record was 9:17.1, set by Jerry Smartt of Houston, who finished third yesterday, in 1958.

LSU's Dickie Durham beat Tech's Jim Sturdivant and Don Styron with a record-tying time of 14.4 in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Oklahoma finished on top in the unofficial team totals with 75 ½ points. Houston was second with 60, LSU third with 57½ and Northeast with 44. Tech was the next highest Gulf States Conference school with 26½ points.

Besides winning the three relays, Northeast had two seconds and two thirds. Dave Styron was second in the 100, and Robert McGough was second to Dale Hoffpauir of Northwestern in the javelin. Don Styron was third in the high hurdles and Jerry Ivy in the broad jump.

Dave had a busy day. He ran in both centuries and the three relays all within about three hours.

Louisiana Tech had good success in the invitational 440 and 880 relays, restricted to G. S. C. teams. John Mize's Techmen finished first in both. Pat Garrett, Jim Sturdivant, Don Shows and Bob McCreary ran the 440 and Jim Tullos replaced Sturdivant for the 880.

Garrett, besides finishing third in the special 100, was second to Morrow in a special 220, added to the program at the last minute.

Wayne Melton picked up Tech's only first place in the college and university division, winning the high jump with 6 feet, 2 inches.

Northeast's winning 440 relay team was Dave Styron, Roger Beumer, Don Reynolds and Don Styron. Reynolds gave Northeast the lead on the third relay and Don Styron opened it up on the last leg.

The same quartet won the 880 relay. Reynolds pulled Northeast into contnetion again and Don Styron pulled ahead on the final leg.

The mile relay, run amid the cold rain and on a track now well churned, was the last event of the day and one of the best. Houston led Dave Styron by about a yard after one lap. Jim Mouser held second for Northeast on the second lap with Houston still first.

Dick Hays took the lead on the third trip around the track with LSU now the Indians' top competition. Don Styron got the baton ahead of the pack and led for about half the 440 lap before LSU's Curtis Wall took the lead.

Styron and Wall jockeyed for the lead as the two rounded the last turn and the crowd rose to its feet. Styron edged ahead of the Bengal runner about 20 yards from the tape and stayed in front.

"We won what we came down here to win—the university relays, Indian Coach Lew Hartzog said after the meet.

"I was extermely pleased with all the boys," Hartzog said, "Don Styron was terrific on the last leg of the mile relay."

Dan Fusilier of Cecilia was named the Most Outstanding High School Track Man at the conclusion of the meet and Glenn Talbot of Gillis was named the top prep field man.

Royer Forges Stroke Lead At Lake Charles With 69

By ED TUNSTALL

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Young Hugh Royer of Columbus, Ga., neutralized a cold wind and driving rain Saturday with a steaming 3-under-par 69 and took the third round lead in the $5,000 Lake Charles Invitational Golf Tournament.

The 22-year-old former University of Georgia star, making his debut as a pro, followed earlier rounds of 68 and 69 with Saturday's performance for a total of 206.

Boyish-looking Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., former Western Amateur titleholder and 1957 Walker Cup team member, also came in with a 69 despite the weather and trailed Royer by only one stroke at 207.

Veteran Dick Metz of Fort Worth, Tex., stammered to a 74 and fell to fifth place at 211. The 50-year-old former Ryder Cup team standout was tied with Royer for first place when the third round opened, but the severe weather took its toll on Metz, fighting a mild seige of influenza. Metz bore the full brunt of the downpour but was even par until he took bogeys on two of the last three holes.

The field opened play with the 6,500-yard Lake Charles Golf and Country Club course still soggy from rains during the first two rounds. The downpour started shortly after noon and rain still was pelting the course when the last players came home.

Professional Ivan Sicks of Lake Charles was the third player to post a 69 and moved into third place at 208.

The best card was turned in by one-time Southeastern PGA king Charlie Harper of Colombus, Ga. The greying veteran's putter approached the boiling stage and he knocked five strokes off par with a 67 to jump into fourth place at 210. Harper won the Lake Charles title in 1957.

Ironically, Harper has been Royer's tutor for the past four years and said the youthful Southern amateur champion should become a golfing great in the next few years.

Royer is making his professional debut in the event and it probably will be his last for some time since he faces induction into the armed forces later this month.

Rudolph is serving his PGA probation and is playing in only his fifth professional tournament. The 24-year-old former Memphis State golfer won the Gulf Coast Invitational at Gulfport, Miss., last month.

Styron Eager For Morrow Rematch

By BOB ANDERSON and JIMMY HATTEN

LAFAYETTE (Special) — I'd like to meet him again," was Dave Styron's comment after finishing second to Bobby Morrow in a special hundred yard dash in the Southwestern Louisiana Institute relays here yesterday.

"It was a race although he (Morrow) probably doesn't think so," the Northeast College star said. "I know it was one of my best but I thought it was a rather slow track."

Morrow, an Olympic champion and co-holder of the world's record of 9.3, called Styron "a very fine runner."

"I don't know how much I beat him. It was close," Morrow continued.

He was clocked at 9.5 and Styron's time was estimated at 9.6.

A student at Abeline Christian College but now ineligible for College competition, Morrow refused to compare Styron to other top sprinters because "it's too early in the season."

The record-holder, who ran in the Lafayette track carnival for the first time, also ran in a special 220 yard dash, defeating Louisiana Tech's Pat Garrett who finished third in the 100.

A lay minister in the Church of Christ, Morrow spoke to a local church group before returning home.

In an interview before the meet Morrow said, that he plans to compete in the 1960 Olympics.

Asked of the rumor that he developed his fleetness by chasing jack rabbits on his Texas farm, Morrow said, It's not too hard to catch a little jack rabbit."

250TH FOR WYNN

Chisox Trounce Bengals, 5 To 3

DETROIT (AP) — Early Wynn won his 250th major league game Saturday and Sherm Lollar and Luis Aparicio supplied the home-run power in the Chicago White Sox's 5-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Wynn, a 39-year-old right-hander who began his baseball career back in 1937, leads all active major league pitchers in victories and ranks 22nd among baseball's all-time winners.

The veteran knuckleballer came up to the big league late in the 1941 season and won 72 games with Washington and 163 with Cleveland before he was traded to Chicago after the 1957 season. His 14 victories last season left him one short of the coveted 250-mark.

Wynn was behind almost every batter, but managed to work his way out of several trouble spots and hung on for the Sox' second victory in two days over the Tigers.

Lollar cracked two home runs and Aparicio, Chicago's 150-pound shortstop, hit a tie-breaking blast in the seventh inning.

The Tigers had tied the game 3-3 in the sixth, when center fielder Jim Landis dropped a routine line drive and opened the way for two unearned runs. Wynn retired the first two batters before Landis muffed Frank Bolling's drive hit straight at him. Singles by Rocky Bridges and Lou Berberet loaded the bases and pinch-hitter Charlie Maxwell singled home two runners.

Lollar drove in three of the Chicago runs. He led off the sixth and eighth innings with home runs. His bloop single to center field in the first scored Landis all the way from first base as the fleet outfielder was running with the pitch with two out.

Schaefer Plans Pro Grid Play With Canadians

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Don Schaefer, former star back at Notre Dame, has been signed by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football Union.

Schaefer played three seasons with Notre Dame as quarterback, halfback and fullback and also backed the line on defense. In 1956, he was with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League. He was in the U.S. Air Force the last two years and played for the Bolling Field team at Washington, D.C.

FIVE-INNING SCRAP

Tech Swamps Tribe, 14-0, For Fifth Gulf States Win

By JIM CALHOUN
Staff Sports Writer

Charley Garris powered two home runs and Wade Scott smashed one over the fence to back a masterful one-hitter by Louisiana Tech righthander J. W. Mercer as the Bulldogs slaughtered Northeast, 14-0, for their fifth consecutive Gulf States Conference victory without a loss in a rain-shortened slugfest here Saturday afternoon.

The Techmen came to town with their hitting shoes on and ripped Indian hurling for eleven hits, including an eight-run fourth frame before the rains halted the game with the visitors batting in the top of the sixth.

Trailing hopelessly by 12 runs in the first of the fifth, Northeast tried stalling tactics, hoping for a washout before the required five innings were completed. Tech took the advantage and two runners literally strolled home on gift runs.

Mercer was in rare form on the mound, giving up only a fourth inning single to Tribe catcher John O'Conner. The Indians threatened to score in only two frames and the tall curveballer set them down in order in the other stanzas, fanning the side in the second.

Rouse, Northeast's mound ace with a 1.85 earned run average before the Saturday clobbering, started off in fine style in the initial inning. The righthander breezed called third strikes past leadoff hitter B. K. Miller and Jim Orton. Outfielder Clyde Thompson, who had a perfect day at the plate with three hits, touched him for a double but was left stranded when Wade Scott fouled out to first.

With one out in the second, Tech's big bats began to boom. Glenn Schuler tapped a single and then Garris blasted his first round-tripper, a 340-foot drive over the left centerfield fence. That gave Mercer a two-run cushion and it was all he needed. In the Northeast half of the second, Gary Huckabay, George Bryan and O'Conner went down swinging in order to retire the side.

The Bulldogs picked up two more tallies in the third on two hits and an error. Thompson led off with a single, stole second and romped home when shortstop Phil Petras missed Jim Orton's ground ball. Scott dropped a base-hit down the left field line to bring in Orton with the fourth Tech run. A neat doubleplay by sure-fingered first sacker George Bryan and Petras got Rouse out of the inning without any furthur damage.

Northeast moved two runners into scoring position in the bottom half but couldn't score. Petras walked, Fred Peters struck out and Rouse worked his hill opponent for another free pass. Harry Rushing sent a high fly to left. Thompson misjudged the ball in the tricky wind and it fell at his feet. But he recovered in time to force Petras at third on a fine throw. James Mock skied to center to pull Mercer out of serious trouble.

The bottom fell out in the fourth for Rouse and the hosts. When the smoke had cleared, Tech had pushed across eight runs on a five hit spree which included a couple of mighty home runs.

A single by Garris and walks to Mercer and Thompson loaded the bases with one out. Orton slapped a clean hit to left to score Garris and two more runners trotted home when Rushing missed a throw. Scott cleaned the bags with his circuit clout but the Bulldogs weren't through.

Following a walk to Jack Moreland and a safety by Schuler, Garris came up for his second trip in the inning and unloaded another towering homer for three more runs. Louis Kincaid relieved Rouse and got Lonnie Carlisle on a fly to left to end the uprising.

In the first of the fifth, a light sprinkle began and the Northeast slowdown started. The Bulldogs put two runners on and they began their stroll toward home, seeking a quick end before the storm. The Indians, after some indecision, tagged Mercer out at the plate, but Miller and Thompson ambled across with the final two runs.

Mercer then wrapped up the game. He whiffed Peters, got Kincaid on a fly to center and set down Rushing on a ground out to complete the regulation five innings.

Tech had two out and two on in the sixth when the downpour began and umpire Ikie Dumas called the game to a halt.

Garris was the big gun for Tech with two home runs, five runs batted in and 3-3 at the plate.

The Bulldogs now set the pace in the GSC with five wins without a loss. Coach George Luffey's Indian nine has won one and lost three conference battles.

The two teams meet again at Ruston Monday in a makeup of Friday's cancelled game.

BUSBICE COACH OF YEAR

John Bailey Heads Jackson All-Stars

By BENNY CROW
JACKSON INDEPENDENT
(Written for the Louisiana Sports Writers Association)

Coach Billy Busbice of Weston High School, and three time all stater, John Bailey, of Jonesboro-Hodge were named to the top honors in the first annual All Star Jackson Parish cage five selected by coaches from the five schools in cooperation with the Louisiana Sports Writers Association this week.

Busbice who rebuilt a Weston cage squad this year into a rugged contender, was named by his fellow coaches as Coach of the Year. Bailey was selected as Outstanding Player.

Along with Bailey on the first team are two lads from Quitman, Stuart Toms and Malcolm George, Charles Baragona of Jonesboro, Curtiss Bunn of Eros, and Red Cooper of Chatham. The last two resulted in a deadlock for fifth place on the first team.

Missing first team births by small margins were Carey Staples of Weston and Jimmy Walker of Jonesboro-Hodge. Staples missed the margin by just two points. Others on the second team spotlight are, T. L. Brooks of Quitman, Harold Watkins of Weston, and another deadlock for fifth spot between Chuck McLean and George Abbott, both of Jonesboro-Hodge.

John Bailey scored 807 points this season to lead District 2-AA scoring though the Tigers fell to runnerup. The three time all stater was a rugged contender and a sparkling rebounder for a 6-2 boy. He sparked the drive for Jonesboro to the state playoffs this season, with a 20 point average.

Stuart Toms continued his recognition this year as he averaged more than 16 points per game and while doing so, was placed on many all tournament teams. The senior stands only 5-10 but proved that height is not everything with amazing defensive work against the states top teams this year.

Malcolm teamed up with cohort Toms to average better than 16 points per game also. This 6-3 lanky senior wheeled around cage circles with a tricky jumpshot and a fine art for defensive work.

Charles Baragona rimmed 482 points this year for Jonesboro and was named as unanimous choice for all district 2-AA this year. The swiftness of this lad made him a number one target for opposition all year, though he was seldom stopped.

Curtiss Bunn of Eros shares the deadlock for the first team fifth place slot with Chatham's Red Cooper.

Bunn averaged more than 20 points per game and was billed as one of the top ten players in district 6-C this season. He stood out top heavy as an alert defensive player during the season.

Red Cooper stands only 5-7 but illustrated that height isn't everything as he rimmed 16 points a game average this year. He was on the honor rolls of the 6-C all district and many all tournament teams during the year.

All boys on the first team are seniors while the second team is occupied by three seniors, two juniors and one sophomore.

The second team also tallied out like a girls sextet as two members deadlocked with the same number of votes for the fifth man.

Coaches voting were: Donald Wyatt, Quitman; Sam Ledbetter, Jonesboro; Billy Busbice, Weston; A. E. Hood, Chatham; and Crawford Vines, Eros.

Campanella Plans Move With Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Baseball is so much a part of Roy Campanell's life that he wants to move here from New York to be near the Dodgers.

"The weather's nice out here, my wife likes Los Angeles, and if the children like it when I bring them out next month, I think we'll move west," said Campy, who arrived Saturday.

Campanella will be honored next Monday night at the Los Angeles Baseball Writers' annual dinner, along with the Cardinals' Stan Musial. In Tuesday night's game with St. Louis, Campy will hand the ball to Dodger starting pitcher Johnny Podres.

Although he is still paralyzed from the auto accident in 1958, the former Dodger catcher says he is getting in a little exercise at his home. He says that once he is strapped across his chest and legs he can stand, and he plays catch with his children.

"I have to throw the ball underhand," Campy said. "But I'm doing pretty well, everything considered."

Campanella said he is looking forward to seeing the Dodger opener against St. Louis.

"We're going to be stronger this year," he said, "and I'm sure we'll finish in the first division. We could go all the way, but to do that several of the fellows would have to have good years. Milwaukee, San Francisco and Cincinnati are going to be tough, but the Dodgers can handle the rest of them."

Campy said he thought Milwaukee would repeat as National League champion until San Francisco made the deal for Sam (Toothpick) Jones.

"He tough to beat," said Campy

Delta League With Opening For New Club

The Delta League, an amateur baseball circuit that plays Sunday afternoons only during the summer , has an opening for one more club.

Don Zeigler, West Monroe, president of the loop, last night said an additional team is needed to give his league an eight - team membership for the season opener.

Chatham, Swartz, West Monroe, Calhoun, Farmerville, Drew, and Eureka are all reported ready for action. Missing from last year is Claiborne, small community just west of West Monroe.

Interested teams are invited to contact Zeigler by phoning FA 3-6704 or FA 2-8980.

Satchel Paige Claims Back Salary Owed

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ageless Satchel Paige claimed Saturday night the Miami Marlins of the International League owe him $1,300 in back salary and have refused to give him an unconditional release.

"They owe me the money and I got it in black and white to prove it," the veteran pitcher told the Kansas City Star from his home here.

Paige indicated, but did not say so flatly, that he had hopes of joining an American League club.

Paige said he left the Marlins last year because the club refused "to pay what they owe," that he asked for his release then and had asked for it a second time Friday night in a telegram to Miami General Manager Joe Ryan.

Ryan said in Miami that Paige is still on the Marlins' roster and that he knew nothing of his asking for a release.

"They just won't answer me," Paige said. "They are keeping me so they can get some players from that major league club that might take me.

NEED 11-HIT ATTACK

Brodowski Saves Indians In Relief; A's Drop, 3-2

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Cleveland squeezed out a 3-2 victory over luckless Kansas City Saturday on the strength of an 11-hit attack and the second straight rescue effort by reliever Dick Brodowski.

The victory went to southpaw Don Ferrarese who pitched brilliantly, allowing only four hits. He was jerked in the eighth after giving up his second home run of the game and walking the next batter.

Brodowski walked one man, hit another to load the bases but kept the A's from scoring. He came back in the ninth to set Kansas City down in order and clinch the decision.

The Athletics only scores were home runs by Hector Lopez, his second of the season, and Bill Tuttle.

The loss was pinned on Ned Garver who gave up 10 of the 11 hits and was replaced in the eighth by Tom Gorman. Dick Tomanek pitched the ninth inning.

George Strickland, veteran shortstop who returned to baseball Friday after a year's retirement, continued to swing a big bat getting two doubles in four trips and raising his batting average to .625.

The game was a scoreless battle for five innings. The Indians picked up an unearned run in the sixth. They scored again in the seventh on a double by Strickland and a single by Ferrarese and added their final run in the eighth on singles by Rocky Colavito, Russ Nixon and Vic Power.

Brodowski took over and walked Lopez. Bob Cerv popped out but the bases filled up when Hal Smith was hit by a pitch. The count went to 3-and-2 on Harry Chiti who fouled out.

The game was played in cold weather under cloudy skies. It attracted a crowd of 8,181.

Menuet Spoils Harper Defense

Defending champion Ed Harper fell by the wayside in the first round of play in the annual Cramer Haas Memorial Handicap Golf Tournament, a club event at Bayou DeSiard Country Club, this week when H. C. Menuet put him out of action 1 up.

Few other matches were played because of cold and rainy weather with the result that an extension of play in the first round was made. Contenders will have through Wednesday to work in their delayed matches. The first round originally was slated to be completed yesterday.

In addition to the Menuet-Harper match, other first round results were:

TRADE PAYS OFF

Jones Tops Old Card Mates, 5-2

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The San Francisco Giants Saturday night collected their first dividend from the Sam Jones-for-Bill White trade as Sam the toothpick man stopped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 with a solid eighthitter.

The 34-year-old right - hander was in trouble against his former teammates only when his defense failed him. Sam struck out seven with his dazzling curves and quick fast ball. The Giants made three errors.

Big Orlando Cepeda belted in four runs with a pair of two-run doubles off two Cardinal rookie right-handers—starter Ernie Broglio and Howard Nunn.

Six of the Cardinal hits were infield scratches and one run off Jones was unearned. One of the two Red Bird hits to the outfield was Stan Musial's two-run eighth inning single after a pair of errors, and an infield single by Gino Cimoli.

A sparse crowd of 8,518, shivering from 40-degree weather and a chilling wind, saw Broglio make a shaky start, then settle down to pitch good ball. He walked four men in the first and two scored on Cepeda's double.

Broglio was forced to quit after six innings trailing 3-0 because of a leg bruise he suffered in tagging Bob Schmidt for the last out of the sixth. A walk and Schmidt's single set the stage for Jones squeeze bunt scoring the third Giant run.

Nunn walked Jarkie Brandt and Willie Mays belted his second single before Cepeda lined a two-run double off the left field wall in the seventh.

Bernice Makes Plans For Boys Baseball Play

BERNICE, La. (Special) —A meeting of parents interested in Little League baseball activities for their sons was held at the Bernice High School auditorium Friday.

The organizational meeting was held under the direction of Coach Simon Pearson. Plans were made for the participation of Bernice teams in the parish-wide league play.

Schedules have not been completed yet, but they are being worked out, according to Pearson, and will probably be set up on a two-league basis.

Bernice plans two teams in competition, and there is the possibility that a third will be added.

Weather Idles Pels, Lookouts

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The New Orleans Pelicans and the Chattanooga Lookouts can't seem to get started here. Rain postponed Saturday night's action, which was supposed to include the completion of Friday night's game, suspended after seven innings because of the Southern Association 12:30 a.m. curfew.

The Pels and Lookouts will try again Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. with Chuck Garmon starting on the mound for New Orleans and Jim Katt for Chattanooga in the regular game.

EX-ATHLETE

Dyer Managing Bowling Lanes

Bill Dyer, a familiar figure in the Monroe sports scenery for 20 years, now figures in a new role as manager of Bowlere Bowling Lanes which were opened here the first of the year.

Dyer has been with the national bowling chain since last September when he attended an instruction school at Dallas, Tex., and has since helped open three new bowling establishments. For the past two months he operated Shreveport's new bowling establishment which had its formal opening several days ago.

A native of Crossett, Ark., Dyer's family came to Monroe in time to enroll him in the first grade at Ouachita Grammar School, but, after four years, moved to Monticello, Ark. The Dyers came back to Monroe in time for Bill to attend Neville High from which he graduated.

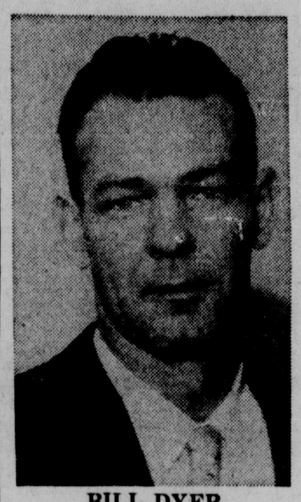

High school football and boxing were his chief sports 20 years ago. He fought for Neville's 1938-39-40 boxing teams and was favored to win the state welterweight championship until upset by "Sonny" Ferguson of Clarks in the district tournament. He was right end on Neville football teams of '38-39-40-41, and with his brother, Jack, left end, formed a rare brother's end combination for the Tigers.

For many years Dyer performed in Monroe recreation softball programs as a player and manager with such old City League clubs as Spatafora's Grocers, Hunt and Whitaker's Sports, and Longview Equipment.

As a member of the Optimist Club here, Dyer, with Ivy McDonald, was instrumental in organizing the Little Bigger Baseball League with Monroe forming Louisiana's first team in this circuit that two years later changed its name to Babe Ruth League which had Walter Reed of Monroe as its first Louisiana comissioner. Babe Ruth League departed from the Monroe scene a couple of years ago, and its talent has since been absorbed by Dixie League and VFW Teener League.

Dyer also is a former city bowling champion, has operated a laundry business here for nearly ten years, and was an infantry combat squad leader in the European theater during World War II, earning five battle decorations and the bronze star for heroic action. As athletic officer of his regiment, he organized regimental boxing for his outfit in France during the occupation following Germany's surrender. He also was an assistant to Jack Hesketh, Monroe recreation director, during the 1940s.

In taking over the bowling position here, Dyer said: " We will concentrate strictly on a program for youth of the city this summer. This will be my main object. Bowling is part of the high school athletic program in Texas where schools award athletic letters for the sport. We hope to stimulate more interest among students in our summer activity."

Dyer is married to the former Miss Mary Lin O'Kelly of Monroe. They have two daughters—Gail, 15, and Diane, 13.

Wynn Credits Harder With 250th Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Early Wynn needed light-hitting Luis Aparicio's homer for his 250th major league pitching victory. But the Chicago White Sox right-hander gives most of the credit to Mel Harder, pitching coach of the Cleveland Indians.

"Getting with Cleveland was the turning point of my career," said Wynn Saturday after he posted No. 250, a 5-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers. Aparicio's clout broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh inning.

"This was a big goal but I never thought I'd make it until I went to Cleveland and joined up with Harder on a first division team.

"Harder taught me the fundamentals of the curve and slider. He prolonged my career maybe eight years by teaching me a real good curve."

The 39-year-old veteran won his first game in 1941 for the Washington Senators. He pitched for them until 1949 when he was traded to Cleveland.

Wynn posted 163 victories in nine seasons with the Indians. Four times he was a 20-game winner, helping them to a pennant in 1954. He was traded to the White Sox before the 1958 season.

"I really wanted this one," said Wynn. "But 300 victories are a little too much to hope for. I think I can go two or three more years. The only thing that would change my mind would be the hitters.

"I'd love to get 275 and end up somewhere among the top few big winners in history. If I can get in the category of guys like Carl Hubbell or Bob Feller I'd be real happy."

Wynn, 22nd among the all-time winners, needs only three more victories to catch Hubbell. Feller ended his career with 266 triumphs.

FIVE-MAN MATCH

Wrestling Royal Slated For B&B

The ever - popular five - man wrestling royal returns to the local scene at the B&B Arena Monday night with five familiar faces slated to do battle in the rough and tumble affair.

Good guys George Curtis and Jerry Miller will be on hand along with the cream of the badman crop — Jack Snow, Phil Brummett and Charley Laye. The five will open the night's festivities in the ring at the same time.

The object of the royal is to battle until only two men are left standing in the ring. The usual manner to eliminate an opponent is to toss him over the top rope.

The first man out of the ring will be through for the night. The next two out will be paired in a 40 - minute two - falls-to - win semifinal. The last pair of grapplers will square off in the main event, slated over a one hour time limit with the usual two-fall-to win.

There will be no time limit on the opening wrestling royal bout.

Snow, who has been clamoring for a championship match with state titleholder Bill Barney, will have to wait for Bill to make up his mind. Barney is reported to be worried over the possible match with the rugged Snow, who has been disqualified twice in the last two weeks.

South Africa Bars Negroes From Game

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP) —The South African government's refusal to permit four Negro members of Brazil's soccer team to play in an exhibition game here mushroomed into a major political issue Saturday.

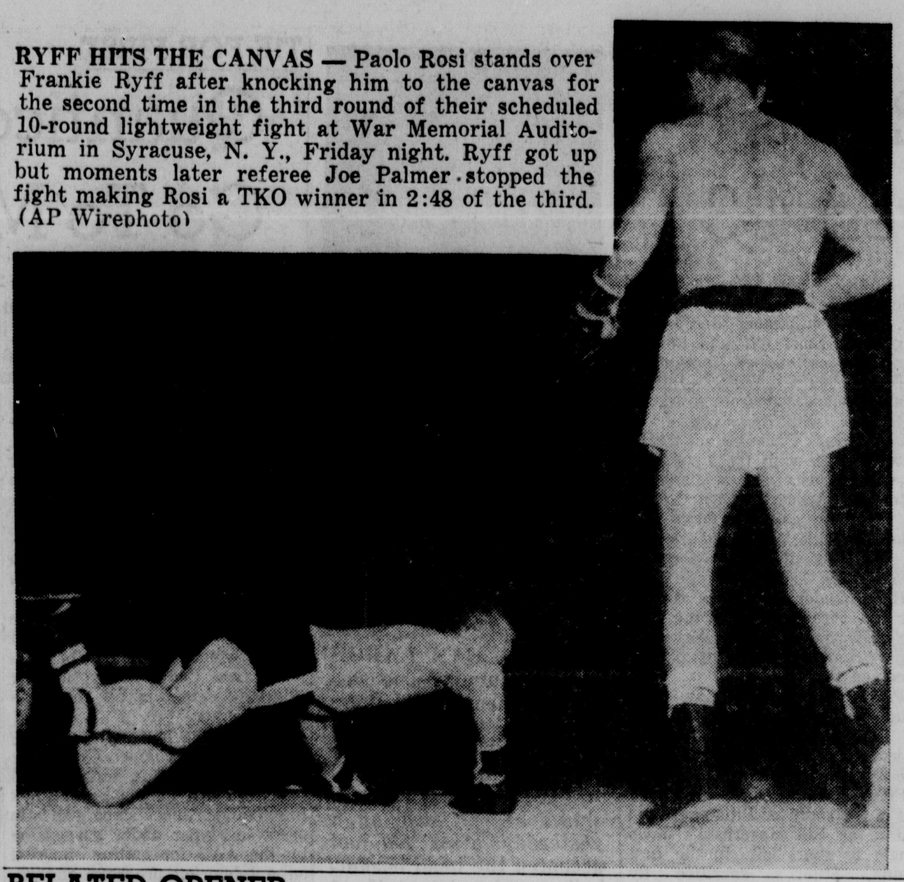

President Fred Fell of the South African Soccer Assn. termed the matter "most regrettable" and Brazilian newspapers demanded that the Brazilian government make a formal protest to the United Nations.

The Brazilian team, meantime, prepared to move to Portuguese territories in South Africa where no segregation bar operates. Soccer officials here started refunding money to the thousands who had bought tickets for Saturday's scheduled game.

The Brazilian team, offered the opportunity to play the match without the four Negro players, was ordered not to play by Brazilian President Kubitschek.

The players were refused entry into Capetown Thursday when the team arrived by ship. Officials here say the Brazilians were told before they left their homeland that non-white players would be barred from competition.

BELATED OPENER

Cubs Clout Dodgers, 6-1, With Taylor On Bat Spree

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Catcher Sammy Taylor slammed across four runs, three on a bases-loaded double, to wheel the Chicago Cubs to a 6-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in a tardy National League opener before 12,288 Saturday.

Chicago's 23-year-old Bobby Anderson hurled impressively to capture the Wrigley Field inaugural, delayed one day by blizzard and cold weather. He was backed by four double plays.

Besides Taylor, two rookies played an important role in the Cub triumph. Third baseman Earl Averill and center fielder George Altman collaborated, on the second hit for each, to launch Chicago's decisive four-run fifth inning.

After Altman opened the fifth by beating out a hit to third, Averill, son of a former Cleveland Indian star, spanked a two-bagger. Subsequently, the Cubs filled the bases against Dodger starter Don Drysdale and Sammy Taylor came through with his sack clearing double.

Drysdale, who quit for a pinch-hitter after yielding six runs and eight hits in five innings, hit a homer into the left center stands in the third for a brief 1-0 Dodger lead.

Cub shortstop Ernie Banks, the National League's most Valuable player last year, contributed nine assists and participated in three double plays to back the steady pitching of Anderson, who walked only one.

Drysdale, a 12-13 performer last season, started to falter in the fourth when the Cubs scored twice on singles by Walt Moryn and Averill, a wild pitch and a throw to the plate dropped by catcher John Roseboro.

GREENSBORO OPEN

Finsterwald Nabs Four-Stroke Lead

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Dapper Dow Finsterwald, who has won only one tournament since becoming National PGA champion last summer, shook up the Greensboro Open Golf field Saturday with a 65 good for a 54-hole total of 201 and a four-stroke lead.

The 29-year-old Athens, Ohio, native who plays out of Tequesta, Fla., was six under par with a 33-32 performance. It carried him from a three-way second place tie, three strokes off the pace, into a commanding lead going into Sunday's final round of the $15,000 tournament.

Mike Fetchick of Yonkers, N.Y., the leader through the first two rounds, slid a stroke over par with a 72 to drop into second place with 205.

Tied for fourth place, six shots behind Finsterwald at 207, were Tony Lema, San Leandro, Calif., and Canadian Stan Leonard. Lema shot a 69 and Leonard matched par 71.

Fetchick, never one to hustle around a golf course, played in the last threesome of the day with Wall and Lema. They finished 45 minutes behind the group ahead of them, requiring four hours and 10 minutes for the round.

Their tardiness drew an 18th gree reprimand from Harvey Raynor, PGA tournament supervisor, who told them the delay was embarrassing to him and to very golfer in the tournament.

Finsterwald won the Utah Open Last September and finished the year the fourth money winner on the tour with $42,000 in winnings.

But this year he has won only $15,000, finishing out of the money twice in eight majors events. He set a record last year of 72 tournaments without missing the money.

He was off and running in a hurry with birdies on the first two holes, both difficult par fours. He clipped in from the fringe, 30 feet from the hole on No. 1 and sent his 5 iron second shot eight feet from the pin on No. 2. He parred the next seven holes to turn two under.

The first of his four back nine birdies came on an eight-foot putt on the 10th. A five-footer on 11, a 15-footer on 16 and a seven-footer on 18 followed.

Fetchick was even par for the front nine of the 6,600-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course playing longer on a day dotted with numerous light spring showers.

But coming back he ruined his chances to withstand the Finsterwald challenge by taking sixes on the par four 12th and 15th holes.

3 HOMERS HELP

Burdette Allows 12 Hits But Wins For Braves, 4-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Veteran right-hander Lew Burdette's effective pitching, backed up by three home runs, Saturday propelled the Milwaukee Braves to a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Burdette, a 20-game winner last season, started his quest for another big year. He gave up 12 hits but only one walk.

Catcher Del Crandall, third baseman Eddie Mathews and right-fielder Hank Aaron cracked solo homers for the Braves. It was the second for Mathews in two days.

Milwaukee boasts two straight triumphs over the Pirates in its pursuit of another National League pennant. The Pirates, ranked high in pre-season pennant predictions, have yet to win in three starts.

Pittsburgh rallied in the ninth as pinch hitter Smoky Burgess got a single, Virdon sacrificed and Clemente hit a broken-bat safety. Then Bob Skinner flied to Covington in short left and Covington's fine peg nipped Roman Mejias, running for Burgess, at the plate after a dash from third.

Earlier, with the score 4 - 2, catcher Hank Foiles led off the Pirate seventh with his first homer. Ted Kluszewski singled and after Bill Virdon flied out, Roberto Clemente came through with another single. But Burdette ended the rally by getting the last two batters to ground out.

First baseman Dick Stuart tripled in the sixth for Pittsburgh and scored on Bill Mazeroski's bloop single to short left. In the first inning, Stuart's sacrifice fly brought home Virdon for the Pirates' initial tally after Virdon and Skinner had singled.

Milwaukee scored in the fifth on walks by Burdette and Mathews, and Aaron's single.

Seaneen In Easy Victory At Tanforan

Thyawk was second in the field of nine, a neck in front of the longshot Ying and Yang.

Irish-bred Seaneen ran slightly off the pace and wore down Thyawk in the final eighth of the 6-furlong sprint. His time was 1:10 1-5.

Llangollen Farm's Social Climber was fourth. The top-weighted How Now was never in contention and ran seventh. How Now packed 126 pounds, Seaneen, 121.

It was Seaneen's second straight victory and his first stakes triumph since he humbled Round Table in the $100,000-added Californian at Hollywood Park last summer.

Seaneen, the favorite, paid $5.60 $3.90 and $3.30; Thyawk $6 and $4.30 and Ying and Yang, $7.60.

KUNDLA CAN LAUGH —John Kundla, who saw his Minneapolis Lakers lose four straight games to the Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Association final playoff, shows he can still laugh yesterday after he had accepted the head basketball coaching job at U. of Minnesota. Talent Show Takes Laurel Race In Mud

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Talent Show found a mudpack to his liking Saturday and pushed his splattered face to the fore in the last eighth of a mile for his first victory of the year in the inaugural $68,920 Laurel Maturity.

The 4-year-old gelding, competing against six others of the same age, had to wait nine minutes before his victory was confirmed while stewards decided he hadn't fouled the runner - up in the stretch.

Jockey Robert Ussery on Piano Jim claimed Talent Show got in his way in the last sixteenth of a mile and caused him to lose by a length and a quarter.

Jockey Jack Leonard on Talent Show reported it was only tit for tat since "ussery shut me off" in the backstretch.

Mrs. S. Helene Sadacca's A Dragon Killer scored a photo finish neck triumph over Crabgrass Stable's Noureddin for third place.

Talent Show's first victory in eight races this season rewarded Mrs. Rice to the tune of $42,238 and his bettors $12.60, $6.20 and $4.20. Walter M. Jeffords' Piano Jim returned $4.40, $3.60 and A Dragon Killer $3.20.

A rain-drenched crowd of 18,445 bet the bulk of its money on Boncrist Farm's Backbone and he finished last after leading for the first half-mile.

It took Talent Show 1:50 3-5 to travel over the water-logged mile and an eighth for which the Laurel track record is one second faster.

Talent Show ran behind Backbone for the first quarter of a mile then relinquished the challenge to Piano Jim. At the three-quarter mark, Piano Jim passed the tiring Backbone and still was ahead at the end of one mile.

But Talent Show still had his big run left and slogged by Piano Jim to steal the main prize.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Cedar Brook a son of the 1952 Belmont winner one count, showed promise among a crop of 3-year-olds in the race preceding the Maturity.

Cedar Brook won his second straight race in five this year by a handy 4½ lengths over nine other 3 - year - olds in the $5,000 Azaleas. Cedar Brook is not eligible for the Kentucky Derby, but is for the Pimlico Preakness and can be for the Belmont.

Two Derby eligibles, Murcain-Byars Stable's Kountal and Mrs. Anna Cannuli's Austerlitz, were out of the money.

They may still earn a trip to the bluegrass classic if they perform creditably in Laurel's $25,000 added Chesapeake Stakes next Saturday at a mile and sixteenth.

The Azaleas was only three quarters of a mile and Cedar Brook covered it in the fine time of 1:11 2-5. He paid $7.00, $3.60 and $2.40.

Sullivan Added To Boston List Of Ailing Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—Right-hander Frank Sullivan was bedded with a virus Saturday, bringing to 11 the number of Boston Red Sox players ailing to a degree since they broke camp in Arizona.

Still ailing, although expected to be in uniform for Sunday's twice-postponed opener at Yankee Stadium, are other front-liner pitchers Ike Delock and Ted Bowsfield.

"It's the worst epidemic on the ball club I can remember," said Jack Fadden, the club trainer.

TIE FOR FIRST

Quantico Races Go To Mudders

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Winston-Salem, N.C. Teachers, a good crowd of mudders, slopped through the murk to win three events in the Quantico Relays Saturday and finished in a dead heat with Penn State for team honors in the 2-day carnival-opener of the Eastern outdoor season.

The weather was at its traditional worst, rainy and wretched, and the track was hidden under a couple of inches of water in spots. Where there wasn't water there was mud.

Winston-Salem won the quarter-mile relay in :42.7, the half-mile relay in 1:28.1, and the shuttle hurdles relay in 1:01.4.

Calhoun, the 1956 Olympic hurdles champion, whipped Gilbert by a couple of feet in the 120-yard highs in :14.1. This was Calhoun's first outdoor meet since 1957. He spent last year under suspension by the AAU for getting married on a television program and receiving a flock of gifts.

Penn State finished with three relay triumphs—one today to add to a pair Friday. The Nittany Lions captured the 2-mile in 7:38 and did it easily with anchor man Dick Engelbrink pulling away for a 12-yard triumph over Michigan.

Ed Moran, Penn State's captain and ace-of-all races, anchored the team to its first two triumphs. But Saturday, he confined his efforts to the mile and he won it by a couple of yards over Peter Close of St. John's of New York in 4:21.2.

It was strictly a race between Moran and Close but Moran had the kick at the end to open up daylight and hit the tape about two yards to the good.

Winston - Salem also produced an individual winner in Joe Middleton, who captured the hop, step and jump with 45 feet, 11 inches.

Morgan State won the mile relay—in which neither Winston - Salem nor Penn State was entered — in 3:17.6. Nick Ellis fought off closing bids by Ed Collymore of Villanova and Tony Seth of Michigan to win by inches.

Villanova was second in 3:17.8 and Michigan third in 3:18.1. Ellis was caught in 47.9 for his anchor quarter, coming from far off the pace.

Little Ira Murchison of the Chicago Track and Field Club zipped to a 9.8 triumph in the 100-yard dash. Paul Winder of Morgan State, who had been coming along fast in the indoor season, was fifth.

Other individual winners included Lew Stieglitz of the U.S. Navy in the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 9::30; Al Cantello of Quantico in the javelin with 227 6½; and Ed McComas of the Baltimore Olympic Club in the shot put with 56 6½.

Neville Cops Golf Tourney At Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La. (Special)—Neville High School of Monroe edged out El Dorado with a low score of 308 to take first place in the Tri - State Golf Tournament here Friday.

Composing the winning team were Steve Henry, howard Johns, Jim Harper and Clayton Cole.

El Dorado's total of 311 took second place and its second team placed third with 325.

Jim Miller of El Dorado and Tom Fuqua of Texarkana tied for medalist honors after 18 holes with 74s, and Fuqua triumphed on the second extra hole of the playoff.

Texarkana copped fourth with 329, Byrd fifth with 339, Bolton of Alexandria sixth with 344 and Byrd's second squad seventy with 370. Other individual trophies went to Tommy Smith of Byrd. Smith was first in driving with a 240-yarder and registered the low mark in putts with 26.

'No Comment' From London Upon Arrival

NEW YORK (AP)—Brian London, the Briton who will try to take Floyd Patterson's heavyweight boxing title from him in Indianapolis on May 1, arrived from England by plane Saturday.

He was met at the airport by Cecil Rhodes, Cranford, N.J., businessman and promoter of the bout, and an attorney.

To all questions by reporters, London answered: "No comment."

Rhodes said London would answer questions only through the attorney.

London, a 10-1 underdog, defied a ban of the British Boxing Board of Control in coming to the United States to meet Patterson, who also has signed to meet Ingemar Johansson of Sweden in New York on June 25. The British Board ruled that London was not a fit opponent for the world champion.

Rhodes said he did not know yet where London's training headquarters would be set up.

Mulloy, Brichant Gain Net Finals

AIX-EN-Provence, France (AP)—Gardnar Mulloy of Miami and Jackie Brichant of Belgium, advanced to the men's singles final in an international tennis tournament Saturday.

Mulloy defeated Ulf Schmidt of Sweden, 6-2, 7-5, while Brichant Mastered Budge Patty of Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Karol Fageros of Miami and Yola Ramirez of Mexico lost to Marie-Odile Bouchet and Florence de la Courtie of France in the final round of women's doubles, 7-5, 6-5.

Llamas, Frost Gain Neighbor Tennis Finals

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mario Llamas of Mexico City and Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., reached the Good Neighbor Tennis finals with hard-won singles victories Saturday.

Llamas, third-seeded, put away second-seeded Jack Douglas of Los Angeles, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2 with fine sharpshooting and a superior net game.

Frost eliminated Warren Woodcock, Australia, 6-2, 6-4 when his stronger service overcame Woodcock's speedy coverage of the court. Llamas and Frost meet Sunday.

Janet Hopps of Seattle went into the women's finals with 6-4, 6-2 victory over Gwyneth Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio. Cristiane Mercelis of Belgium won the other finalist berth on a 6-3, 6-0 rout of Mrs. Barbara Davidson, Milwaukee, Wis.

Marta Hernandez, Mexico City, and Miss Hopps won the women's doubles title 6-3, 6-0 over Marie Martin of Australia, and Miss Thomas.

Don Kierbow of Los Angeles and Douglas won a doubles semifinal, 6-3, 6-4 over Renaldo Garrido, Havana, and Antonio Palafox, Mexico City. They will oppose Llamas and Francisco Contreras of Mexico City in the doubles title match Sunday.

Rain Dampens Women's Babe Zaharias Golf

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Rain Saturday washed out the second round of the $6,000 Babe Zaharias Open and the field of 26 women and the field of 26 women professional golfers scheduled 36 holes Sunday.

The Zaharias is the first tournament of the summer tour of the Ladies PGA.

Louise Suggs, the veteran from Sea Island, Ga., defied soggy greens to post a 4-under-par 69 Friday to take a 2-stroke lead. Miss Suggs, winner of two tourneys on the winter circuit and seeking her third Zaharias title, carded six birdies.

Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S.C., and Wanda Sanches, Baton Rouge La., deadlocked in second place with 71s. Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., and Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee, Wis., were tied for fourth with 72s.

John Thomas Ordered Back To Hospital

Thomas, whose foot became caught in an elevator door March 24, had been transferred from the hospital to the BU Infirmary last Monday.

Dr. Howe said Thomas would be in the hospital 4 to 5 days before the graft will be performed and then will remain there another week to 10 days "to permit complete healing."

He continued: "The wound is completely healed on the inside of the foot and the outer healing is proceeding normally. But the wound on the surface is not closing."

The latest development may keep Thomas from competing in the National AAU outdoor meet at Boulder, Colo., in June.

In February, he set a world high jump record with leap of 7 feet 1¼ inches.

Get the MONEY YOU NEED

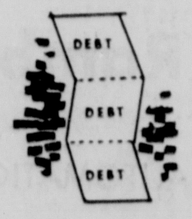

To Buy a New Car

To Consolidate Debts

and take up to 5 YEARS TO PAY

An Equity Home Loan from United Credit is a long-term mortgage loan that gives you cash now, to use as you please. The low, low closing cost can be covered by the loan, so that you pay no out-of-pocket cash at all. You repay at a low rate of interest.

Why the term "equity home loan"?

Because it is your equity in your home that you borrow on. This type of loan differs from a first mortgage on new construction — in which case you have no equity.

Suppose I need more than $5,000?

United Credit may be able to make you a larger loan. But the Equity Home Loans advertised here do have a $5,000 ceiling.

What about my credit rating?

Like any sound financial institution, we must check and approve your credit. Since we make loans only to reliable individuals, we can offer low interest rates. A credit check is routine . . . can be made very quickly.

What about closing cost?

One low, low closing cost is one of the most attractive features of United Credit's new Equity Home Loans. Instead of half a dozen extra charges, such as survey fee, act of mortgage, recording cost, and title examination . . . there's a single low closing charge—No hidden "extras." And your closing cost can be covered by your loan so that you don't need cash.

May I arrange a repayment period of less than five years?

Certainly, you may borrow for one year, two years, three—any period up to five years.

Suppose I arrange a fiveyear mortgage and find that I am able to pay back sooner. Can I save interest?

Yes, you can repay your Equity Home Loan as fast as you wish. Interest charges will be reduced if you pay back sooner.

LITTLE THEATRE

Isn't it depressing that we keep on telling you about the mishaps of our friends and members? There is just one good thing; by the time we hear the news, the patients are up and out again. Such is the case with Joe Dawkins —down with the flu for two weeks and we did not even know it until he had recovered. Mrs. A. B. Hopson, who attends every play, has had an operation and is still in the hospital. We do hope she will be ready to see Detective Story when it opens on April 24.

And to continue this account of bad news — Emily Wright, pruning a camellia, took a step backward, fell and broke her heel — a painful injury and completely exasperating because it means that her plans for a spring trip to Europe have to be canceled.

Then there's the story of Robert and Carol Layton. Driving to New York to visit their daughter, they got no farther than Knoxville, Tenn., where both of them became so ill they had to spend several days just getting well enough to drive home! They, too, are well now, we are happy to report; but the moral of all this seems to be: Don't plan to leave Monroe until the Little Theatre season ends. Still, Frances and Carl McHenry are in New York this week — Carl on business and Frances seeing plays. That's our idea of the very best kind of business.

Little Theatre member Dorothy Hornbeak is happy to have with her for a few days her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Dalton of Bentonia, Miss., and this afternoon the family party was increased and gladdened by the arrival of her brother F. L. Dalton and wife Katherine from Boulder, Colorado.

Seeing our dear friend Mrs. O. M. Grisham working among her yard flowers today made us rejoice. She has been a member of Little Theatre from its very beginning and only ill health in the last few years has prevented her from seeing every play. Even so, she keeps up with all that's going on in Little Theatre. We nominate her for our Mother-of-the-Year.

Lots of Little Theatre supporters are getting new homes. Sandra and Art Johnson have just moved into their house on Essex Street, and now Sandra (besides having a part in Detective Story) is helping her mother and father, the C. D. McAdamses pack up for their transfer to Memphis. Having them go is a blow to Little Theatre.

Harold Woods, Sr., has sold his home to Dr. Varino and will be building soon on Island Drive. We've been watching the large trees that were set out on his lot at least a year ago. They look as if they've grown right up from acorns in those very spots.

Every few days we drive by to see how the James A. Noe home is progressing. As unofficial sidewalk superintendent, we report that the place is swarming with movers, carpenters, concrete pourers, bricklayers, and (usually) Anna Gray, looking serene and prefectly groomed from hat to white gloves in the midst of the commotion.

It's less than two weeks before the opening of Detective Story. Almost time to think about making reservations. And then there's our wonderful secret. Have you heard?

Tito Seeks Bid To Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito has informed the Western Big Three and Russia that he wants to be represented at the May 11 Geneva foreign ministers meeting and a later summit conference if any other countries are invited.

This was disclosed Saturday by official sources who said Yugoslav diplomats, in oral representations in the four capitals, cited their country's World War II role as justifying a voice in settlement of German and European problems.

Officials said the United States, Britain and France have told Yugoslavia the question must be settled by the Big Four foreign ministers themselves at their Geneva meeting.

This is the same answer the Westen powers gave Russia late last month when the Kremlin insisted that Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia should participate in the foreign ministers and summit meetings because they were the "first victims of Hitlerite aggression."

American officials acknowledge, however, that this is not the final answer to the ticklish question of expanded participation. They also agree that the Yugoslav position raises interesting considerations.

Yugoslavia is understood to be concerned on the subject on two principal points:

1. Tito feels that his country, which pinned down up to 20 German divisions during the war, has as much or more right to participate in settling German and European problems as any other country on the continent.

2. He also is worried by reports that the United States and its allies, faced with the necessity to counter Russian demands Polish and Czech representation, eventually may suggest that Italy, The Netherlands and other NATO members be present in some capacity.

The Yugoslav government feels that, in such circumstances, it has much more right at the conference table than Italy, which was allied with Germany in the war.

Highway Deaths In Mississippi Drop Past Week

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Fewer persons died on Mississippi's highways during the first nine days of April this year than in the same period last year. The Highway Patrol gave the credit to an accelerated law enforcement program.

Commissioner of Public Safety Tom Scarbrough said Saturday four persons died April 1-9 this year compared with 15 for the same period last year.

So far this year, he added, 130 died on Mississippi highways, 20 more than during the same Jan. 1-April 9 period last year.

Union Officers Report Progress In Esso Dispute

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Independent Industrial Workers Assn officers Saturday reported progress in negotiations at Esso Standard Oil refinery, but gave no indications a settlement was near.

IIWA members have worked without a contract since last July.

Negotiations are scheduled to resume Monday.

Meanwhile, the Teamsters and Baton Rouge Metal Trades Council AFL-CIO are trying to sign up IIWA members.

Henry D. Nolan Of Farmerville Dies; Rites Set

YOUR CHILD?

If your youngsters are still not protected against polio, insist that they start and complete the full series of polio shots NOW.

Polio isn't licked! In fact, among children not yet vaccinated, paralytic polio cases actually increased in 1958 over 1957. More one-year-olds were stricken than any other age group.

The 1959 polio season is fast approaching. The sooner your children are polio-protected, the safer their futures will be. And since polio strikes all ages —be sure to get your shots too. See your doctor or health department NOW.

Four Seeking Mississippi Governorship

The gray - haired, 34-year-old Sullivan had been virtually unknown in statewide political circles until last Monday when he told a Jackson civic club he might decide to run.

Sullivan indicated his campaign would be based on the state's relationship with the Democratic Party and "right-to-work" laws.

He proposed sending delegates to the national Democratic convention "under instructions to refuse to participate in the nomination of a candidate or adoption of a platform inconsistent with the laws, principles and customs of our state."

He also vowed to "oppose vigorously and veto any attempt to weaken or repeal the "right-to-work" law, if he is elected.

Sullivan becomes the fourth candidate for the governorship in the Aug. 4 Democratic primary. He said he has found "no public enthusiasm" for the other candidates, Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin, Jackson attorney Ross Barnett, and Magee welder Robert Mason.

The new candidate is a native of Greene County, a graduate of Tulane University and the University of Mississippi law school and a veteran. He began law practice in Clarksdale in 1950, was appointed city judge in 1953 and was elected district attorney of the 11th district two years later.

Sullivan said he first began thinking about seeking the governorship two months ago. He finally reached a decision this week, he said, when it appeared to him that no other candidates would enter the race.

He said if he is elected he would take action to assure that Mississippi's delegates to the national Democratic convention "will not be forced to suffer the indignity and insult of sitting silently in the convention while our state and its people are ridiculed and degraded by a group of socialistic, political tyrants, bent upon destroying the last strong-

Road Bids Asked In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The Mississippi Highway Commission said Saturday bids would be opened April 28 for $1,200,000 worth of road and bridge projects in six counties.

Six of the projects, in Tunica, Carroll, Panola and Clarke counties, are on state highways.

The other two projects are in Yazoo County, on U.S. 49, and in Hinds County on U.S. Interstate 55.

Psychiatrists Seek Reason For Banditry

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Veterans Administration psychiatrists will take over former Air Force Maj. Claude Eatherly, 40, probably on Monday, and try to find out why leading the first atomic attack in history makes him want to be a bandit.

Eatherly flew a B-29 bomber that, before the first atomic bomb drop, flew across Japan looking for a target with clear weather over it. He found it was clear over Hiroshima.

So he flew back, joined the B-29 Enola Gay, which was carrying the bomb, and led it in over the target. He blames himself for the deaths of 100,000 Japanese the bomb killed.

The Air Force mustered Eatherly out in 1947 and he has been in one jail after another and one VA hospital after another since. The newest charge against him was robbing a drive-in grocery store in Dallas March 11.

District Atty. Henry Wade got County Judge Lew Sterrett Friday to dismiss a charge of robbery against Eatherly on condition that Eatherly submit to treatment at the VA hospital in Waco, Tex.

"He's got hallucinations that the Japanese are after him," Wade said. "He's anxious to get back to the hospital."

Eatherly, pale and drawn, said he wants treatment and Sterrett signed an order committing him. He will remain in Dallas County Jail until the VA sends for him.

"German Vs Jap Quality"

The world renowned German Camera Industry has always been known for quality rather than quantity. This I think is going to be true with the new Contarex, Built by Carl Zeiss. This is truly a dream camera. A single lens reflex 35mm camera. Coupled light meter, Shutter to F stops visible through the viewfinder or at waist level. Six lenses available, From 21mm to 250mm. This camera is expected to retail for $450.00. The Japanese have a new camera to offer the American public. Or rather a new copy of a camera most are already familiar with. The Hasselblad. To say this is an exact copy of the Hasselblad would be false. The Bronica by name is slightly larger and has a few additional features. At Philadelphia there were about 8 or 9 on display, of which they could produce only one that everything would work on. Now, I can't say The Japanese cameras are not as good as the German's. But I do think each camera must be compared individually. German cameras like the Rollieflex, Leica, Linhof and the Zeiss line are never even questioned. Regardless what kind of camera you plan to buy, Talk it over with your camera dealer. Cliff

'Library Week' Will Start Today

The people of Ouachita Parish will begin today observing "Library Week" which is a nationwide movement to induce more people in all categories of life to read more.

Cooperating in the campaign are the schools, churches, Parent-Teachers Associations, numerous civic clubs and other organizations as well as public - spirited individuals, headed by the National Library Committee composed of about 100 men and women who believe that, "In our society, every individual should read as much as possible about as many subjects as possible in order to enable themselves to better qualify as citizens of our civilization." They further feel that by wider reading, the individual not only helps better mankind's progress, but materially aids the individual in his pursuit of happiness and enlightenment."

This ties in with the national movement's slogans, "Wake Up and Read," and "Read For a Better read and Better Informed America."

Among the activities planned in observance of Library Week are special programs in the school classrooms such as plays, displays and posters, special attention by the churches through their bulletins and announcements from the pulpit on Sunday of next week, operation of special booths downtown by the Junior Chamber of Commerce from which library cards will be issued, and a book harvest in which the Jaycees will canvass the Twin Cities in search of more literature for the libraries.

Thirty merchants of Monroe and West Monroe have offered show window space for special Library Week displays, and the churches are emphasizing their drive to have members to more fully patronize the church libraries.

Northeast State College will stage a Library Career Day later in the month, and booksellers and P-T.A.'s are stressing the advantages of basic home libraries.

Both Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard of Monroe and Mayor J. Allan Norris of West Monroe and the Ouachita Parish Police Jury have issued formal proclamations setting aside the period of April 12-18 as Library Week.

Police Pobing Refusal To Give Up Party Phone

SAN CARLOS, Calif. (AP) — Police are investigating a woman's claim that she could not get a party line to call medical help for her dying husband.

Elma Dobert said she tried three or four times to get two women to get off the line so she could make an emergency call when her husband suffered a heart attack at 11 a.m.

She said she got her call through 17 minutes later, but by the time help came her husband was dead.

Policeman Edward Whitney said only one other phone is on the Dobert line. This is in the home of a man and wife who both were away at work at the time. Their house was locked and unoccupied, Whitney said.

He said the telephone company did not rule out the possibility that through some cross-up some other conversation may have got on Mrs. Dobert's line but its experts found no evidence of such.

Beauties Picked At Ruston Pageant

RUSTON, (Special)—In a twin-bill pageant that featured appearances in swim suits and evening gowns, talent performances and the ability to reply to impromptu questions, Anita Thomasson of Bossier City was selected as Miss Louisiana Tech and Antoinette Riser of Ruston was named Miss Lincoln Parish in Howard Auditorium at the College here Friday night.

Both beauty queens will enter the Miss Louisiana contest at Lake Providence in July.

The winning Techster was a late entry, having replaced Nancy Birdsong of Haynesville, who withdrew; Miss Thomasson, an education major, transferred to Tech from Centenary at the beginning of this spring semester. She is a freshman. Her talent offering in the show here was a skillful rendition of a classical concerto. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Thomasson of Bossier City.

The new Miss Lincoln Parish is the daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. Jesse Riser of Ruston and is a senior in the Ruston High School. She sang "Lay That Pistol Down" to cop the talent laurels.

Miss Thomasson was crowned by Lou Ann Locke of Shreveport, the retiring Miss Louisiana Tech, and was presented the trophy by President R. L. Ropp of Tech.

Gail Pearson was runner up in the Lincoln Parish race and Janell Mertens of Alexandria was second in the Miss Louisiana Tech contest.

In judging prior to the state program Martha Harper of West Monroe was chosen as Miss Congeniality.

Evening dresses worn by the contestants were mostly of the bouffant type. The swim suits were of a variety of colors.

The glamor program was emceed by Bob Evans of Helena, Ark. a veteran director of pageants. Judges included ten persons selected from outside Lincoln Parish.

STICK KILLS SEAL

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—Gilbert Fisher, director of the Edinburgh Zoo, said Friday that a stick thrown by an admiring visitor caused the death of spot, the elephant seal that was the zoo's most popular attraction. Spot was used to people throwing him good things to eat and apparently did not take heed of the sharp stick. He ate it and later died of a pierced blood vessel in the stomach.

Keep Wisteria Vines Pruned

By MILDRED SWIFT

There's one plant that can change an entire landscape picture. That's a wisteria in bloom. It lasts such a short time but gives so much pleasure while it's in bloom. You really have to keep this vine pruned. Its tendrils will grab on to the next shrub or tree and devour it. I've seen young trees completely choked to death by wisteria vines.

OUR TRIP

You must make the trip to Hodges Gardens, Many, La. No need to leave Louisiana to see a magnificent garden. The charm of this spot is order, yet it is natural. In the midst of a cut over pine forest, it is not only a garden but an experimental area, game and wildlife refuge. In one green house, one pine had twenty - five grafts.

The area comprises around 4,400 acres, but the garden itself is 20 acres. The native white dogwoods were in bloom as well as the pink wild azaleas. Either sight was worth the trip. Wild myrtle grew on the hills and slopes. The lakes cover 255 acres. The water falls were numerous and so natural. The native gray stone and petrified wood gave a feeling of ground weight and permanence.

The 3,000 roses were not in bloom, but we all discussed the healthiness and sturdiness of the plants. They were well pruned and the horticulturist said they had been sprayed twice for leaf spot and aphids.

Another rose garden is in the making. Old roses will be planted here and research work carried on. We're happy over that as most of these old roses are resistant to leaf spot.

Erosion was a problem and the old cherokee rose was planted on some of the steep slopes to contrast this. One entire slope was planted in azaleas (in bloom as were hundreds of others.)

POOR LAND

The soil in the garden is the poorest, according to the horticulturist. Every bed or planting hole has to have the soil taken out and fresh dirt brought in. Even the sub - soil is removed, so they are constantly bringing in good dirt.

We saw the Zoyzia Japonica Grass, great areas of it. We have the Matrella here, but not the Japonica. The blades are not as coarse as that in Florida. I'm sure it's the difference in soil and climate. In that state it is used extensively on golf courses.

The pansies were blooming in great sheets — every color planted together. No mixing. The seed were bought by the pound, grown in the hot house and plants transplanted.

White wisteria was pruned in tree form. Confederate jasmine was planted to climb the trees.

Many ground covers were used, grayish santalina, fig vine, many varieties of ivy, thrift, tulips. Sheets of bulbs were planted in nooks, here and there — each variety to itself. Only the gorgeous white were in bloom.

Nothing was prettier than our old fashioned, "droopy" bridal wreath. They were giving this plant plenty of room, which is what it needs if it is to attain its ultimate in loveliness.

The amaryllis work was just beginning. The blue lily of the Nile was not in bloom, of course. Easter lilies were planted by the thousands and budding. Anemones were in bloom as well as the white and purple stock.

ORCHIDS

In the greenhouse the orchids were so beautiful. There are no adjectives befitting their perfection. The passion vine and bougainvillea were in bloom. The crotons were of many and numerous colors. The silver leaf Rex Begonia was beautiful.

One greenhouse was filled with large leaf tropical plants just waiting to go in the garden when the weather is warmer. I could go on for days and not finish telling you of the beauty of this garden. Go see it for yourself.

Water Poses Grave Threat

One of the serious problems facing the United States is the growing shortage of water. Not only are more people using water each year, but more people are using more water.

While the picture is dark now in many areas, it can only get worse because of steadily increasing consumption.

Most authorities on water supply are agreed that, since new supplies of water are not created overnight, the one very important solution to short water supplies is the more careful and controlled use of water, says the Plumbing-Heating - Cooling Information Bureau.

Concerned with the growing shortage of water in many communities, the plumbing industry has taken action along two lines, the Bureau points out.

In the first place, fixtures and fittings have been re-designed to operate with less water. Shower heads are smaller and take less water and the trend in water closet design is toward water conservation.

In the second place, the plumbing industry has developed automatic flow control devices which fit into the water line right before the fixture. The effect is to control the volume of water to a flow rate commensurate with the needs of the fixture.

Not only is the controlled use of water an important conservation measure, but it is an economy. Excessive costs involved in the heating of water supplies are avoided. Furthermore, water pressure throughout a home or building is more easily maintained because of reduced loss through fixtures.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Wait Before Moving Bulbs

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

At this time of the year, gardeners often become a little annoyed at the still green foliage of red spider-lilies, yellow spider-lilies, sternbergias, miniature amaryllis, the pink Lycoris squamigera and other fall - blooming bulbs. Your columnst wishes to remind you, however, that the bulbs must mature their foliage before you take them up. Wait until the leaves have turned yellow. After that, you may move all these bulbs around where you please, separate them or store them till late summer and early fall.

MAKING BUDS

Apparently all the bulbs listed above are busy making flower buds now. If they are disturbed before the leaves die down, they will not mature enough to even make normal leaf growth when fall comes around again.

The only way one may possibly get by with moving fall bloomers now is to take them up with such a large clump of soil that they will not have any of the roots disturbed whatsoever. Such clumps can be set into the ground elsewhere and kept in good growing condition until they are properly matured. Then you can lift them and divide them. Red spider-lilies really should be re-planted at once or at least healed in like living plants. Their roots never die off completely unless they are dried for weeks and weeks, and this is not good for them. When planted right back into the soil after lifting, every bulb that is big enough to flower will bloom in September.

The catalogues of fall blooming bulbs will come to you from the nurseries that handle them in midsummer, usually, or in August at the latest. If you have been unable to grow the yellow spider-lily that succeeds so well in the Lower South, try the new variety of the same species that the catalogues are now offering. We do not know for sure, but it apparently will do better than the old variety in the cooler parts of the South like ours. The old Florida yellow spider - lily usually gets its leaves frozen in the hard frosts of the cooler sections.

HALL'S AMARYLLIS

Do not be at all afraid to dig the bulbs of the pink spider-lily, sometimes called "Hall's Amaryllis" because the first bulbs were sent to a Mr. Hall in Boston years ago. Gardeners are now getting so sophisticated that most of them now call this bulb by its proper Latin name, Lycoris squamigera.

Take up the bulbs just as soon as the foliage — so lush right now—has turned yellow. You can let them dry off in a cool place out of the sun. When they have dried for a week or two, they will divide more readily than when they are full of water. If you want them to bloom at the normal time in late July, plant them back in early July. You can hold a few out and plant them at weekly intervals to give you a continuous bloom if you like.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Spring Flowers Show Feature

By MARY JARDINE

Spring flowers were featured in the all blue ribbon flower show presented by members of the Dubach Club at the Center this week. In the horticulture section Mrs. M. F. Henry was awarded blue ribbons for three exhibits of narcissus: Golden Perfection, Yellow Cheerfulness and Mrs. R. O. Backhouse. The Yellow Cheerfulness is a remarkably fine yellow coloured sport from the well known Cheerfulness, which is a small double flower with a pleasing fragrance. The yellow is a most lovely flower of delicate color, fragrant also, extremely useful for decorative purposes and a vigorous garden plant.

Mrs. Charles B. Colvin was awarded top score in the arrangement section. A green pottery bowl shading into brown was selected by Mrs. Colvin for her line mass arrangement. The graceful triangular line pattern was formed with the new growth of pine, accented with pine flowers. Slender iris foliage strengthened the line and provided a change of texture. The linear pattern was enhanced with golden yellow daffodils. Golden Perfection at the top with Unsurpassable skillfully massed in the center. Small leaf green ivy was placed low in the design, adding depth to the design and spilling gracefully over the rim of the container. A beautiful arrangement well executed. Most excellent relation between container and plant material.

Mrs. C. S. Fuller's distinctive vertical arrangement was awarded second place. The container was an opalescent crystal bubble bowl. The vertical placements were tall spikes of variegated sansevieria. The line was enhanced with Golden Perfection daffodils followed by the large bold Unsurpassable daffodils. A nephthytis leaf was placed vertically at the rim of the bowl with other nephthytis foliage under the water completing the design. The design was reflected in the glass container. Very lovely for a living room table.

When designing arrangements in glass it is well to remember that the stems under water are part of the design. Also water for arrangements in glass should be at room temperature. Abrupt changes in temperature can sometimes crack fine glass and crystal containers.

Mrs. Burl Davis created a very smart and distinctive design using the new growth of pine. The container selected was a tall cylinder of brown pottery with a rough brown surface which resembled wood. The diagonal design was of new growth of pine with the needles clipped short. Pine flowers were placed in the center of the design. The interesting foliage of Mahonia (Oregon Holly Grape) was effectively used as a transition material. This arrangement would be delightful in a panelled room.

It's flower show time again and I am listing below the dates of some of the many shows I know you will want to attend:

April 23, East Carroll Garden Club Flower Show, Lake Providence.

April 24, Farmerville Garden Club Flower Show, Farmerville Bank 3 to 6 p.m.

April 28, Monroe Garden Club Flower Show, Bayou DeSiard Country Club 3 to 6 p.m.

April 17, Winnsboro Garden Club Flower Show, La. Power and Light Bldg. 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Theme "Things to Come."

May 6, Bastrop Garden Club Flower Show, Country Club. 2 to 6 p.m. Theme: Southern Melodies.

May 14, Garden Gate Garden Club Annual Flower Show—VFW Home 4:30 to 6 p.m. Theme: Around the World With Flowers.

Marigolds Are Among Highly Rated Flowers

It's not hard to figure out why marigolds are one of the three most popular kinds of flowers grown from seed. They are a cinch to grow and there isn't a spot in the country to which they aren't well adapted. They put on scads of flowers even when neglected. They come in different sizes both of plant and flower, so they can be used for various purposes.

For the biggest flowers of all the variety to plant used to be Sunset Giants, but the plants of this strain are quite tall and late in maturing, so the new variety Crackerjack, which has equally large flowers but more compact, 2 to 3 foot plants and weeks earlier maturity, is the one to grow. Blooms run up to 5 inches across, are nicely double, and come in light yellow, gold and orange in the mixture.

In the medium - sized flowers you have your choice between blooms that have the general appearance of carnations (Guinea Gold, Real Gold, Yellow Supreme) and those that look like tight - petaled chrysanthemums (Glitters, Mammoth Mum). The varieties named above all grow about 2 to 3 feet tall, and the flowers run 3 to 4 inches across. There's a dwarf type with 2½ to 3 inch flowers but with plants that grow only 8 inches tall. The blooms are very tightly crowded with petals in the manner of imbricated chrysanthemums, and they cover the little plants in late summer. These are the Cupid Marigolds, and while the one you are most likely to find is lemon-yellow in color there are also Cupid Golden and Cupid Orange varieties as well as a mixture of all three. The Cupids all have odorless foliage if you happen to be one of the people who object to the fresh pungence common to the foliage of many of the marigolds.

Now if you are fond of smaller blooms but more of them, you should look for your variety in the French group. Here you will find mahogany-reds as well as the customary yellow and orange flowers, with the best red of all one called Fandango or Rusty Red. This variety grows about 14 inches tall and has dark mahogany blooms edged with the finest imaginable line of gold around each petal. A companion variety which is pure orange is Tangerine.

Special Tool For Each Job Good System

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N.Y. — There was an elderly gentleman in these parts some years ago whose favorite game was golf, and his equipment consisted of one club, a No. 2 iron. He drove, approached, chipped and — to the discomfort of various greens committees — putted with it.

Similarly, there are gardeners who can get along with an absolute minimum of tools: wheelbarrow, a spade, an iron rake, a hoe, a hand cultivator, a sprayer, a hose, a watering can and some sort of string - and - sticks device to make straight rows. But most of us who garden for fun take pleasure in accumulating and using a wide variety of special tools and devices.

In fact, just as it is possible to tell the age of a tree by counting its rings, it is possible to estimate the number of years a home owner has been a hobby gardener just by the equipment he has accumulated in his garage.

My basic tools, of course, are most frequently in use. But I have found that big bamboo grass rake is a great aid in sweeping up light debris and heavy grass clippings on the lawn and that a child's bamboo rake is great for the delicate job of cleaning up the perennial garden. I have an assortment of hand cultivators with which to eliminate weeds close to desirable plants, as well as several types of hoes —scuffle and diamond point —for heavier anti - weed work. I find I use my canvas soaker to water the garden and lawn more often than the plastic soaker or sprinkler because the water dribbles out rather than squirts, but I have them all. And although I have both a garden cart and a wheel barrow, I use half - bushel baskets more often for gathering debris and weeds.

I buy paper - covered wire by the roll and cut it in desired lengths to hold weak plants on stakes. I have special long stakes, which I treated with creosote, which are used year after year for the tomato vines. I have a supply of shorter stakes in several sizes for other plants. In the small equipment department, there are balls of cord and string for special tying - up jobs, plant labels and grease pencil, tarpaper strips to provide protection against cutworms, and a pile of burlap. There is a power mower, a hand mower and an edging mower; hedge shears, pruning saws of various sizes and a number of pruning shears all of which are in frequent use, depending on the weight and size of the material to be cut. And a sharpening stone to maintain keen-edges.

There is always the problem of carrying around the small tools as one works from garden bed to flower border. This is easily solved by carrying them in a small basket, long narrow one such as fruit comes in, complete with handle.

The gardener's biggest problem is the equipment necessary to handle all the modern insecticides, herbicides, liquid fertilizers. This is such a knotty problem, it needs a whole column by itself. And will get it next week.

Annuals Hide Ugly Views

By AUDREY DAWSON

Do you have an ugly view in your garden — maybe a compost pile or perhaps your house needs a shield from the sun and you just can't wait for a tree to grow. If you're ir a big hurry for growth, choose an annual. The time to plant the seed is after you're sure that spring is here to stay, and then seed them where they are to grow. Here are some of the most popular — moonflower, morning glory, sweetpeas and balloonvine.

The perennials are fine if you don't need a rapid grower. The clematis group will cover rock piles, fences, posts and stumps turning such eyesores into spots of beauty. If you want a softening effect choose trumpet honeysuckle, trumpet creeper or wisteria. Many of our perennials will grow in part shade as bougainvillea blooms in the spring is very showy. English Ivy which is an excellent climber but also makes a good ground cover. Jasmines are another family, bush type and climbers. They are evergreen and some types are continuous bloomers.

Don't cut off the tops of such bulbs as narcissuses, tulips, hyacinths etc. as soon as blooming is completed. Wait until they die down. I know you are tempted because they do not look neat in your garden but if you want blooms next year, don't cut off the tops.

HINTS ON STORAGE

It's about time to start storing those winter garments and so here's a hint to remember - plastic clothes hangers often become soft and sticky when exposed to vapors from paradichlorobenzene (commonly called PDB) at high temperatures. The higher the temperature the greater is the chance of softening. At 130dF which is not uncommon in an attic during summer, plastic hangers become extremely soft and sometimes completely melt. Be sure to remove all plastic buttons before storing garments in a closet with paradichlorohenzene.

A REMINDER

APPLES FOR TEACHER

I read in a farm journal the other day that the child who carried the teacher an apple knew what he was doing. He was keeping her quieted down. Apples may be one of nature's best tranquilizers, scientist have discovered. In a test, students eating two apples a day had one-twelfth as many tensions, headaches and emotional upsets as children eating one. Apple eaters also had fewer skin diseases, less arthritis and upper respiratory complaints.

HANDICRAFT WORKSHOP

Come to the Agricultural Building in West Monroe Wednesday, April 15th at 9:30 a.m. and learn how to make a serving tray or cane the bottom of a chair. Mr. Robichaux, from our LSU Extension Service, and Mrs. Euna Spielman will be on hand to give you the instructions. You are invited to attend the workshop.

I had a wonderful week working with a group of ladies in the simple sewing workshop. The following made a casual dress during the 3 day clinic: Mrs. Percy Neely, Mrs. N. L. Huckabee, Mrs. R. W. Hegwood, Mrs. C. C. Bedenbough, Mrs. Charles Lawrence, Mrs. Jimmy Hegwood, Mrs. Juanita Jones, Mrs. J. R. Agin, Mrs. W. F. Bourland, Mrs. Audrey Holly, Mrs. Robert Draper.

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

Use scissors to cut celery, parsley, green pepper and the baby's meat. Wet scissors to cut dates. figs and marshmallows.

Use a damp newspaper on which to empty the bag of a vacuum cleaner or carpet sweeper.

To remove the discoloration in aluminum vessel — use 2 teaspoons of cream of tartar to each quart of water. Put into vessel and boil.

Use warm water for sprinkling clothes. It dampens more quickly and evenly than cold water.

Need to flour a lot of meat or chicken in a hurry? Put your seasoned flour in a paper sack, then put in several pieces of meat — shake freely.

A THOUGHT — When neighbors continue sincere, then neighbors have nothing to fear.

Year Will See Families Of Light Fixtures

Families of lighting fixtures in the widest variety ever are being introduced to the public this year.

Basically a "family" of fixtures is one in which a series of two or more models of the same general design and style, but different in size and application, are offered as a group — making it possible for homeowners to light their houses throughout harmoniously, without having to shop around for matching fixtures.

The lighting fixtures include both modern and traditional "family" groups. The groups range from the newest of modern, designed along the clean lines of Scandinavian and Danish furiture, to replicas of traditional American lanterns and oil lamps in antique copper and brass.

One of the most popular ensembles is the Pagoda series whose basic pattern employs natural woven wicker baskets imported from the Far East over satin white opal glass globes. The "father" of the Pagoda "family" is a handsome five - light pendant cluster, around a fascinating five-arm brass spreader. The units can be hung at varying levels as desired. Other members of the "family" include a large six-light chandelier, three and four light ceiling and pulley fixtures, and single - light units for lighting a hallway or alcove.

Decorators, homeowners, and contractors for the better homes are finding the various "families" a boon, not only in saving shopping time, but in making it possible to achieve a decorator or custom look in a home at a comparatively moderate cost.

Bigger Weevil Crop Seen For Coming Summer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The agriculture department said today cotton boll weevil populations in Louisiana, Mississippi, and parts of North Carolina and South Carolina were higher than those recorded last spring.

Two areas with unusually high populations showed up in a spring survey in northeastern Louisiana and the Carolina coastal plains.

If weather during the early growing season favors weevil development, surviving weevils may pose a serious threat to cotton production this year, the department said.

'THESE THOUSAND HILLS'

Authenic Western Now At Paramount

Pulitzer Prize winner A. B. Guthrie, Jr.'s, mighty saga of the far western frontier, "These Thousand Hills," will receive its local premiere ... at the ... Paramount Theatre. The Twentieth Century - Fox CinemaScope, De Luxe Color production is one of the most authentic Western stories ever filmed and stars Don Murray, Richard Egan, Lee Remick, Patricia Owens and Stuart Whitman.

One of a great Western trilogy by the author, "These Thousand Hills," written for the screen by Alfred Hayes, chronicles the adventures of a young cowboy who drifts into an Oregon town with a huge cattle herd. He stays on to become a respected citizen and finally gambles his position in the defense of a loose woman who befriended him in his early days.

Produced by David Weisbart and directed by Richard Fleischer, the picture casts Murray in the lead role as the young cowman. The part is marked change in pace for Murray from the accountant he played in "The Bachelor Party," or the dope addict of "A Hatful of Rain."

Punctuated with action and sudden violence, the drama features Egan as the dapper gambler - rancher who becomes Murray's chief enemy and with whom Murray fights a prolonged hand-to-hand battle which may well be remembered as a screen classic.

Egan was last seen in "The Hunters."

As the angel of the dance hall, Lee Remick plays a radically different sort of role. Previously, she was the passionate young bride of "The Long, Hot Summer" and the baton-twirling teenager of "A Face in the Crowd."

As the girl Murray does marry, Patricia Owens, too, departs sharply from her last role in "The Fly."

Murray's trail pal who turns robber and is eventually hanged by Egan, is portrayed by new-comer Stuart Whitman who displays in "These Thousand Hills" one of the most exciting personalities to be recently introduced in a starring role. Last seen in "Ten North Frederick," Whitman is one of the studio school's stars; a product of a company policy which builds personalities attuned to today's youthful audiences.

Filmed entirely in and around the Four Corners area of eastern Colorado, "These Thousand Hills" has as its backdrop the never - before - photographed Mountain Ute Indian Reservation, the old mining town of Silvertown, Durango and the broad plains of the nearby grazing lands.

Moving to a surprising and shattering climax, the picture is sure to be considered excellent movie fare not only for the fans of A. B. Guthrie, but for all who like an excitingly told, pictorially beautiful Western production.

Two Players Ever Grateful To England

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dean Jones and Joan O'Brien are two young Hollywood players who will forever be grateful to England.

The two teamed more than a year ago in a movie called "Mock Trial," in which law students in a small, American college town turn a mock trial into a witch hunt against the town's beloved mayor played by Thomas Mitchell.

The picture was made for peanuts and was released as the bottom end of a double bill. It got nowhere in this country.

But in England, it was given the title "Handle With Care" and opened with rave reviews despite its small-town America theme.

One English reviewer called Jones "the most exciting screen discovery since the late James Dean." Miss O'Brien, a former singer with Bob Crosby's TV show who made her debut in the picture, also got fine notices.

MGM executives took another look at the picture and pulled Jones out of a TV pilot and upped him to his biggest role to date with Frank Sinatra in "Never So Few." Miss O'Brien landed a co-starring role with Tony Curtis and Cary Grant in "Operation Petticoat."

JOY DRIVE IN — Inseparable Indian friends, portrayed by Sal Mineo and Rafael Campos, attentively survey a herd of wild horses in this scene from Walt Disney's Technicolor production, "Tonka," which also stars Jerome Courtland and Philip Carey. The picture starts today at the Joy Drive In Theatre.

AT PARAMOUNT—Lee Remick, as the dance-hall girl, and Don Murray as the young cowhand in a scene from "These Thousand Hills," a CinemaScope, color by De Luxe production, co-starring Richard Egan and Patricia Owens.

PIUS MEMOIRS

Many-Flavored And Colorful

MEMOIRS OF A RENAISSANCE POPE: The Commentaries of Pius II. Translated by Florence A. Gragg; edited with introduction, by Leona C. Gabel. Putnam's. $6.

Born in 1405 Aeneas Sylvius Piccolomini, of a good but impoverished Siena family, Pius on his elevation to the papacy took his name from Vergil's "pius Aeneas." Nicholas V and Calixtus III preceeded him, Paul II, and others named Paul, Pius and Alexander succeeded him. Giotto was painting, and Joan of Arc coming to the rescue of the French during Pius' lifetime. He ruled Christendom from 1458 to 1464. He was technically of the Renaissance, but in fact he stood only on the threshhold of the papacy's great creative period. He knew Cosimode Medici, Dante, Petrarch, Boccaccio, but Machiavelli, Vasari, Michelangelo, Raphael, Titian were born only after his death, and it would still be almost 50 years before the corner stone of the present basilica of the Vatican was laid.

Yet this is not to deny Pius the rich individuality of the typical Renaissance leader, for he had a broad salty streak, and no reticences about the frailities of covetous, lecherous and sinful man. He wrote in the third person, and it was some time before inquisitive scholars discovered this was autobiography, supposedly the only papal autobiography, too.

Aeneas became Pius by slow steps. In the cause of the church he traveled widely, as far north for instance as Scotland where frozen feet injured him permanently. Apostolic Secretary and Subdeacon, Bishop of Trieste, he got the parish church of Castro Vindelico, and then the cardinalate, and was crowned Pope in Rome Sept. 3, 1458.

His chief rival for the office was the Cardinal of Rouen, the first of several Frenchmen, of Avignon and Arras in particular, for whom Pius developed with some justification an intense antipathy. The behind-the-scenes dickering which led to his election, the 15th Century in elegant version of our smoke-filled caucus rooms, the actual show of violence by Rouen's backers are vivid reminders that voting is a democratic and popular process whether in a sacred consistory or a profane town meeting.

Pius was a valiant Pope, as he proved in his defense of the Neapolitan Ferrante, his unbridled scored of Sigismondo Malatesta, his diplomatic maneuvering with Louis XI, his ruthless struggle with Diether of Mainz, and his determination to lead a crusade against the infidel Turks. He was on his way to the Adriatic port of Ancona when he died.

A man of some learning, some wit, with a tendency to ponderous aphorisms, naive and conceited — the waves of turbulent Lake Trasimenus are stilled for his august passage—he limns his fellowmen with more truth than charity, and above all he does some splendid color pictures of festivities and pageants. To welcome him to Mantua, there are a raised platform before the cathedral, 12 white horses with gold saddles, banners with the Piccolomini crescents, armored nobles, robed priests, a golden tabernacle under a silken canopy surrounded by many tapers. For a gala reception on the Po, there were galleys displaying many colored standards, trumpets and pipes sounding from the lofty sterns, and boys and girls singing along the dikes.

It's a book of many flavors, from the villainy of Bonnano to the real consecration of Pius to the demands of his office; it's the basic stuff of history. This abridgment is made available to the public for the first time.

-THE ARTS-

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Any doubt that Thornton Wilder's 21-year-old "Our Town" is an American theater classic melts away before the excellent revival on view at the Circle - in - the - Square Theater. "Our Town" was generally regarded as a worthy drama back in 1938 when it won the Pulitzer Prize. But the novelty of its construction and staging — no scenery — undoubtedly dazzled many and prevented them from realizing its true basic worth.

There is, of course, no longer any novelty. The warmth and poetic feeling of the script are everything, granted a reasonably able production. Nothing about Wilder's writing has staled.

And the Circle production, under the guidance of director Jose Quintero, is not merely able; it is excellent. The Circle is an arena-type house, with the audience sitting close on three sides of the playing area. "Our Town" is especially suited to such a theater because it uses no scenery, but I wouldn't say that such staging does anything more for the play than does production on a conventional box stage.

The production is fortunate to have John Beal in the role of the stage manager-narrator who guides the audience through 12 years of life in the mythical New Hampshire town of Grover's Corners, beginning with the year 1901.

Beal manages to be both droll and folksy without being offensive about it as he hovers on the sideline of action or moves occasionally among the players going about the routine of living and loving and dying in that easy-going era. He even manages to give a believable New England flavor to his characterization.

Jane McArthur and Clinton Kimbrough are almost fantastically good as the youngsters who grow up next door, discover love, marry and then are parted in a few years by her death. Miss McArthur is a real find.

Helen Harrelson, Marjorie Nelson, Dana Elcar, Daniel Keyes, Harrison Dowd and Roland Wood also stand out in the large cast.

"Our Town" is an authentic piece of Americana that is as accurate as anything in the official archives. But its true worth lies in the fact that it is a brilliant piece of writing for the theater, the sort of low - keyed drama that becomes doubly dramatic because the author doesn't make an issue of being dramatic.

It is the sort of play you can sit through a number of times without being bored.

Broadway had a charming Easter week special in "Davy Jones' Locker" a new puppet musical created by Bill and Cora Baird.

The Bairds, whose frequent work in television is one of that medium's prime assets, presented an amusing tale of a shipwrecked boy from Baltimore who gets involved with pirates and various underwater characters, including Davy Jones. Mary Rodgers, daughter of composer Richard Rodgers, wrote the several attractive songs.

The show will be presented for two performances April 11 in Baltimore and twice on April 12 in Wilmington, Del.

To borrow a circus phrase, "Dave Jones' Locker" is for "children of all ages," and undoubtedly it will crop up again in the theater, or possibly in television, when the busy Bairds have time to do it.

MEDICAL ATTENTION

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There wasn't a single doctor in the house when actress Patricia Owens stepped on a piece of metal and cut her foot recently while helping to dedicate a new tuberculosis center at Birmingham, Ala.

Miss Owens, on a personal appearance tour with the film "The Sound and the Fury," had to be taken to a clinic about five miles away to have the wound stitched.

AUDREY IN A THRILLER

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Elfin Audrey Hepburn is set for a starring role in the Alfred Hitchcock suspense thriller based on the Henry Cecil book, "No Bail for the Judge."

Shooting is expected to start in May at Paramount where Miss Hepburn first won movie fame in "Roman Holiday." Her performance won her an Academy Award.

New Chapters On Civil War

SECRET MISSIONS OF THE CIVIL WAR, with narrative by Philip Van Doren Stern. Rand McNalley. $5.

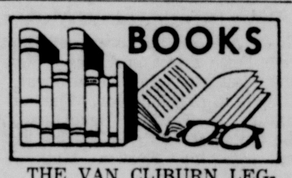

Funny thing about spies. They're a surefire hit in fiction—and nearly always emerge as heroes. Yet the feeling persists, and is fostered by the official government attitude that there is something wicked about espionage and we never should admit that our country indulges in the practice.

Take the American Civil War. You'd think that any necessity for keeping secret that conflict's secrets had long since passed. But it was only in 1953 that the war's secret service files became available for historians' study. Ten years ago, "Secret Missions of the Civil War" would have been impossible.

The missions here described—24 of them — are told in first person accounts dug out of the dusty files by Philip Van Doren Stern. A few, like William B. Cushing's story of his exploit in blowing up the Confederate ram, the Albemarle, are fairly well known.

Whatever the background, here is the raw material of adventurous history. Some of it is humorous, though unwittingly so, like the shadowing of Rose O'Neal Greenhow by Allen Pinkerton. Some of it is trivial, but most is excitement, and some incredibly daring — the attempts to burn New York City and the Confederate raid into Vermont, for example.

Stern has woven the disconnected missions into a unified narrative with concise but thorough sketches of surrounding political and military events, and has put each mission in its war-time perspective. These summaries are responsible for much of the book's attraction for the general reader.

THE VAN CLIBURN LEGEND, by Abram Chasins with Villa Stiles (Doubleday): Few become legends in their own lifetimes because few have the talent, the background, the personality, intellect and opportunities that blessed this young Texas virtuoso who has made piano history. That he is a deserving and good - hearted young man is made abundantly clear in this interesting recital of his career. What the book also clarifies is that Cliburn was not discovered by the Russians; he was already drawing important notice in his own country before his Moscow prize - winning performance brought him a hero's acclaim.

THE KING'S WAR, by C. V. Wedgwood (Macmillan): "When King Charles came home from Scotland in the autumn of 1641, London was bright with hangings and the fountains ran wine . . ." Thus does Miss Wedgwood begin the second volume of her monumental history of the Great Rebellion which carries the British story from 1641 to 1647, taking up where she left off in "The King's Peace." In these years were fought the great battles of Marston Moor and Naseby, Prince Rupert emerged as the king's chief general, Montrose conducted his brilliant but forlorn Scottish campaign and, in parliament, the death of Pym was followed by the rise of Cromwell. Miss Wedgwood depicts the violent welter of military, political and religious developments with clarity, humor and sympathy.

THE POLITICIAN, by Stephen and Ethel Longstreet (Funk & Wagnalls): Readers expecting an expose may be disappointed in this novel. The authors are out to shock no one. The hero is described as "The Country Gentleman in Politics . . . frankly cast in the mold of some of the gentry in our history books: George Washington, Thomas Jefferson . . . the two Roosevelts . . ." Paul Hawley Barraclough may be a composite, but to readers of a certain generation he is mostly in the Franklin Delano Roosevelt tradition. His story is told by a childhood friend from the wrong side of the tracks who became part of the palace guard as Barraclough moved slowly but persistently toward the White House.

THE NATURAL SCIENCE OF STUPIDITY, by Paul Tabori (Chilton): The author does not pretend to have explored the vast field of idiocy in this slim volume, but it is clear that he had a good time skimming the field. A native Hungarian who has spent most of the past 22 years in London, Tabori has researched books in several languages and ages for this sometimes amusing, sometimes shocking panorama of crackpottery. There are the foolish beliefs connected with gold; the ridiculous etiquette of royal courts; the pompous double - talk of bureaucracy and the law and absurd lovelore of the Age of Chivalry, to mention some of the major ones. Tabori's crisp, out-spoken style makes this a thoroughly enjoyable book.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Many New Books In New Library

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

In the three weeks that the Ouachita Parish Public Library has been closed to the public and cataloger and processing staff have exerted every effort to get as many new books ready as they possibly could. We have a large selection of outstanding books to offer you and we hope that many of you will be at the library to borrow them tomorrow. Remember that the formal opening is today from 2 to 6 p.m.

There are books to appeal to every type of reader. Let's first take a look at some of the new books of fiction. "The Scarlet Feather" by Dale Van Every has its setting in Kentucky in the period immediately following the American Revolution. "The Middle Age of Mrs. Eliot" is the title of the new novel by Angus Wilson. It has a modern setting and is a vivid compassionate story of an upper class Englishwoman, whose life broke apart in her middle years. Certain to be very popular is Frank G. Slaughter's "The Crown and the Cross," a story of the time of Christ. Another story with a biblical setting is "Dara the Cypriot" by Louis Paul. This book has its setting in the period of the old testament and is most illuminating. Georgette Heyer is an expert on Regency England and all of her stories add much to our pleasure and enjoyment. Her latest story is called "Venetian" and makes for delightful light reading.

Stories of mystery and suspense are always popular and there are several new ones to choose from. "Eight Days" is the title of a novel by Gabriel Fielding. It is set in the international zone of North Africa and is a novel of intellectual drama and actual suspense. "The Achilles Affair" by Berkely Mather is a thrilling story of cloak and dagger operations in the Balkans immediately following World War II. "A Day in Monte Carlo" by Martha Albrand is another story of international espoinage, written by a master in the field "Alas Babylon" by Pat Frank is the story of a town faced with survival after an atomic bomb attack. This is a book to make every American think, especially now with the Berlin crisis so near.

"The Unannointed" by Laurene Chinn is based on the Biblical character of Joab and is beautifully done. "The Savage Heart" by Denton Whitson has its setting in Florida in the period of the 1830s. It is a thrilling and romantic story of a period and a locale about which little has been written. "Solomon and Sheba" by Jay Williams is another story with a Biblical setting and is based on the love story of the great king and queen. The "House in the Mulberry Tree" by Zena Garrett will bring back many memories to adults. It is the story of a girl growing into womanhood and is done with rare perception and sensitivity. "Pass the Gravy" is a new mystery by A. A. Fair and "Trail to Troublesome" by Peter Field is another Bowder Valley western.

RUNNING THE SCALES
With JOHN CALE

Off the live circuit for an afternoon last week, the scales were allowed a run through the record center in the new Ouachita Parish Public Library which is holding open house today.

Phonograph records in a circulating library make for one big problem — wear and tear. The people at the library have worked out a scheme which has proven itself valuable in this respect and that is a clean bill of health for the borrower's needle. Needles of those persons wishing to check out records are first looked over by record shops in the Twin Cities and a slip is issued which assures the library that the person has a player and needle which will not damage the recordings. The West Monroe, branch library has had such a system in effect since its opening and recordings reportedly remain in good condition.

WIDE VARIETY

The record shelf at the new library is located on the wall at the right rear of the main reading room. All the recordings are of the high fidelity, long playing type and a wide variety of serious, light operatic and popular albums were noted in the racks.

A glance through the "C's" in the card catalogue showed piano classics performed by the French master of the keyboard, Robert Casadessus, as well as numbers by the American crooner Bing Crosby. With plenty of room to grow, the shelf acquired an album of tunes from the Academy Award winning movie "Gigi," while we were looking it over.

It was pointed out the collection at the Monroe library hopes to avoid duplication with the recordings available at the West Monroe branch so that persons in the area will have access to that many more records.

SEASON ENDS

The Louisiana Tech Concert Association closed out its season last week with the appearance of the Claremont string quartet. L. V. E. Irvine, who handles the series in addition to his position as head of the Music Department at Louisiana Tech, recalls the days when arrangements in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, made it possible for other students and himself to attend concerts of the world's top musical talent for a few pennies.

With like motives, Irvine has built a concert series affording similar circumstances where they did not exist before — in the large area of south central Arkansas and north central Louisiana. We are looking forward to the 1959-60 Tech series.

SYMPHONY

As the season for the Twin City Symphony works its way towards the final May concert, a few words are in order as to the progress of the organization this season. Biggest item is the addition of a top 'cellist in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Martin.

Also the organization continues to pay more attention to appearance. At last Thursday's performance, for example, all draperies around the stage were straight and the floor was swept — possibly waxed. Though the organization is small and undergoing growing pains, there is no question as to its progress.

Paige, as conductor of the Music Hall orchestra, turns out the beautiful music that puts dimension into performances on stage. Without his ability to communicate but not dominate, these shows might be routine.

Unfortunately, there is not enough of Paige's music in the recorded catalogue for those who never get to New York. It is hoped that "Music Hall Bon Bons . . ." (Everest LPBR-5024) will get such a fine response from the public that Paige will be impelled to put more of his work on wax.

Another maestro who can take a bow again and again is Mishel Piastro. His monophonic recording of "On Wings of Song" now is available in stereo (Decca DL-78675) and is even more listenable.

And Robert Russell Bennett, the arranger - conductor who breathed fire into the score of "South Pacific," makes a fine showing on "It's Classic But It's Good" (RCA Victor LM-2238). Bennett doesn't cater to the lowbrow but his choice of material and arrangements will get attention from those who ordinarily shun this kind of long-hair music.

"Melachrino's Magic Strings" (ABC-Paramount ABC-249) is another pleasant excursion into soft sound. George Melachrino, known for his lush mood music records, mixes such light classics as "Traumerei" with traditional folk themes like "Two Guitars" and gets a restful result.

For Teen-Agers: "Rock'n'-Roll Record Hop" (Roulette R-2509) offers some of the best stylings of Frankie Lymon, The Cleftones, The Playmates, The Heartbeats, The Valentines and The Crows.

Selected singles: "Cinderella's Parade" by the Space Men (Jubilee - 5368), "Playboy" by the Vel-Tones (Kapp K-268), "Last Night on the Back Porch," a good revival by Alma Cogan (Capitol F-4170), "Beaver" by the Mills Brothers (Dot 15909) and "On Behalf of the Visiting Firemen" by Ruth Olay (Mercury 71432).

LP of the Week (Mono)—"Cuttin' Capers" by Doris Day (Columbia CL-1232). A dozen easy-going numbers, among them "Let's Take a Walk Around the Block" and "Steppin' Out With My Baby."

LP of the Week (Stereo)—"The Brave Bulls" by the original "Banda Taurina" of the Plaza Mexico (Audio Fidelity AFSD-5801). You don't have to be an aficionado to appreciate this superb collection of bullfight numbers.

U.S. Civil Rights Commission To Continue Probes

ATLANTA (UPI)—The U.S. Civil Rights Commission voted unanimously Saturday to "exhaust every remedy" to obtain all the facts in cases involving complaints of discrimination against Negro voters.

The Commission, which completed a one-day hearing here Friday on minority housing problems, will decide at a similar hearing next month in Chicago whether to hold formal hearings on charges of discrimination in voting.

Northern Louisiana officials in the Shreveport area have refused to let commission investigators examine voting records in complaints brought by 69 Negroes. The investigators have no subpena power, and a Louisiana law requires voting records be kept secret unless a registered voter obtains signatures of other registered voters on a request to inspect the records.

The full Civil Rights Commission, in a formal hearing, could issue subpenas for examination of the records as it did in Alabama.

"If it develops that the required facts cannot be obtained withut a formal hearing or hearings, that possibility will be considered and acted upon at the May meeting at Chicago," Executive Director Gordon Tiffany said.

WIFE SERIOUSLY HURT

Berserk Father Slays Children

SPRINGFIELD, Va. (UPI) — Joseph B. Matthews Jr., church leader and son of a former Senate anti-Communist investigator, clubbed his three 'teen-age children to death Saturday and seriously injured his wife in a sudden outburst at the breakfast table.

The 40-year-old Federal Aviation Agency engineer then cut his own throat with a butcher knife, tried to fight off police, and bled to death on the way to a hospital.

Matthews' father attained national prominence five years ago when he directed the staff of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's Senate Communist hunters. He also helped the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Police said they could determine no reason why the younger Matthews, a deacon in a Presbyterian church and leader of a children's choir, went berserk.

Police found the bodies of Steven and Sharon Matthews, 13-year-old twins, and their sister, Susan, 14, on the dining room floor in the Matthews home. They had been beaten to death with a baseball bat.

Their mother, Helen Matthews, was taken to a hospital in nearby Alexandria in "fair condition." She was not told her children were dead.

Investigators said Mrs. Matthews was pouring orange juice for the morning meal when Matthews ran from the room, got the bat from the basement, and began clubbing the children and his wife.

Mrs. Matthews ran into the street screaming for help. She returned to find her husband standing over the children.

"Shoot me, shoot me," Matthews pleaded with an FBI agent who rushed to the scene from his home nearby.

Neighbors in this quiet little town, a suburb of Washington, described Matthews as an unobtrusive man, devoted to his family. But they also reported he had been complaining of headaches and bad eyesight and had planned a physical checkup.

Policeman Herbert Anderson, who went to the home after receiving a call from neighbors at 8:23 a.m., said the tragedy took place in no more than about 10 minutes.

"The children were lying on the floor with their heads beaten to a pulp," he said.

He quoted the FBI agent, Richard C. Whitehead, as saying that when he entered the house Matthrews "was still beating the older girl with the bat."

"Whitehead said he came in and said, "Joe, give me that bat,'" Anderson related. "He surrendered the bat and then he went into the kitchen and cut his own throat. Then he came back into the dining room and lay down on the floor and put his arm around Sharon, and screamed 'shoot me, shoot me.'"

Police Lt. Stanley Dodson said there was evidence the children were stabbed in the head, as well as beaten. The boy was dead when police arrived, he said, but the two girls were still breathing.

WOODY'S CAMERALAND IS COMING TO TOWN

One reason science would like to learn more about the moon: round, glassy objects called tektites ranging in size from marbles to tangerines have been found in Texas, Georgia, Czechoslavakia and Australia, among other places. The speculation is that they might be hardened bits of moon substances hurled into space during lunar explosions.

Protestant Mission To Change Hands

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

One of the most significant trends in modern Christianity will be spotlighted next week when the oldest U. S. Protestant mission in the Middle East goes out of business.

Its passing will be celebrated rather than mourned. For it is turning over its work — as well as its personnel and property—to a native Arab Christian church.

In a ceremony in Beirut next Wednesday, U. S. Presbyterians and Congregationalists will surrender control over a million dollars worth of churches, hospitals and schools, including two colleges, which they have built in Syria and Lebanon under a joint missionary effort begun in 1823.

The 57 American missionaries now attached to these institutions will remain on the job, but they will henceforth be "fraternal workers" under the authority of the National Evangelical Synod of Syria and Lebanon.

The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the Congregationalist Board of Foreign Missions will continue to give financial support to the work in Syria and Lebanon, but it will be channeled through the native church.

The change-over is the latest of a series of such moves by major U. S. Protestant bodies. Similar transfers of mission personnel and property have previously taken place in India, Japan, Thailand, The Philippines, Cameroun, and several other areas of Asia and Africa.

Behind this trend is a conviction that Christianity needs a bold news concept of its global mission if it is to make any headway against the strong nationalist tide running in Asia and Africa.

Takes Long Time

In many countries, the Christian Gospel is being rejected because it is identified as an "export" of the Western white man. There is a growing disposition among Asians and Africans to regard American-controlled foreign missions as a form of "spiritual imperialism."

A century of missionary effort has succeeded, however, in planting native Christian churches in nearly every country of Asia and Africa. These indigenous churches are weak in membership, resources and trained clergy.

Parish Library Ranks Among Best In Louisiana

FEATURES

BOOKMOBILE AND STAFF — Truly taking the library to the people of the parish is the bookmobile and its staff, one of the facilities of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. Mrs. Dan Dennett, left, and Miss Betty Hover, regularly take the many books of the public library to schools outside the cities of Monroe and West Monroe and many rural areas. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman)

TAKING BOOKS TO READERS

First Ouachita Bookmobile In Use Eleven Years Ago

Eleven years ago last month the bookmobile from the Ouachita parish library made its first trip around the parish to take the library facilities to those people who couldn't get to the library headquarters. It was an effort to make the Ouachita Parish Public Library truly an institution of the entire parish and not just for those who were able to come to the library building on Jackson street.

The first run on March 31, 1948, went through the area northeast of Monroe, through the Fairbanks community and other stops on the Sterlington highway. One hundred and 30 people met the bookmobile, more than half of them children. Books borrowed that day totaled 255.

Officials of the public library were pleased with the results of the bookmobile on its first trip. But, although they envisioned then that the library would serve the entire parish, even the librarian, Miss Frances Flanders has admitted that the acceptance of this particular facility has been even greater than she had hoped.

In the eleven years since the service was inaugurated, the bookmobile has totaled 96,317 miles-nearly four times the circumference of the world. The first bookmobile was in operation for eight years with a total of 76,266 miles.

HOPING

In January of 1956 this particular bookmobile became unusable and for two months the staff of this facility transported books in their automobiles so that the school service would not have to be interrupted.

In March, 1956, the new bookmobile, custom built for the requirements of Ouachita parish, arrived and immediately went into operation. It has already traveled 30,051 miles in a period of three years.

Officials of the library are hoping that this bookmobile will be in use even longer than the previous one, because of the improved roads.

During the period that the bookmobile has been in service, it has loaned to the patrons a total of 1,121,467 books. This roughly is an average of 13 books for each mile traveled and 225 books for each registered borrower.

Staffing the bookmobile are Miss Betty Hoover, Mrs. Willie Luce and Mrs. Dan Dennett. Mrs. Dennett stays in the headquarters library, but maintains the records of the facility and prepares the "rolling library" for the next day's run. Miss Hoover is driver with Mrs. Luce serving as librarian.

The bookmobile makes fifteen trips before completing its circuit. Two Mondays the special facility of the library system goes to Sterlington; the third Monday residents of ward 4, south of Monroe are given the opportunity to check out books.

On Tuesdays the machine visits the Shady Grove Elementary School, Jonesboro road and the Lenwil school.

The Lakeshore, Ki-Ro-Li Woods and Swartz areas are visited each Wednesdays and Thursdays see the bookmobile going through the Drew, Fairbanks and Calhoun communities. Fridays the route includes Ward 9, and the Claiborne and Okaloosa communities.

An interesting and typical remark by a small child recently indicates the importance of this particular facility of the parish library. When asked "Where is your library?", the child replied without hesitance "It just went around the corner."

PROGRAM STARTED

The first unit of the building program to go into construction was the West Monroe Library, located on the corner of Clayton and Cypress Streets. It was completed in May of 1958, and has been giving excellent service to the people of the community since that time. Rivers and Heuer and Buford Jacka were the architects for this building, and Frank C. Eason the general contractor. It is a modern one-story brick and masonry building with a steel frame. The colors in the interior are very lovely, and the furniture is beautiful as well as functional. The building area is 8,530 square feet and has a book capacity of 15,000 books. The total cost was $185,000.

The headquarters building of the Ouachita Parish Public Library is located at 1800 Stubbs Avenue on a site 420 by 130 feet. The building is a one-story building with a balcony which houses the upper portion of the stack area. It has a structural steel frame and is constructed of concrete and masonry with limestone trim. The area of the building is 18,552 square feet and it has a total book capacity of 100,000 volumes. The total cost of the building will be about $375,000. It was completed in the spring of 1959. It is a beautiful building and one of which the people of Monroe can be justly proud. The architect for this building was William King Stubbs, and the contractor J. A. Harper.

ANNA MEYER BRANCH

The third building to be constructed as a part of the building fund is the Anna Meyer branch library, dedicated to the memory of the patron of libraries in Monroe. It is to be constructed on the site of her bequest on the corner of Jackson and Calypso streets, unless the property is appropriated for the Interstate Highway. If that happens, another site will be chosen for this library which will serve the south part of the city. The funds for the construction of the Anna Meyer branch are in the bank and work will begin just as soon as an official decision comes from the department of highways.

With three lovely new buildings, the people of Ouachita Parish can point with pride to the quarters which they have provided for their libraries. Much needs to be done in the way of building up the book collection, but that will come in time and the Ouachita Parish Public Library will take its place as the leader of the cultural life of the community.

BOARD OF CONTROL

The members of the Board of Control during the expansion period deserve special mention for their contribution to the cultural life of the community. They are Mrs. B. W. Biedenharn, chairman, Mrs. C. M. Strauss, vice-chairman; Mrs. A. G. McHenry, Mrs. William King Stubbs and Miss Carrie Dee Drew.

They worked over and beyond the call of duty. Their work received recognition from the Louisiana Library Association in the spring of 1958, when Mrs. Biedenharn was presented the Modisette Award for Trustees, an honor which is presented annually to the trustee who is considered outstanding in Louisiana. They have guided the library skillfully and hope to see it rise to new heights of usefulness to the people of Ouachita Parish.

The history of the Ouachita Parish Public Library dates back to the year 1915, 10 years before the establishment of the Louisiana Library Commission and the enormous expansion of library interest in the state of Louisiana. In that year, the Civic League of Monroe, of which Mrs. Jessie Sadler was president, recognized the need of the community for a library. Mrs. Walter L. Jones was appointed chairman of a committee to work on this project.

In the face of almost insurmountable difficulties this committee launched a drive for members who would contribute $2.50 each toward the support of the library. The Book Club gave the initial collection of 731 books (some of which are still in the library collection).

Through the effort of the late Judge A. A. Gunby, a building was secured. He searched the records in the courthouse and found the almost forgotten will of Mrs. Louise L. McGuire who had bequeathed to the city a small one-room building on Wood Street, opposite the Courthouse, with the "hope", so the will read, "that it should be used as a library." Since the building had been used as a coal house, it was in a very dilapidated condition. However, the library committee appeared before the city council and asked for the use of the building. It was granted and the work of renovation was begun. Coal was shoveled out, the building was given a coat of paint, shelves were installed, the books moved in and the library was ready for service.

OPENED IN 1916

On May 8, 1916, the library opened its doors to the people of Monroe with a collection of 731 books and an income of $50.00 per month. Miss Alice R. D. Gillam, a graduate of the Carnegie Library School was the first librarian. She resigned at the end of the year and Miss Edith Gunby took the position for a few months. In April of 1917, Mrs. Lillian Herron Mitchell (later Mrs. Fred Williamson) became librarian. She served the library faithfully for a period of 15 years.

The continued existence of library service in Monroe owes its life to the bequest of one public spirited woman. In 1920, Mrs. Anna Meyer died and left her home on the corner of Jackson and Calypso streets and $20,000 to be used for the upkeep of the library. Mrs. Meyer had a sad and tragic history and was particularly fond of children. She was especially interested in library service for them. In 1921 the library moved into its new quarters, which were very spacious for that time, but which are completely inadequate for modern conditions.

TRUST FUND

For a period of eleven years, until 1932, the library was supported almost entirely by the income of the trust fund left by Mrs. Meyer. However, in the depression period the fund disappeared and the next eight years were very hard ones for the library, Mrs. Edith Townes (now Mrs. Atkinson) who served as librarian during those years deserves a great deal of credit for keeping the library open at all and the members of the Board of Control at that period do also, for they did a great deal of the actual library work. The City of Monroe and the Ouachita Parish Police Jury supported the library during these trying years with small appropriations, which were finally abandoned altogether in 1940.

When this happened the Board of Control realized the necessity of a reorganization of the Library. This was done in 1940 and the name changed to the Ouachita Parish Public Library, with a contract of joint support between the cities of Monroe and West Monroe and the Ouachita Parish Police Jury. In that year, the first graduate librarian, Miss Frances Michie, a product of the L. S. U. Library School was employed. The same year the West Monroe branch was established with a collection of 100 books and the library grew in usefulness to the community. Miss Michie served as librarian until her marriage in the fall of 1945.

The members of the Board of Control realized that Ouachita Parish needed an expanded service to take care of the post-war growth of the community. They persuaded Miss Frances Flanders, who was the librarian at Neville High School and who knew the community, to accept the position which she did in June of 1946. The members of the Board of Control and the librarian formulated plans for expansion and presented them to the civic and business leaders of the community and to the members of the Police Jury. The Police Jury called a tax election for the support of the library and a one-half mill tax was voted by an overwhelming majority in July of 1947, and was renewed in 1952.

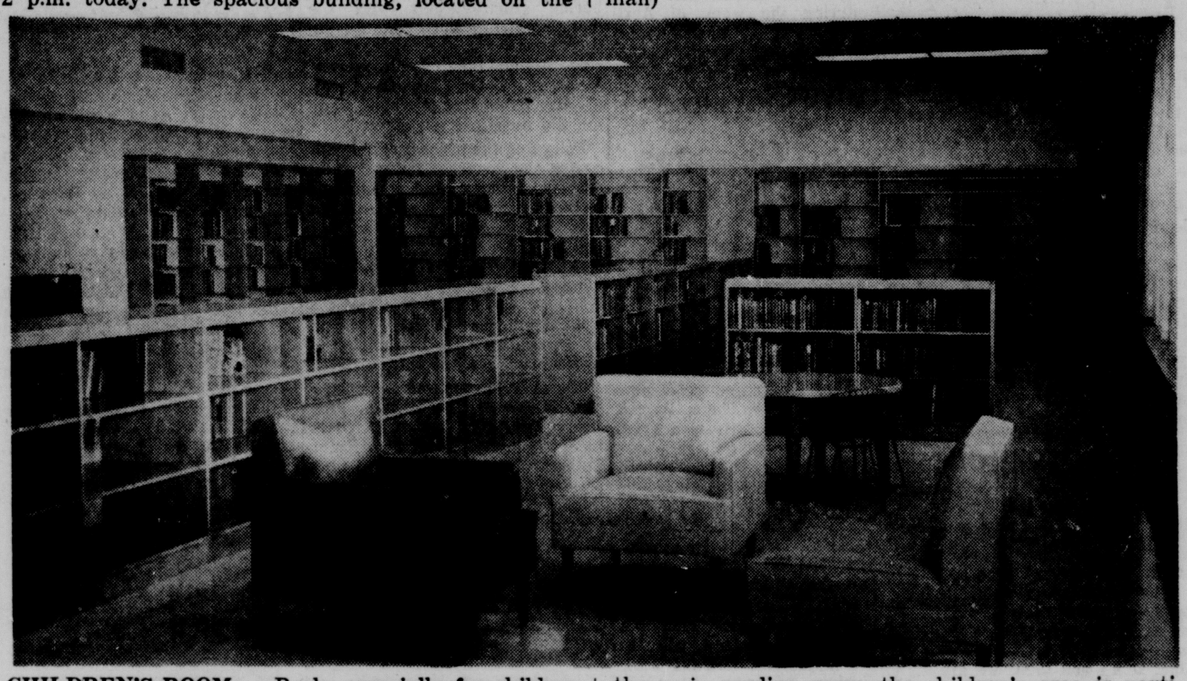

FIRST BOOKMOBILE

With increased funds expansion went on at a rapid rate. The first bookmobile was purchased and put into operation in 1948. The Carver branch was established in 1949 to serve the colored people of the Parish. In 1949 the library received the Modisette Award, presented by the Louisiana Library Association, for making the most progress of any public library in Louisiana during the previous year.

As the use of the library continued to increase, the need for new quarters became more and more evident. In the summer of 1956 the people of the parish voted a bond issued of $700,000 for the construction of three library buildings. They also raised the maintenance tax by one-half mill. In 1957, the library received the John Cotton Dana

FORMAL OPENING TODAY — Members of the Board of Control, Ouachita Parish Public Library, will formally open the new headquarters building at 2 p.m. today. The spacious building, located on the corner of Stubbs Avenue and North 18th street, was recently constructed at a cost of more than $385,000, including furniture. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman)

CHILDREN'S ROOM — Books especially for children will be located in the room, also for the younger readers of the Ouachita Parish Library. Located just off the main reading room, the children's area is partitioned from the other rooms by glass. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman)

MAIN LIBRARY ROOM — A portion of the large lounge and reading room of the new library headquarters building is pictured from the check-out desk. Tables are located just over the counter for those who might like to write. The two stories of shelves, showing to the right will house more than 90,000 volumes. The building opens formally today in special ceremonies. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman)

AT NEW LIBRARY

Large Mural Dramatically Depicts Parish's History

One of the most striking features in the new headquarters of the Ouachita Parish Public Library is the mural, painted especially for the building and installed over the check - out desk. The mural depicts the history of Ouachita parish from the time of the proud and strong Ouachita Indians through the major eras to the present.

A summary of what was wanted in the mural was given by Miss Frances Flanders, parish librarian, to Hubbell Reed McBride, well - known artist in Dallas. Painted in oil, the mural is on canvas and was framed and put up after being accepted by the library Board of Control. The actual work on the mural was done by Victor Lallier, also of Dallas, under the direct supervision of McBride.

In the upper left hand corner, depicting the first era of the then Ouachita area, stands a Ouachita Indian, the tribe which controlled the entire area now known as northeast Louisiana.

Showing the advent of the first white man to visit the territory is a likeness of Hernando DeSoto, who in 1542 moved through the area generally believed to be between Monroe and Jonesville. The explorer is shown astride his huge white (actually a stone gray, many believe) stallion. The Indians of the territory, never having seen horses or white men, believed him to be a god and treated him accordingly. Also depicted in the particular scene are men moving the cannon through the swampy area, which historians consider one of the feats of the entire trip.

LA SALLE

From 1542, the mural moves to 1682 and the appearance of La-Salle, who in the name of France claimed all of Louisiana. The Frenchman is shown in the typical calavier dress of the period, which marks him distinctly from the Spanish dress of DeSoto.

In 1729 and the revolt of the Natchez Indians, refugees of that area around the Mississippi River came to the Prairie de Canots and settled. A scene depicts the settlers bargaining with the Ouachita Indians. A man inspects a bear rug while an Indian brave checks a rifle. On the floor the settler's wife and an Indian squaw check a bolt of cloth. Outside the door and in the distance can be seen an Indian carrying a deer, killed in the forest not far away.

Against a back drop of Fort Miro, a forerunner to Monroe, Don Juan Filhiol, Spanish commandant, stands. This particular scene shows the fort which was built by Don Juan for the protection of the settlers who lived in the surrounding area. The two watch towers stand near the bank of the Ouachita river through which all traffic moved, whether it be the Indians or the white settlers. The white people lived on the small farms in the immediate area, but went to the fort in times of danger. Particularly was this true when the men were away on hunting or trapping excursions in the deep and thick forests.

LOCATION

(The exact location as far as can be determined is where the Monroe Steam Laundry now stands on South Grand street.)

In 1803 came the Louisiana Purchase and the transfer of this vast territory over to the United States. A replica of the agreement to sell for $15,000,000 is shown, as is the territory compared with the present United States.

Donating the entire picture as it did the entire area along the Ouachita river is a replica of the Steamboat James Monroe. This boat, proving that steamboat traffic was available to the little fort, arrived in 1819 and proved to be the awaking of another era for the whole territory. So elated were the residents with the arrival that the town was renamed in honor of the boat, which in turn had been named for the President of the United States. The name Monroe has remained since.

RAILROAD

Following the steam boat, and later proving to be the undoing of that mode of transportation was the railroad, which was completed in 1861, just before the Civil War. During the War between the States, the railroad from Monroe to the Mississippi River across from Vicksburg was one of the main supply routes of the bread and meat producing areas of Texas to the troops fighting in the eastern part of the Confederacy.

Then in 1865, the tragic story of returning soldiers, some maimed others not injured, but all disillusioned and beaten is shown.

In another picture, the Sportsman Paradise is shown with hunters readying for the ducks and fishermen utilizing the cypress - studded bayous.

Also shown in the mural are the five flags which have flown over the Ouachita territory — Spanish, French, United States, Confederate and State of Louisiana.

LARGE MURAL — The history of the Ouachita area is depicted in pictures on a 5x12 foot mural which dominates the main room of the new library building. The mural was painted especially for the building by a Dallas artist. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman)

MY ANSWER

by Billy Graham

QUESTION: My fiancee and I have different religious views. We have talked it over and agreed that he is to follow his religion and I will follow mine. Don't you think we are on safe ground so long as we understand this? We deeply love each other and don't think religion should stand between us. We want your opinion. P. F.

ANSWER: My opinion would have to be based upon the plain teaching of the Bible. Your religion certainly shouldn't stand between you, but you do need a mutual faith to hold you together. Either you don't think religion is important or you have no definite convictions. Moreover, what would happen to your marriage if one of you should suddenly get some clear conviction. If you are so sure that your religion need not come between you, why did you inquire? You must have some doubts of your own, and rightfully so. I would urge you strongly to consider Christ and what He offers to hungry and lost hearts. Begin by taking Him as Savior and Lord. Commit your lives to him, and I am confident that then you will have a happy marriage that is built upon a firm foundation.

I have seen the difference in religion break up many homes. The Bible warns about "being unequally yoked." Be careful!

FARM HOUSING DECRIED

ITHACA, N. Y. (UPI) —A Cornell University researcher says about 77 per cent of all farmhouses in the U. S. are substandard and there's little prospect of an immediate improvement.

Prof. Glenn H. Beyer, director of the Cornell housing research center, said most of the substandard dwellings are in the cotton belt.

Baptists Open Simultaneous Crusades Here

A large congregation from the Baptist churches of Monroe greeted Dr. Paul Roberts, pastor of First Baptist Church, Little Rock, Ark., last week at the College Place Baptist Church. This meeting was the evangelistic rally to begin the simultaneous crusade of the churches of Monroe.

Baptist churches of the nations will be celebrating the 150th anniversary of the beginning of organized Baptist work in North America in 1964. A five-year program of celebration has been arranged and 1959 is the year of evangelistic effort.

The Ouachita Parish High School choir sang for the meeting.

Beginning today, the Baptist churches of this vicinity will be in their evangelistic crusade. In Monroe about half of the churches will be engaged in a crusade the week of April 12-19th and about half during the week of April 19th-26th. Four of the churches will be in a two week crusade.

Presbyterians Form Group In College Area

Under the sponsorship of the Presbyterian Church Extension Committee of Ouachita Parish, a new Presbyterian group has been organized to serve the area to Monroe east of Sterlington Road.

An informational meeting was held Sunday, April 5, 1959, at Northeast Louisiana State College. At this meeting Mr. Thomas R. McCann was elected to head a steering committee which is to guide the affairs of the group until such time as it is formally recognized as a church. Thirty-seven families, consisting of over a hundred persons, have indicated their support of the group.

Worship services will be held each Sunday at Northeast Louisiana State College, the first one being today at 9:00 a.m. The Reverend Robert S. Newcomb, pastor of the Bastrop Presbyterian Church will deliver the message. Sunday School will be held each Sunday at 10:00 a.m., following the worship service. A nursery will be provided for those desiring its facilities.

Lutherans To Dedicate New Church Here

The recently completed Trinity Lutheran Church at 1301 Oliver Road is to be dedicated today with a service at 4 p.m. The Rev. Vernon Grosse, professor at Alabama University, Tuscaloosa, Alabama, will be the vestival speaker.

Lutheran clergymen from neighboring congregations with the church officers and building committee led by the local pastor, the Rev. Arthur Betz, and the guest speaker, will form the processional. Arrangements have been made for the overflow seating.

Following the processional hymn pastor and congregation will dedicate the building and themselves to the service and worship of the Triune God. The festival service will continue with the dedicatory hymns, prayers and sermon, enhanced by special numbers rendered by the chancel choir of the First Methodist Church, directed by Professor Eloy Fominaya, of Northeast State College.

Trinity congregation was organized in May 1925. Pastors Carl Gernannt and P. E. Stueckler, resident ministers at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Alexandria, successively, were the first Lutheran ministers to serve here. In 1928 the first resident pastor was called in the person of the Rev. Theo. Ahrendt who after two years was called to Atlanta, Ga., where he is still serving the church. Pastor H. H. Schaefer succeeded the Rev. Ahrendt in May of 1930 and worked in this field until 1935.

Late in 1935, Vernon Gross, graduate, was called from Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Mo. who was installed here and served until the spring of 1944. During the ministry of Pastor Grosse the present frame chapel and parish house were erected and dedicated on November 1, 1936. The Rev. Grosse left Trinity at Monroe to accept a teaching position at Alabama University where he is still on the teaching staff.

In 1945, Normand Widiger, a candidate from the Lutheran seminary at St. Louis, Mo., became pastor of the local church and served until May 2, 1948. Upon his leave a vacancy prevailed in the parish for months when Mr. Harold Kamman, vicar student from the same seminary took over the charge. He served one year and was succeeded by the Rev. Harold Reinhardt who upon his installation became Trinity's resident minister. Pastor Reinhardt served Trinity congregation from the fall of 1948 until May of 1953 when he was called into the chaplaincy of the U. S. Army in which mission he is still engaged.

The present pastor, the Rev. Arthur Betz, came here from Hattiesburg, Miss., and was installed on July 27, 1953. During these years Trinity parish has suffered many removals in its membership but has also enjoyed such additions to have doubled its roll of souls and communicants. On August 31, 1954 the congregation completed the erection of the present parsonage at 603 Filhiol Ave., which since that time has been the dwelling place of the pastor and his family. In the spring of 1957 a building site of one city block was purchased at 1301 Oliver Road, Westwood addition of Monroe. In August of 1958 the plans for the present first unit of the congregation's new church plant were accepted by the congreation. Groundbreaking service was conducted at three in the afternoon on September 7, 1958. The cornerstone was not placed until February 5 of this year 1959. The building was taken over on March 13, from the architect Mr. John Neel, and the general contractor Mr. Lamar Moore.

STOCK AVERAGE DECLINES — The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined this week to 222.4 from 223.6 a week ago. Led by livestock the commodity index moved higher this week to 172.1 from 171.7 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

THIS WEEK IN BUSINESS

Economy Rolling At Record Clip

NEW YORK (AP)—Rising profits, booming production and the beginnings of a spring uprsurge in auto sales kept the economy roaring along at a record clip this week.

Strike clouds darkened the steel picture.

As steel labor and steel management squared off for the coming battle over wage negotiations, 12 of the nation's top steelmakers proposed a one-year freeze on wages after present contracts expire June 30.

The United Steelworkers Union said "no."

The steel companies said they wanted to freeze because it would combat inflation, unemployment and foreign competition, create greater stability in the steel industry, and calm the frantic surge of hedge buying that has kept the mills humming at more than 90 per cent of capacity in recent weeks.

Much of the present steel boom has been attributed to frenzied stocking up by consumers against the possibility of a strike that would cut off supplies in July.

But President David McDonald of the steelworkers termed the proposal "a publicity stunt meant to confuse our members and the American public." The industry, he said, "has chosen to employ this strategem because before the month is out it will be embarrased by record riches which it can neither explain nor conceal."

United States Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel Corp. — Biggest of the nation's steelmakers — are scheduled to come out with earnings reports during the last week in April.

Other rumblings of labor-management strife were heard in Washington this week. Some 7,000 unionists at an unemployment rally cheered when speakers called for massive job-creating programs or denounced Republicans and President Eisenhower.

But there was applause, too, when the President's Secretary of Labor, James P. Mitchell, promised to "eat that hat you said I was talking through" if unemployment doesn't fall below three million next fall.

Meanwhile the administration, confident that it had something to boast about, called a special news conference to report its latest job figures. The box score: March employment climbed 1,106,000 over the February total to 63,828,000. Unemployment dropped 387,000 to 4,360,000.

The decline in unemployment was the largest February - to March dip since 1950. What's more, government economists said, most of those who found work were fathers with families to support.

But critics said the total of jobless was still too high for comfort.

The stock market boom took a breather after the government and the New York Stock exchange told investors to beware of phoney tips. Stock sales totaled 15,626,100 shares compared with 15,642,380 in the previous week and 10,375,640 shares in the same week last year.

Bond sales had a par value of $31,224,000 in the latest week against $31,951,000 for the week before and $25,279,400 for the corresponding 1958 week.

On the production front, steel mills were scheduled to turn out 2,638,000 tons this week, matching the previous week's record and up more than 90 per cent from a year ago.

Passenger car production, also about the same as the week before and 59 per cent higher than in the like week last year, approached 134,000 units. Dealers began to talk confidently about a spring upturn in new car sales—something they haven't seen since 1955.

The government toted up the score on manufacturers' sales for the last three months of 1958—and it was never better. Rebounding swiftly from recession lows, sales increased seven per cent to a record $81,700,000,000. New car sales paced the rise.

The sales gain sparked a 22 per cent jump in manufacturers' profits which totaled four billion dollars after taxes.

Briefly over the business scene: Department store sales in the first week after Easter slid 13 per cent below the year-ago week. Easter was one week later in 1958 . . . Ford Motor Co. researchers have developed a lightweight supercharged gas turbine engine that packs 300 horsepower. It will fit under the hood of a Ford car with room to spare . . . American Motors' Rambler made the best showing in the Mobilgas economy run, averaging 25.29 miles per gallon . . . The widow of financier Robert R. Young, Mrs. Anita O'Keefe Young, was nominated for a seat on the Alleghany Corp. board of directors. Alleghany controls the New York Central Railroad. . . Scientists at the Los Alamos, N.M., laboratory of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission scored a major breakthrough in the power field — the direct conversion of atomic heat into electricity. . . The market for new railroad cars is coming to life again — Chesapeake & Ohio Railway placed a $2,500,000 order with ACF Industries Inc. this week for 250 box cars. . . Major producers cut prices of Venezuelan crude oil 5 to 15 cents a barrel to keep in step with lower prices of Middle East crude . . . General Motors Corp. attorney's coined a new phrase for the government's anti-trust investigation: "A politically inspired fishing expedition."

NAUGATUCK, Conn. (UPI) — Police Lt. Raymond Carlson reported that in questioning a woman suspect he said, "I'm not going to ask your age — just tell me the year you were born," and she did.

President Sends Breaux Bridge Congratulations

BREAUX BRIDGE, La. (AP)—President Eisenhower sent his congratulations to citizens of Breaux Bridge Saturday as the town's 100th anniversary celebrations rolled into the second day.

The centennial celebration, that actually started months ago, comes to a climax Sunday with a political rally that includes many possible candidates for governor.

The President, in a telegram read by Mayor Louis Kern, said, in part:

"Located in the historic Acadian section of Louisiana, your city helps preserve a great tradition for America. Settled by people of courage and enterprise, Breaux Bridge has grown strong over the years."

Parades, dances, cooking contests and general merriment kicked off the weekend festivities Friday, picturing the town as the Crayfish Capital of the world.

MEDALLION HOME LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

Let's all get into the act!

Improvement of our Homes is the highroad to a better life for our families . . . enhanced value for our properties . . . and more . . . every room added to a house, every kitchen that is modernized, every room brightened and redecorated — every yard improved, makes the whole neighborhood that much better to live in.

This is the Magic of Home Improvement . . . made easy to finance, easy to accomplish by the businesses and services of our community who are working with this newspaper to help you brighten your living, right now.

REMODEL, BUILD?

Millions Want Homes Improved

By DON MOORE
Executive Director, Home Improvement Council

A number of research studies have shown that many millions of American homeowners are aware that their homes are less modern, less spacious or less attractive than they should be. One study, in fact, indicated that 32 million families want some kind of home modernization project.

If you are among that group, it will not surprise you to learn that the most common question among all such homeowners is this:

"How can I decide whether we'd be better off to improve our present home or to get another one . . . in other words, when is it worth while to remodel and when is it not?"

Obviously, there can be no universal answer to such a broad question; the decision of each family depends on many factors that are peculiar to that family and to the particular house in question.

However, suggestions on how to arrive at the right decision have been devised by the Home Improvement Council — a national organization of manufacturers, dealers contractors and others terested in the modernization field. The council's basic purpose is to make the nation's home owners aware of the fact that almost any existing home can be made completely up-to-date with an investment far smaller than that required in building a comparable new home.

HOW TO DECIDE

Here are some pointers offered by the council: In deciding whether or not to modernize your home, the first step is to determine as closely as possible the exact cost of the planned project. If it is an extensive project, this step should involve estimates from several dealer contractors or dealers.

Then, add the cost of the project to the total of your previous investment in the home (including present mortgage debt) and look around in your community to find out what your new total investment would buy in the new home market.

You will probably find in this investigation that you will be providing your family with a great deal more space per dollar through modernization.

Another important consideration is the question of how much this new investment will add to the total worth of your home. In most sound modernization projects the cost is more than offset by the home's increased value.

"MONEY IN THE BANK"

In fact, the council has observed that a family's expenditure for home improvement is more like an investment — more like "money in the bank" — than any other possible purchase. Your banker will more than likely be happy to give you his opinion on your proposed project in investment terms.

Often, however, economic considerations are over - emphasized at the expense of equally important factors of sentiment, convenience and comfort. If you are likely to remain in your present location for a number of years, there is no need to limit your modernization plans just to those that can be considered a sensible investment.

A HOME IS TO LIVE IN

A home after all is to live in and enjoy. If it is to be a family's home for years to come, then the modern conveniences that it offers, its appearance, and its facilities for providing further recreational needs of every member of the family are just as important as financial factors.

Also, on the side of sentiment you will want to think about the nighborhood. If you live in an established home, you will probably live near established schools, churches, shopping facilities, playgrounds and the other amenities new areas frequently lack.

You, perhaps especially your children, will want to go beyond these circumstances of the neighborhood in your thinking and consider the neighbors as well. Established friendships are another factor that must be considered in determining whether or not it is worthwhile to modernize your existing home.

If, like most families, yours includes individuals who must travel to work and school, you will also want to weigh carefully the relative convenience of your existing home's location. If a new home "further out" will add to travel time and expense, that must be also taken into consideration.

Some homes are beyond modernizing, of course. If there are indications of serious structural defects, it would be advisable to obtain the opinions of building professionals to add to your own assessment of the situation. An architect, a builder or a contractor can provide valuable advice.

Easier Loans Boosts Home Improvements

By NORMAN STRUNK
Executive Vice President, United States Savings and Loan League

Home owners who improve their property through modernization, expansion, repair, or replacement of worn out equipment not only improve the "livability" of their homes but also add to their economic value.

For in addition to added family comfort, convenience and overall happiness, a wise and well-planned property improvement generally raises the present and future value of the home. It thus represents a sound investment, and a hedge against the possibility of further inflation.

Accordingly, the nation's 6,200 savings and loan associations, which are the largest single source of nome mortgage funds, (currently financing 40 per cent of all homes built or sold in this country), are giving their full support to current national programs to better the 20 per cent of American homes that are in need of repair and improvement and to bring up to date the 50 per cent of American homes that are over 30 years old.

PLANNING ASSISTANCE

Not only have savings associations set aside an ample supply of funds for financing property improvements, but they are ready and able to render assistance in planning the improvement, and in helping the home owner find reliable contractors to do the work.

Articles and plans detailing the proper methods for repairing, modernizing or expanding a home are available as never before. In addition, building supply dealers and contractors are offering new materials and "package" improvements at special rates.

NOW IS THE TIME

At the same time, money for financing such improvements is in ample supply on a low-cost basis.

It thus would seem that the year 1959 affords home owners an excellent opportunity to turn long-dreamed-of home improvements into realities, and improve the economic value of their homes accordingly.

OUTLETS ARE conveniently located when multi-outlet assemblies are used. These continuous strip systems replace wood baseboards, provide sufficient outlets to assure full enjoyment of electrical power, blend with room decor, and can be mounted on any type surface, providing more outlets for less money.

Handy Electric Outlets Are Aid

Outlets where you need them.

This, stripped of all fancy language, is the major reason more and more homeowners are turning to multi - outlet assemblies to assure full enjoyment of their electrical housepower.

Multi - outlet assemblies provide electrical outlets so placed that they will always be conveniently available. In general, a multi - outlet system consists of a metal channel with outlets located at pre - determined intervals. from six inches to five feet, along a continuous strip.

Because they run along the surface of the wall, these systems can be easily attached to solid surfaces, such as brick, masonry or wood. They provide easy access for maintenance or the addition of more circuits. And, in modernization jobs, they permit installation of new circuits without the mess of breaking walls.

Another area in which Plug-mold is becoming increasingly popular is in the conversion of attic and basement space to rooms. Here, the use of the continuous outlet strip reduces the cost of installation and provides the room with a flexibility designed to meet changing needs and furniture placement.

Multi - outlet assemblies are obtainable through electrical contractors. They are available in standard five - foot lengths so they can be installed wherever outlets are needed. This means they can be used in such places as above kitchen counters, behind the bed in bedrooms, along the chair rail in dining rooms, and on work benches.

The metal raceway itself is finished in a prime color which unpainted, blends with knotty pine or other light woods, or can be painted to match the decor of the room. A variety of sizes makes it possible to use the width designed for your need.

Outlets for multi - outlet systems are available for two or three wire services in single, duplex and NEMA grounded outlets. For today's living, electrical outlets are a must and multi-outlet assemblies give more outlets for less money.

Gas Furnace In Floor Small, Economical

Dependability, compactness and economy are among the advantages of gas - fired floor furnaces according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

Used in a number of types of dwellings, they are especially popular in one - story homes without basements, whether small dwellings or larger ranch types. Depending on the size of the home and the climate, a single furnace may meet all heating needs, or several may be employed.

For each installation an opening is made in the floor and the furnace is set in flush with the floor surface. Room air is drawn in through perimeter portions of the register, heated as it passes the heat exchanger, and rises warmed through the middle zones of the register.

Products of combustion are carried to the chimney by flues beneath the floor. When floor furnaces are used in each of several rooms, they might be vented to a common chimney. Home improvement projects involving substantial additions of space employ many thousands of gas floor furnaces each year, and they are favored for many resort homes.

Kitchens Need Exceptionally Good Lighting

If you're chief cook, baker and bottle washer and you're reading this, it is a good bet that you're in your kitchen most of the time. Look around. Can the lighting arrangement in the kitchen be improved by modernizing?

As in most homes the illumination in your kitchen can use overhauling, unless you happen to be the happy owner of a recently built or modernized Medallion Home where the electrical excellence is as inviting as the welcome on the front door mat. For in these homes, "light for living" is one of the three main premises on which the electrical standards are based.

So, if your kitchen does need better lighting and wiring as do almost four out of five homes in America today, here are a few ideas to consider:

First of all, to insure safety and top performance, call in a qualified electrical contractor to survey the wiring and to suggest and check ideas about lighting arrangements.

Here are some suggestions for types and placement of fixtures for general, overall kitchen lighting: "Ceiling panels": Instead of the old - fashioned globe fixture, this semi - recessed type of illumination is widely used in modern kitchens, especially in dropped ceilings. Using fluorescent tubes, there can be square, oblong or narrow panels flush or a bit below the ceiling.

"Focusing spots": Either recessed in the ceiling or as swivel wall fixtures, the spots create useful work light in the kitchen.

To balance the general room illumination, direct lighting over counters and work centers also is to be planned for.

'A MUST'—First on the home modernizing check list is an all-electric kitchen like this. The U-shaped layout permits plenty of easy-to-get-to cabinets, "oceans" of counter space, and all the electrical conveniences the modern housewife needs to do her cooking fast and easily.

Door Closing Problem Can Be Eliminated

Cries of "close that door" to youngsters and others a bit slow or forgetful can be diminished considerably, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, by a buffer zone of heat at the entry point.

Depending on his type of central heating system, the owner may have a good - sized recessed radiator at the critical point, or a register outlet for his forced warm air heating. Where central heating isn't used, or hasn't extra capacity, the task may go to a gas - fired vented recessed wall heater.

It's a nice thing to have even when Junior isn't holding the door open for a dallying farewell to his young friends. Such an installation, in an entrance hallway, is a shield from cold air that otherwise seeps in, and assures hospitable warmth the instant a guest steps indoors.

HOW TO CREATE DEN

Many home planners have designed a cozy den in an unused bedroom, basement or attic corner or even a reconverted porch with amazing results. For a free plan on creating a comfortable den in an attic, write Masonite's Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington Street, Chicago 2, Ill., requesting plan No. AE-297.

NO RUB-OFF

Stainless steel is recommended for counter edging because it does not rub-off and soil clothing.

Conversion Idea Speeds Heating

The advantages of automatic gas central heating can come swiftly to the householder owning a sound furnace or boiler now using another fuel.

In a surprisingly short time, often less than a day, a gas conversion burner can be installed. The complete cost, including installation, is moderate, manufacturers state, and the range of sizes and styles of these burners is so complete that there's one to fit practically every type of heating plant.

The clean, silent operation of these burners and the elimination of fuel storage in the home has helped inspire many basement recreation rooms. Or the space saved may go to a home workshop or long - needed storage facilities.

SMALLER RANGES

New 36-inch gas ranges are now on the market for use in smaller kitchens and are available with or without a full selection of accessories.

BRIGHT, NEW—Gas built-ins fit perfectly in a bright new kitchen such as this one or in one undergoing modernization by a step-by-step process. Top styling and many extra performance features are offered in the latest free-standing models, too.

New Gas Range Does Better Job

An unprecedented array of new work-saving, time - saving features are included on gas ranges for 1959 — a year when special emphasis is being placed on quality construction. Fast a long time, GAMA points out, but progress hasn't stopped during the years the old one has been faithfully cooking away. The range serves many thousands of hours, cooking many thousands of dollars worth of food. It helps satisfy the creative urges of the homemaker, as well as the more modest plan, there's a model exactly suited to the need, says the trade group.

Many new features "sell" themselves at a glance, or a flick of the finger. Square — line "open look" styling, gleaming titanium-added porcelain, and attractive pastel shades and metallic finishes come in this category. So do fold-away top burners that provide clear counter space when not in use, griddles in combination with a fifth top burner and a power device that raises or lowers the broiler grill to the desired height at the push of a button.

INFRA-RED BROILER

Then, too, there's a range with a new high-speed infra-red ray burner in an aluminum-lined meat oven. Seconds after the burner is turned on, it glows a bright red and is generating radiant heat so intense that even frozen foods are cooked in an amazingly short time.

Rotisseries for the gas range oven, and even for the top of the stove, are among other eye-catchers.

Simmer burners, especially designed pans to drain away fat and assure smokeless broiling, and an automatic control that will turn off the oven exactly when the roast is done, are offered.

Bake ovens have been designed for extra roominess, plus the perfect air circulation that assures top results. The new gas ranges have been made easier to clean, inside and out, and offer advances in door seals, insulation and other construction details.

It's No Joke To Move That Furniture

Cartoonists showing the beleaguered husband are wont to depict him in the throes of furniture-moving — at the command, of course of the Little Woman.

But "playing checkers with furniture" is a serious business, too, notes the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, and many hundreds of dollars are at stake as the wife makes command decisions to swap something here, move something there, obtain something for that next spot.

Different things begin to show wear, or go out of style, at different times. And every replacement creates its own questions of size, shape, color and texture.

Heating modernization can be a terrific help, say GAMA, because furnishings of every type may be shifted without worries of dust or grime. Obstacles are eliminated, and spots formerly too hot or too cold can be used more effectively.

For example, gas-fired boilers for hot water heat now often are used with baseboard radiator or convector heat distribution units that take up no more space than ordinary wood m o l d i n g. Large areas or small are assured of even heating, and the baseboards blend in well with any decor.

A PLACE FOR SHOES

The cabinet keeps 14 pairs of women's or 10 pairs of men's shoes dust free.

It moves on casters and can serve as a night stand. A baked-on enamel finish comes in several colors.

Electricity Eases Life, Work On Farm

Electricity has worked a double miracle on the nation's farms since World War II. In addition to revolutionizing farming practice, central station power has sparked an unprecedented surge of farm home improvement.

From 1945 to 1955, for example, refrigerators increased from 62 to 95 per cent, washing machines from 32 to 75 per cent, electric ranges from 25 to 62 per cent, and electric water heaters from 12 to 42 per cent.

In the farming operation itself there are more than 400 uses of electricity. The back - saving and time - saving help the farmer gets makes electricity a bargain. Less than 10 cents worth of current will milk 10 cows, or separate 1,400 pounds of milk, or churn 20 pounds of butter, or sharpen an ax 6 times, or pump 2 days supply of water for the average farm.

CONVENIENCES IMPRESS

It is such uses of electricity on American farms that impressed Russian visitors far more than giant machines in the fields.

Average monthly consumption of electricity on farms increased [illegible] of electricity have grown so rapidly that many farmers now find their comparatively modern wiring installations inadequate. More and more of them are adding wiring capacity for home and farm use and making provisions for future expansion.

The future of electricity on the farm appears brighter than ever. One forecast predicts that $5,300 will be spent per farm for electric appliance and equipment during the next 20 years. This in turn means a doubling of current-making capacity by 1965 and a tripling by 1975.

Appliances Held To Be Appealing

Maybe you think you're not going to buy a major appliance this year? Possibly, buy don't be too sure.

A survey recently completed by a large advertising agency reveals that 36 per cent of the people questioned said they definitely did not intend to buy a major appliance. However, more than one-third of these actually bought an appliance that year, accounting for 28 per cent of appliance sales.

Of the 48 per cent who were uncertain about buying at the beginning of the year, almost half eventualy bought and accounted for 49 per cent of the sales that year.

Only 16 per cent definitely intended to buy an appliance. More than two-thirds of those bought, but they accounted for only 23 per cent of appliance sales that year.

STRANGELY ENOUGH

Most Homes Are Poorly Lighted

You may still be living in the kerosene age, even though your home has electric lights.

Behind this enigmatic statement is the fact that [illegible] lamps that Grandma and Grandpa thought was the last word.

According to the American Home Lighting Institute, trade association of lighting fixture makers, the average home today has only 11 installed lighting fixtures worth $44.10 retail. This does not include lamps.

"To be adequately lighted, a typical five - room 1,000 square-foot home should have at least 25 fixtures costing a total of $220," the institute advises. These figures were scientifically determined by light and comfort tests in actual homes.

Trying to do a lighting job with floor and table lamps alone is like trying to drive a car with two wheels. You need the diffused basic light from overhead fixtures to banish shadows and enlarge the room. Light for specific tasks —reading, sewing, etc., though, comes if your budget can afford even one of these refinements, it will add immeasurably to the enjoyment and appearance of the room.

Basically, minimum adequate fixture lighting calls for these recommended fixtures:

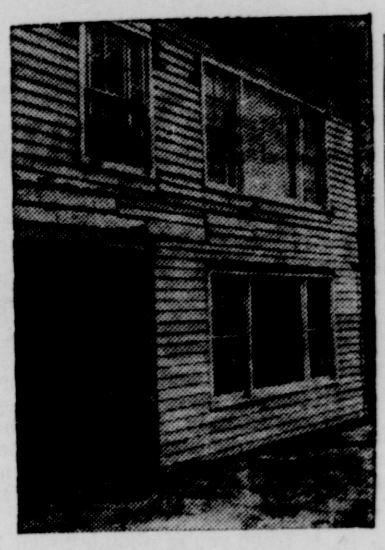

One good ceiling fixture for each room in the home. This includes the bedrooms and living room, which for a long time have been hidden in the shadows, with fixture outlets either missing or capped up.

DOES IT PAY?—Does it pay to modernize? These pictures are New Yorkers' answer to that question. Modern Magic Makes Frost From A Frame

The magic of producing frost from a flame is something millions of home owners take for granted. These are the families who enjoy modren, fully automatic gas refrigerators.

The dependability, economy and efficiency of gas makes it the ideal fuel for safe, convenient storage of food. Because there are no moving parts, no on-off cycling, gas refrigerators are constantly silent and interior temperatures remain the same 24-hours a day.

One of the features homemakers like best is the automatic Ice-Maker which makes semi-circular disks of ice automatically, deposits them in a handy storage bin, then fills itself with water and freezes a new supply. This process if repeated until an automatic control indicates that the ice bin is filled.

Best of all, there are never any trays to fill or spill. You have all the ice crescents you need — automatically.

Other features include a colorful, yet functional design. The interior is pink with blue and charcoal for the crisper drawers, two glide-out aluminum shelves with safety stops, tilt - out compartments for butter and eggs and full-width door shelves in charcoal gray and brushed gold. Rosewood inlaid door handles match the decorative motif.

ADVICE TO WIFE

Take Husband Along To Buy

Wives, take your husbands along when you go shopping for furniture.

Women who follow this practice say that the budget stretches magically when a man goes in a store. What papa wants, papa gets, even though it may cost a few dollars more.

Many wives do the preliminary looking around first. They select a few pieces that appeal to them, then take hubby in to help them reach the final decision. This way he has a chance to turn down anything he really dislikes.

Furniture salesmen report that some husbands are able to help their wives reach better decisions. Besides being more alert to construction factors, they may have a keener sense of spacial relationships. They also may have had more opportunity to travel and to develop appreciation for good design.

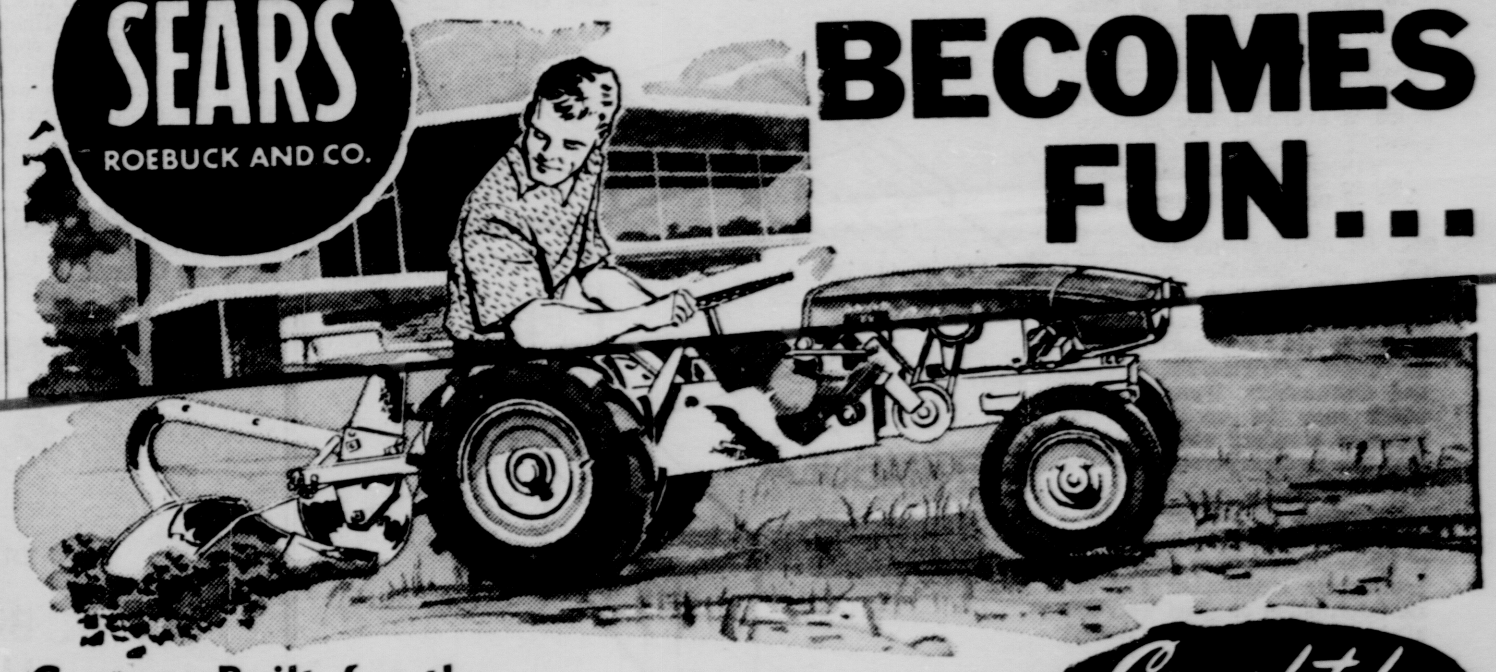

That's "some" husbands, not all.

Of course, there always is the man who just hates to shop. In the long run he may be easiest to please. Make sure he has a nice arm chair and leave him at home while you enjoy the adventure of shopping.

DO'S AND DON'T'S

Tips Tend To Ease Papering

Here are some simple "do's and don'ts" that will make the job of hanging your own wallpaper easier:

Do apply new wallpaper over the old paper only when the old paper is tight to the wall . . . no loose edges or loose panels. If the old wallpaper has to be removed, do soak the walls with water daubed on with a sponge or large brush. Use a putty knife or some similar tool to scrape off the old paper. Sometimes when the paper shows a stubborn streak, it is necessary to add a ready - made chemical preparation to the water. Ask your wallpaper dealer what to use and how much to use.

In papering over glossy and enamel paints, do brush on a good glue size to prevent any loosening after the paper is hung. The glue size helps to make the paper "stick."

Now for the "don'ts."

Before applying wallpaper, don't forget to sand down all the bumpy areas and to fill in all holes and cracks with a prepared filler. (The filler can be purchased from a good wallpaper dealer.)

Don't try to make your own paste. Buy one of the prepared pastes now on the market. Your wallpaper dealer will help you buy a good brand.

Don't take it for granted that your walls and door frames are perfectly straight. Use a plumb line to be sure that the first strip of paper is hung truly vertical. (To make a plumb line, place a tack 17½ inches to the right of a door or window and near the ceiling. Tie on a piece of long string. Attach a weight hanging down to the floor. This is called a plumb line. Rub the string with chalk. Lift the string lightly and let it spring back. It will leave a straight chalk mark on the surface.)

Vital To Health

You wouldn't knowingly pollute your drinking water or build in a fire hazard. But a homeowner can easily run these risks when he tries to be his own plumber or electrician.

Of course, there are simple repair jobs that most homeowners can do satisfactorily. But it's very easy to cross the line into areas that can be really dangerous for the amateur. To add to the danger, the layman is often unaware of the hazards involved.

It's easy to make out a case for suing every kind of skilled craftsman on home improvement projects. But real safety and health dangers are most often raised in plumbing and electricity. Almost every day newspaper stories demonstrate again how easy it is to mishandle electricity.

Plumbing errors are not usually so dramatic. At best, plumbing mistakes are highly unpleasant for everyone in the family.

CODES ARE STRICT

There's a dollars - and - cents valu to these specialists, too. All plumbing and electrical work must meet the national, state and local code requirements. These codes are highly technical, make heavy reading, both in quantity and quality. And boning up on just one is not enough, since they are cross-referenced on many major points.

State and municipal codes are of course laws. Breaking any kind of law means trouble, and these are no exceptions. The courts can and do fine violators of building codes, or order expensive rebuilding.

National codes are sponsored by insurance underwriters. No matter how innocently it is done, violation of these regulations can void insurance policies. If a disaster is traceable to a code violation, all the insurance company need pay is money paid in on the policy.

RIGHT — THE FIRST TIME

In addition, practically all codes require certificates of approval by inspectors. So it can be money in the bank ot have a professional plumbing or electrical contractor do the job — right — the first time.

Naturally, your local plumber and electrician are the authorities on the right kind of equipment and installation for your home. One of the easiest ways to waste money is to buy unneeded or improper home equipment.

Properly installed, today's plumbing and electrical systems are amazingly trouble - free. But some servicing is inevitable, sooner or later. Here again, qualified specialists are the efficient, safe and economical choice to do the job.

Bath Spacing Ends Puts End To Traffic Jam

Rub - a - dub - dub, three folks to a tub, suggests the plight of many families today where there aren't enough bathrooms to go round.

The traffic jam that is an everyday occurrence in single - bath homes is anything but conducive to happiness in getting dad off to work and the children to school, to say nothing about poor mother.

The solution, of course, is to put in one or more bathrooms to break the bottleneck.

Some day there doubtless will be a bath for every bedroom in the average home. Meantime, addition of a second complete bathroom can do wonders in easing the traffic problem.

ANY SPACE WILL DO

There are all sorts of places to install another bath, when you look around a bit. The end of a long hallway or the partitioned-off corner of a large room are made to order for a second bath, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau. In fact, just about any waste space that will accommodate the fixtures, with enough room left over to move around, can be converted into a second bath, the bureau points out.

Bathtubs of modern formed steel have important advantages in installing a second bath. Porcelain enameled steel tubs are lighter that older types and easier to carry and fit into tight spaces. The lighter weight of steel tubs saves money because often the floor underneath it does not need extra bracing.

FREE ESTIMATES

Plumbing contractors are experts these days in converting waste spaces into bathrooms. They will gladly offer estimates free of charge on the cost of putting in an additional bathroom.

Kitchen Plans Outlined In New BKI Book

One homemaker's dream might be another's nightmare, the Better Kitchens Institute says.

Homemakers planning to build or remodel should recognize the fact that there is no such thing as a perfect standard kitchen. As a result, women should analyze their own requirements for this important work room.

To aid homemakers in planning, the Better Kitchens Institute, 812 Engineers Building, Cleveland 14, Ohio, has just published a kitchen planning book, which is available free upon request.

SUGGESTIONS GIVEN

Sketches and descriptions indicate the many different designs available in appliances, such as ranges, refrigerators, freezers and dishwashers, types of sinks which may be used, and the types of standard steel cabinets that can be incorporated into the kitchen plan.

Formation of BKI as a public service by leading manufacturers of kitchen cabinets, is designed to provide the homemaker with basic information on good workable kitchen planning and newest kitchen products.

BKI HELPS HOMEMAKER

The Better Kitchen Institute will provide the homemaker with important fundamentals of good kitchen planning, keep her up-to-date on modern kitchen trends, and increase efficiency and comfort in her kitchen. The institute will also help homemakers locate dealers who are competent and trained in the techniques of kitchen planning and installation, to guide them in creating their modern kitchen.

Kitchen Plans

EASILY DONE

Modernize Your Kitchen, Save

Many people may be consulted before you modernize your kitchen, but the most important person to consult is you. Your ideas, suggestions and preferences can guide the contractor, the dealer, the electrician, the painter, in creating for you and your family a new kitchen that's distinctly, and distinctively, yours.

Perhaps the L-shape more aptly desrribes your kitchen. When you have two adjoining walls, this shape provides an ideal work-triangle and leaves the rest of the kitchen free for dinette.

Or is the U-shape — one of the most popular and efficient kitchen arrangements — the way your kitchen goes?

Islands and peninsulas are becoming more and more popular, particularly in modern homes. This new treatment separates different parts of the kitchen into areas tailored to your own space, needs and desires.

When you're planning your kitchen as an attractive room for living, you must think of a convenient, step - saving arrangement of three or four major work centers.

Both Veneer, Solids Have Their Virtue

"Shall we buy solid wood or veneers?"

This question may puzzle either young or mature couples when tthey consider buying furniture. Both types of construction have been known since antiquity. Before you decide, it may help if you know their virtues and purposes.

Veneers are used for flat surfaces where great strength, lightness or freedom from warping is important. A thin slice of beautifully - grained wood is glued to a core of two, four or six layers of hardwood.

To increase the strength, the grains of adjoining layers always run at right angles. If even-numbered layers are horizontal, The result is a construction stronger than wood of equal thickness.

In furniture with veneered surfaces, solid wood is always used for frames, legs and rails. Parts that are shaped or carved are also of solid woods.

Companies manufacturing other styles may also use them to satisfy the demand for that type of construction.

New Trend Is Toward Central Heating Units

While the trend in new home construction is definitely toward heating and cooling on a year-round basis, many old-type homes are installing these central units according to the American Gas Association. Homeowners find that the cost more than pays for itself in added comfort and the increased value of their property.

In homes where forced warm air heating systems already exist, air conditioning can be added at a relatively low cost, since the same furnace, blowers, ductwork and registers are used for both heating and cooling.

F.H.A. APPROVES

In December, 1957, the F.H.A. sent the following directive to all of its regional offices:

"No otherwise acceptable credit application for a house costing over $15,000 should be turned down just because of the anticipated cost of air conditioning. The best opinion of the industry is that the savings on heat, on cleaning, laundry, and medical expense, resulting from air conditioning, more than offset the added cost of operating the unit during the cooling season.

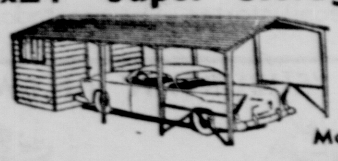

"Within a few years any house that is not air conditioned will probably be obsolescent so F.H.A. should start encouraging the inclusion of air conditioning."

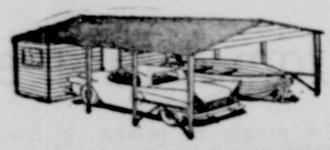

CLIMATE CONTROL

These are just a few of the numerous advantages offered by central air conditioning. Experts have estimated that within the next few years, year-round climate control will be just as important to homes as automatic transmission is to automobiles.

When all considerations are taken into account, there's a better chance in 1959 than ever before that most families can afford the luxury of whole-house, year-round air conditioning.

Wondering where there's space in your home for extra bathroom

Automation

How best to heat water for the bathrooms, kitchen, and laundry, and how much will be required? These are questions which face every family building a new home or faced with replacing a water heater in an existing house.

Automation is the order of the day in water heating as in everythin else. Few water heaters are sold nowadays that require any kind of attention.

Once the modern automatic water heater has been installed, there is no responsibility for the household other than setting the dial or control for the temperature of water desired.

On the question of what size water heater to get, all authorities are agreed: Get a heater adequate for present requirements and some reserve capacity for increased demands for hot water are likely to arise in the future.

The matter of adequate capacity is particularly important in homes having modern automatic washing appliances require a considerable machines and automatic dishwashers. These important labor-saving amount of water at a relatively high temperature.

Unless the water heater is equal to this demand, some of the hot water will be diluted with cold. with the result that the housewife is likely to blame the appliance instead of placing the blame where it belongs that is, on the family for having purchased a water heater that is too small for the hot water requirements of the home.

longer use coal heating. Here, the coal bin can be converted into a a two - story house, it's more economical to put a second full bathroom alongside, below or above the master bathroom.

In a new home, the plumbing can be "roughed-in" in such a way that additional fixtures can be installed easily and economically whenever the family needs them.

To partition the bathroom, simply enclose the bathtub in one compartment and the toilet in another. The lavatory can be left standing out in the open.

For better storage, replace the single lavatory with a twin-basin model equipped with countertop and base cabinet. The double lavatory accommodates two persons simultaneously. The convenient countertop and cabinet provide extra space for keeping personal and bathroom items.

FIX UP FIREPLACES

Shabby fireplaces can be made to look new in a variety of ways. For example, to banish blackness and make the fireplace attractive for the summer, it can be painted with cement-base water paint after soot has been scraped off.

WORK EASIER

Glamour Kitchen Boon To Mother

No room in the home is receiving as much creative effort as today's kitchens according to Better Kitchens Institute. Resourceful application of decorative accessories, especially "wrought iron," has permitted greater individuality, while exciting uses of colors and textures in steel cabinets and appliances have added warmth and charm to the workroom.

But behind all of this glamorizing of the kitchen, there are many new design features in steel cabinets which show that functional efficiency still is the fundamental objective. Thus the up - to-date steel kitchen is primarily a convenient place to work — albeit a far more distinctive and inviting place.

Specially designed units such as room dividers, peninsula and island cabinets are among the newer developments by steel cabinet manufacturers. These convenient units enable the kitchen planner to create more distinctive styling in the kitchen and frequently gain more storage space.

Growing use of smaller sized cabinets for placement between standard base units and beneath wall cabinets has resulted in the creation of a variety of handy steel cabinets that add to kitchen convenience. Among these are narrow tray cabinets with dividers which permit storage of platters, cookie sheets, and serving trays in upright position, and small spice cabinets with sliding or roll - up doors which keep seasonings at eye - level height above counters.

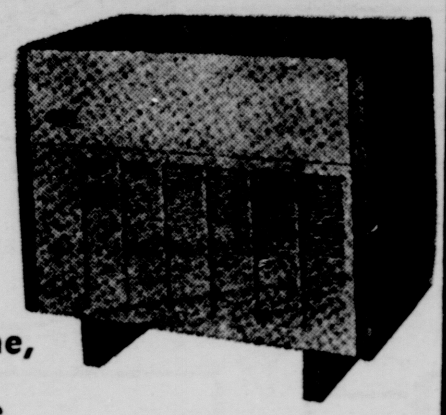

There are special steel cabinets, too, for storing the multitude of electrical appliances used in every modern kitchen. These include such popular units as a mixer cabinet and other base storage cabinets with sturdy sliding shelves plus outlets where the coffee maker, waffle baker and similar items can be stored as well as used.

More and more attention is being paid to comfortable working features in stell kitchens. To avoid fatigue from constant reaching, dealers now plan steel wall cabinet installations at a height that's best for the homemaker. While standard base cabinet heights are approximately 36 inches, there are some 30 inch high units available for sitdown chores.

All of these newer design features are obtainable now to supplement the variety of standard stylings in steel wall and base cabinets. And most manufacturers offer their units in a wide choice of colors in addition to white, so that the latest steel kitchen not only can be the most useful room in the house, but the most attractive.

Nail Reminder Ideal For The Home Work

Remember the old saying, "For want of a nail the shoe was lost," and so on? Well, that doesn't have to be the case with your pet home improvemnet or do - it - yourself project.

Your local lumberyard or building supply houses has or can quickly get every kind of material you are likely to want, from horseshoe nails to I-beams to completely fabricated steel garages and tool houses.

The building materials operator has two other equally important stocks in trade — a vast knowledge of his merchandise and a very sympathetic ear. Formal descriptions and specifications of even the simplest items often sound like Greek to the layman.

But the lumberyard proprietor is a good translator. Give him a brief description of the job in hand and he'll come up with the right material in jig time. And he can supply all needed advice on how to handle it.

These local firms are the "department stores" of America's great materials like steel. If you happen to need a steel angle to hold some shelving, they just happen to have it in stock. And they'll be glad to drill the holes for you too.

The list of products they carry is considerably longer than a grown man's arm. Typical of their stock might be pipe, galvanized or stainless steel gutters and downspouts, wire and cable, cement, light structurals, steel bars in various shapes, and fasteners (nuts, bolts, rivets, nails, screws) of all types.

There is really no limit to the steel mill products they may carry or can get on special order. Incidentally, the speed with which they fill special orders is a major source of pride to yard owners.

Virtually all of them will deliver right to your own front door, and many are equipped to perform basic cutting and shaping. But don't be surprised if you can skip the fabricating, as the range of shapes and sizes they carry for each product is astounding.

Lumberyards are prime sources for unusual or special items. Special fixtures for garage or barn doors, for example, or wire mesh for concrete work might be typical items. They are the natural places to go for a length of steel culvert to bridge the gutter between driveway and street.

In larger industrial communities there is usually a somewhat more specialized kind of supplier — the steel service center or warehouse. Their business is supplying any kind of steel, in any quantity from a pound to a carload. And they are often equipped to do large-scale, complex cutting and forming.

Gas Dryer Has Changed Task Of Laundering

haul to be as short as possible. She had to worry about dripping water from clothes en route to the line or hanging in the home, and how much of an obstacle clothes hung in the home would be to others in the family.

On the other hand, it is pointed out, the home laundry with a gas dryer, or washer - dryer combination, can be in or off the kitchen, in a sewing room, or adjacent sleeping quarters. Compactness of modern dryers — some gas washer - dryers take up but 27 inches of floor space and some are built for undercounter installation — facilitates installation.

The moisture - laden air from the dyrer is readily vented outdoors, and the entire laundry operation can be amid pleasant surroundings.

This means that the home laundry will fit well into a room used for other purposes — recreation, or as an office, for example.

Because machine drying doesn't depend on the weather, or the period when the sun happens to be out, "washday" can be eliminated. Many women launder every day or two, never allowing any accumulation. The task often is whisked out of the way during evening hours.

WIRING A MUST

er, etc), plenty of outlets for lamps, radios and other electrical accessories, "light for living" both for decoration and good "eye health."

Another way to solve your wiring plan problems is to consult your local electric utility. Many utilities throughout the country now have Medallion Modernized Home Planning Centers — and a staff of experts who will advise you on your electrical needs and direct you to a reliable dealer or contractor who can "take it from there."

Too many appliances "going" at one time may lead to frequent cases of blown - out fuses. DO'S AND DON'T'S

Tips Tend To Ease Papering

Here are some simple "do's and don'ts" that will make the job of hanging your own wallpaper easier:

Do apply new wallpaper over the old paper only when the old paper is tight to the wall . . . no loose edges or loose panels. If the old wallpaper has to be removed, do soak the walls with water daubed on with a sponge or large brush. Use a putty knife or some similar tool to scrape off the old paper. Sometimes when the paper shows a stubborn streak, it is necessary to add a ready - made chemical preparation to the water. Ask your wallpaper dealer what to use and how much to use.

In papering over glossy and enamel paints, do brush on a good glue size to prevent any loosening after the paper is hung. The glue size helps to make the paper "stick."

Now for the "don'ts."

Before applying wallpaper, don't forget to sand down all the bumpy areas and to fill in all holes and cracks with a prepared filler. (The filler can be purchased from a good wallpaper dealer.)

Don't try to make your own paste. Buy one of the prepared pastes now on the market. Your wallpaper dealer will help you buy a good brand.

Don't take it for granted that your walls and door frames are perfectly straight. Use a plumb line to be sure that the first strip of paper is hung truly vertical. (To make a plumb line, place a tack 17½ inches to the right of a door or window and near the ceiling. Tie on a piece of long string. Attach a weight hanging down to the floor. This is called a plumb line. Rub the string with chalk. Lift the string lightly and let it spring back. It will leave a straight chalk mark on the surface.)

Vital To Health

You wouldn't knowingly pollute your drinking water or build in a fire hazard. But a homeowner can easily run these risks when he tries to be his own plumber or electrician.

Of course, there are simple repair jobs that most homeowners can do satisfactorily. But it's very easy to cross the line into areas that can be really dangerous for the amateur. To add to the danger, the layman is often unaware of the hazards involved.

It's easy to make out a case for suing every kind of skilled craftsman on home improvement projects. But real safety and health dangers are most often raised in plumbing and electricity. Almost every day newspaper stories demonstrate again how easy it is to mishandle electricity.

Plumbing errors are not usually so dramatic. At best, plumbing mistakes are highly unpleasant for everyone in the family.

CODES ARE STRICT

There's a dollars - and - cents valu to these specialists, too. All plumbing and electrical work must meet the national, state and local code requirements. These codes are highly technical, make heavy reading, both in quantity and quality. And boning up on just one is not enough, since they are cross-referenced on many major points.

State and municipal codes are of course laws. Breaking any kind of law means trouble, and these are no exceptions. The courts can and do fine violators of building codes, or order expensive rebuilding.

National codes are sponsored by insurance underwriters. No matter how innocently it is done, violation of these regulations can void insurance policies. If a disaster is traceable to a code violation, all the insurance company need pay is money paid in on the policy.

RIGHT — THE FIRST TIME

In addition, practically all codes require certificates of approval by inspectors. So it can be money in the bank ot have a professional plumbing or electrical contractor do the job — right — the first time.

Naturally, your local plumber and electrician are the authorities on the right kind of equipment and installation for your home. One of the easiest ways to waste money is to buy unneeded or improper home equipment.

Properly installed, today's plumbing and electrical systems are amazingly trouble - free. But some servicing is inevitable, sooner or later. Here again, qualified specialists are the efficient, safe and economical choice to do the job.

Bath Spacing Ends Puts End To Traffic Jam

Rub - a - dub - dub, three folks to a tub, suggests the plight of many families today where there aren't enough bathrooms to go round.

The traffic jam that is an everyday occurrence in single - bath homes is anything but conducive to happiness in getting dad off to work and the children to school, to say nothing about poor mother.

The solution, of course, is to put in one or more bathrooms to break the bottleneck.

Some day there doubtless will be a bath for every bedroom in the average home. Meantime, addition of a second complete bathroom can do wonders in easing the traffic problem.

ANY SPACE WILL DO

There are all sorts of places to install another bath, when you look around a bit. The end of a long hallway or the partitioned-off corner of a large room are made to order for a second bath, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau. In fact, just about any waste space that will accommodate the fixtures, with enough room left over to move around, can be converted into a second bath, the bureau points out.

Bathtubs of modern formed steel have important advantages in installing a second bath. Porcelain enameled steel tubs are lighter that older types and easier to carry and fit into tight spaces. The lighter weight of steel tubs saves money because often the floor underneath it does not need extra bracing.

FREE ESTIMATES

Plumbing contractors are experts these days in converting waste spaces into bathrooms. They will gladly offer estimates free of charge on the cost of putting in an additional bathroom.

Kitchen Plans Outlined In New BKI Book

One homemaker's dream might be another's nightmare, the Better Kitchens Institute says.

Homemakers planning to build or remodel should recognize the fact that there is no such thing as a perfect standard kitchen. As a result, women should analyze their own requirements for this important work room.

To aid homemakers in planning, the Better Kitchens Institute, 812 Engineers Building, Cleveland 14, Ohio, has just published a kitchen planning book, which is available free upon request.

SUGGESTIONS GIVEN

Sketches and descriptions indicate the many different designs available in appliances, such as ranges, refrigerators, freezers and dishwashers, types of sinks which may be used, and the types of standard steel cabinets that can be incorporated into the kitchen plan.

Formation of BKI as a public service by leading manufacturers of kitchen cabinets, is designed to provide the homemaker with basic information on good workable kitchen planning and newest kitchen products.

BKI HELPS HOMEMAKER

The Better Kitchen Institute will provide the homemaker with important fundamentals of good kitchen planning, keep her up-to-date on modern kitchen trends, and increase efficiency and comfort in her kitchen. The institute will also help homemakers locate dealers who are competent and trained in the techniques of kitchen planning and installation, to guide them in creating their modern kitchen.

Both Veneer, Solids Have Their Virtue

"Shall we buy solid wood or veneers?"

This question may puzzle either young or mature couples when tthey consider buying furniture. Both types of construction have been known since antiquity. Before you decide, it may help if you know their virtues and purposes.

Veneers are used for flat surfaces where great strength, lightness or freedom from warping is important. A thin slice of beautifully - grained wood is glued to a core of two, four or six layers of hardwood.

To increase the strength, the grains of adjoining layers always run at right angles. If even-numbered layers are horizontal, The result is a construction stronger than wood of equal thickness.

In furniture with veneered surfaces, solid wood is always used for frames, legs and rails. Parts that are shaped or carved are also of solid woods.

Furniture labeled "solid wood" will be at least one-quarter inch thick.

Companies manufacturing other styles may also use them to satisfy the demand for that type of construction.

New Trend Is Toward Central Heating Units

While the trend in new home construction is definitely toward heating and cooling on a year-round basis, many old-type homes are installing these central units according to the American Gas Association. Homeowners find that the cost more than pays for itself in added comfort and the increased value of their property.

In homes where forced warm air heating systems already exist, air conditioning can be added at a relatively low cost, since the same furnace, blowers, ductwork and registers are used for both heating and cooling.

F.H.A. APPROVES

In December, 1957, the F.H.A. sent the following directive to all of its regional offices:

"No otherwise acceptable credit application for a house costing over $15,000 should be turned down just because of the anticipated cost of air conditioning. The best opinion of the industry is that the savings on heat, on cleaning, laundry, and medical expense, resulting from air conditioning, more than offset the added cost of operating the unit during the cooling season.

"Within a few years any house that is not air conditioned will probably be obsolescent so F.H.A. should start encouraging the inclusion of air conditioning."

CLIMATE CONTROL

These are just a few of the numerous advantages offered by central air conditioning. Experts have estimated that within the next few years. year-round climate control will be just as important to homes as automatic transmission is to automobiles.

When all considerations are taken into account, there's a better chance in 1959 than ever before that most families can afford the luxury of whole-house, year-round air conditioning.

EASILY DONE

Modernize Your Kitchen, Save

Many people may be consulted before you modernize your kitchen, but the most important person to consult is you. Your ideas, suggestions and preferences can guide the contractor, the dealer, the electrician, the painter, in creating for you and your family a new kitchen that's distinctly, and distinctively, yours.

Perhaps the L-shape more aptly desrribes your kitchen. When you have two adjoining walls, this shape provides an ideal work-triangle and leaves the rest of the kitchen free for dinette.

Or is the U-shape — one of the most popular and efficient kitchen arrangements — the way your kitchen goes?

Islands and peninsulas are becoming more and more popular, particularly in modern homes. This new treatment separates different parts of the kitchen into areas tailored to your own space, needs and desires.

When you're planning your kitchen as an attractive room for living, you must think of a convenient, step - saving arrangement of three or four major work centers.

For speedy, clean and safe cooking, have a cooking center with an automatic electric range—and plenty of cabinets for storage of utensils, plus work surfaces for preparing food.

MODERNIZATION — Here's a fine example of how modernization can provide economical and attractive new living space in an old home. This attic is typical of the kind in millions of pre-war homes in almost every part of the country. Now (below) windows have been enlarged to admit more light and fresh air, walls and ceilings have been covered with easy-to-decorate gypsum wallboard and the rough flooring has been covered with matting.

WORK EASIER

Glamour Kitchen Boon To Mother

No room in the home is receiving as much creative effort as today's kitchens according to Better Kitchens Institute. Resourceful application of decorative accessories, especially "wrought iron," has permitted greater individuality, while exciting uses of colors and textures in steel cabinets and appliances have added warmth and charm to the workroom.

But behind all of this glamorizing of the kitchen, there are many new design features in steel cabinets which show that functional efficiency still is the fundamental objective. Thus the up - to-date steel kitchen is primarily a convenient place to work — albeit a far more distinctive and inviting place.

Specially designed units such as room dividers, peninsula and island cabinets are among the newer developments by steel cabinet manufacturers. These convenient units enable the kitchen planner to create more distinctive styling in the kitchen and frequently gain more storage space.

Growing use of smaller sized cabinets for placement between standard base units and beneath wall cabinets has resulted in the creation of a variety of handy steel cabinets that add to kitchen convenience. Among these are narrow tray cabinets with dividers which permit storage of platters, cookie sheets, and serving trays in upright position, and small spice cabinets with sliding or roll - up doors which keep seasonings at eye - level height above counters.

There are special steel cabinets, too, for storing the multitude of electrical appliances used in every modern kitchen. These include such popular units as a mixer cabinet and other base storage cabinets with sturdy sliding shelves plus outlets where the coffee maker, waffle baker and similar items can be stored as well as used.

More and more attention is being paid to comfortable working features in stell kitchens. To avoid fatigue from constant reaching, dealers now plan steel wall cabinet installations at a height that's best for the homemaker. While standard base cabinet heights are approximately 36 inches, there are some 30 inch high units available for sitdown chores.

All of these newer design features are obtainable now to supplement the variety of standard stylings in steel wall and base cabinets. And most manufacturers offer their units in a wide choice of colors in addition to white, so that the latest steel kitchen not only can be the most useful room in the house, but the most attractive.

Extra Bathroom Space Available

Wondering where there's space in your home for extra bathroom facilities?

Chances are you have plenty of room, says the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association. It's just a question of knowing where to look. Here are a few suggestions:

1. An old pantry off the kitchen would be ideal. It's generally long and deep, providing ample space for a full bath.

2. If you plan to convert the attic into living quarters, a bathroom also can be added there.

3. A basement often is the answer, especially for houses that no longer use coal heating. Here, the coal bin can be converted into a comfortable and convenient bathroom.

4. Hall or bedroom closets might be the answer. For a powder room, you only need a space as little as three by four feet.

And don't worry about the lack of a window. By adding an electric air vent and fluorescent lights, even a windowless bathroom can have plenty of ventilation and lighting.

Locating an extra bathroom or powder room as near as possible to the master bath saves time and money.

Putting facilities side by side, placing them above or under each other reduces the cost of long runs of pipe. In a one - story house, for example, savings can be realized by installing a powder room near the laundry room, bathroom, or other plumbing. In a two - story house, it's more economical to put a second full bathroom alongside, below or above the master bathroom.

In a new home, the plumbing can be "roughed-in" in such a way that additional fixtures can be installed easily and economically whenever the family needs them.

To partition the bathroom, simply enclose the bathtub in one compartment and the toilet in another. The lavatory can be left standing out in the open.

For better storage, replace the single lavatory with a twin-basin model equipped with countertop and base cabinet. The double lavatory accommodates two persons simultaneously. The convenient countertop and cabinet provide extra space for keeping personal and bathroom items.

Hot Water Is Controlled By Automation

How best to heat water for the bathrooms, kitchen, and laundry, and how much will be required? These are questions which face every family building a new home or faced with replacing a water heater in an existing house.

Automation is the order of the day in water heating as in everything else. Few water heaters are sold nowadays that require any kind of attention.

Once the modern automatic water heater has been installed, there is no responsibility for the household other than setting the dial or control for the temperature of water desired.

On the question of what size water heater to get, all authorities are agreed: Get a heater adequate for present requirements and some reserve capacity for increased demands for hot water are likely to arise in the future.

The matter of adequate capacity is particularly important in homes having modern automatic washing appliances require a considerable machines and automatic dishwashers. These important labor-saving amount of water at a relatively high temperature.

Unless the water heater is equal to this demand, some of the hot water will be diluted with cold. with the result that the housewife is likely to blame the appliance instead of placing the blame where it belongs that is, on the family for having purchased a water heater that is too small for the hot water requirements of the home.

Manufacturers have developed a sizing chart. With the aid of this chart, water heater dealers can tell householders exactly how much hot water they require and what size water heater will do the job.

FIX UP FIREPLACES

Shabby fireplaces can be made to look new in a variety of ways. For example, to banish blackness and make the fireplace attractive for the summer, it can be painted with cement-base water paint after soot has been scraped off.

CARPORT STORAGE

Builders are now incorporating many of the features previously available only in garages in the modern carport. Sturdy, weather-resistant cabinets of Masonite Tempered Presdwood, lined with "Peg-Board" panels, permit storage of both bulky objects and tools.

The hardware locks at two height and counter height for greater versatility. This allows your appliance while seated or standing.

There are only two pieces of hardware to install. Built-in locking devices hold the shelf firmly at either of the two positions and release quickly under finger-tip pressure. Shelf stays perfectly level while in motion, eliminates necessity of attaching the appliance to the shelf.

Spring tension is easily adjustable to counter - balance 6 to 30 pounds. Nylon washers at each pivot point provide longlasting smooth performance and eliminate metal to metal contact. Detailed instructions and screws for mounting to sides of top of cabinet are supplied with each set of Hide-A-Shelf hardware.

HOUSEHOLD HANDIES — Here are two uses of the versatile hide-a-shelf, for a typewriter when the kitchen must double as an office, above, and for a mixer.

Nail Reminder Ideal For The Home Work

Remember the old saying, "For want of a nail the shoe was lost," and so on? Well, that doesn't have to be the case with your pet home improvemnet or do - it - yourself project.

Your local lumberyard or building supply houses has or can quickly get every kind of material you are likely to want, from horseshoe nails to I-beams to completely fabricated steel garages and tool houses.

The building materials operator has two other equally important stocks in trade — a vast knowledge of his merchandise and a very sympathetic ear. Formal descriptions and specifications of even the simplest items often sound like Greek to the layman.

But the lumberyard proprietor is a good translator. Give him a brief description of the job in hand and he'll come up with the right material in jig time. And he can supply all needed advice on how to handle it.

These local firms are the "department stores" of America's great materials like steel. If you happen to need a steel angle to hold some shelving, they just happen to have it in stock. And they'll be glad to drill the holes for you too.

The list of products they carry is considerably longer than a grown man's arm. Typical of their stock might be pipe, galvanized or stainless steel gutters and downspouts, wire and cable, cement, light structurals, steel bars in various shapes, and fasteners (nuts, bolts, rivets, nails, screws) of all types.

There is really no limit to the steel mill products they may carry or can get on special order. Incidentally, the speed with which they fill special orders is a major source of pride to yard owners.

Virtually all of them will deliver right to your own front door, and many are equipped to perform basic cutting and shaping. But don't be surprised if you can skip the fabricating, as the range of shapes and sizes they carry for each product is astounding.

Lumberyards are prime sources for unusual or special items. Special fixtures for garage or barn doors, for example, or wire mesh for concrete work might be typical items. They are the natural places to go for a length of steel culvert to bridge the gutter between driveway and street.

In larger industrial communities there is usually a somewhat more specialized kind of supplier — the steel service center or warehouse. Their business is supplying any kind of steel, in any quantity from a pound to a carload. And they are often equipped to do large-scale, complex cutting and forming.

Gas Dryer Has Changed Task Of Laundering

The experienced homemaker doesn't have to think twice to realize that the clothes dryer drastically changes the way the home laundry task is done. Tons of lifting, hours of lugging and a hands-chapping clothesline routine all vanish.

Equally important, although perhaps not so apparent to the woman without a dryer, are the "where" and "when" of the home laundry task. The makers of gas clothes dryers have found that these change, too, and for the better, where there's a dryer on the scene.

The "where" now can be almost anywhere in the house. The "when" — whenever the homemaker feels like doing the job.

So long as 25 pounds or so of wet clothes had to be lugged to a line, the housewife wanted the haul to be as short as possible. She had to worry about dripping water from clothes en route to the line or hanging in the home, and how much of an obstacle clothes hung in the home would be to others in the family.

On the other hand, it is pointed out, the home laundry with a gas dryer, or washer - dryer combination, can be in or off the kitchen, in a sewing room, or adjacent sleeping quarters. Compactness of modern dryers — some gas washer - dryers take up but 27 inches of floor space and some are built for undercounter installation — facilitates installation.

The moisture - laden air from the dyrer is readily vented outdoors, and the entire laundry operation can be amid pleasant surroundings.

This means that the home laundry will fit well into a room used for other purposes — recreation, or as an office, for example.

Because machine drying doesn't depend on the weather, or the period when the sun happens to be out, "washday" can be eliminated. Many women launder every day or two, never allowing any accumulation. The task often is whisked out of the way during evening hours.

WIRING A MUST

"Housepower" Is Required

All your fine plans for modernizing your home are of little avail if you don't plan first for full housepower. Adequate wiring may not be a glamorous subject, but it is absolutely mandatory to run electrical appliances at peak efficiency and make your dreams of more modern, decorative lighting come true.

The very foundation of electrically "up to par" Medallion Modernized Homes is a wiring system designed to deliver plenty of power when and where it's needed. In technical "lingo," it means an electrical service entrance of no less than 100 amperes. Your electrician or modernization contractor knows how important this is and can see that you get it.

In going over your house, he also can tell you what you'll need in the way of new circuits for your heavy-load appliances (such as a washer, dryer, air conditioner, etc), plenty of outlets for lamps, radios and other electrical accessories, "light for living" both for decoration and good "eye health."

Another way to solve your wiring plan problems is to consult your local electric utility. Many utilities throughout the country now have Medallion Modernized Home Planning Centers — and a staff of experts who will advise you on your electrical needs and direct you to a reliable dealer or contractor who can "take it from there."

PLAYING IT SMART

Don't make the mistake of thinking you can "get by" without some revamping of your home's wiring system, if your modernization plans include new lighting, new electrical appliances or air-conditioning. Remember that most older homes were "wired" when far fewer electrical appliances were available; television, high - fidelity and home air - conditioning were just gleams in a scientist's eye, and lighting was still pretty much confined to a ceiling fixture and a few lamps per room.

Today there are more than sixty appliances on the market — not only ranges, dishwashers, ovens, refrigerators, washers and dryers, but also electric coffeemakers, rotisseries, shavers, hair dryers, fry pans and a host more devices fairly commonplace in up-to-date homes.

Built - in lighting has surged ahead, and is especially important for kitchens — such as the fluorescent strips that are installed over counters, sink and range top, to make these areas shadow-free.

PLANNING AHEAD

Without proper wiring or adequate electric power, your appliances will be slow to heat up and overworked in any case. Too many appliances "going" at one time may lead to frequent cases of blown - out fuses. Lights "dimming" and "shrinking" television pictures also may result when too many demands are being made on a home's electrical power, at one and the same time.
